GROWING FEAR OF AL NERVES CAL DRAFTERS

Hoover Boom Rings Slightly Hollow.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., April 22.—[Special.]—The 1928 race for the White House [illegible] upon a more exciting stage during the last few days.

With the capture of solid delegations in Iowa and Illinois, Al Smith looms as the irresistible claimant for the Democratic nomination.

He bids fair to go into the Houston convention with a majority of the entire body of delegates on the first ballot and within striking distance of the two-thirds majority.

On the Republican side, signs have been detected that Herbert Hoover, the leading candidate for the nomination, is slipping.

With the solid Illinois delegation at his back and gains in other states, Frank Lowden has forged to the fore as a formidable opponent of Hoover.

"Draft Cal" Cry Grows.

Virtual certainty of the nomination of the redoubtable Al by the Democrats has caused the eastern Republicans to chorus still more loudly for the drafting of Coolidge, as the only candidate who can guarantee victory to the G. O. P. in November.

The eastern leaders evidently are not discouraged by the letter the President wrote to Massachusetts, requesting Republicans to refrain from writing his name on the ballot in the presidential preference expression at the primary next Tuesday, and protesting the indorsements of him for the nomination by Republican conventions in other states as "contrary to my wishes."

To these Republicans who since August 2 have been disposed to take the President at his word, this latest utterance appears only superfluous proof that Mr. Coolidge will not accept renomination.

Drafters Undiscouraged.

To those who would draft him, it seems as inconclusive as his abdication announcement of Aug. 2, his December statement to the Republican national committee, and his refusal to allow Wyoming to indorse him in none of which does he say he would not accept if nominated.

As the Coolidge drafters view it, the President may reiterate that he does not choose to run, may urge the party to pick another candidate, may forbid voters to write his name on ballots, may condemn the instruction of delegations for his nomination, and still become the party nominee with propriety and consistency and without stultification so long as he does not utter the fatal words, "I will not accept renomination."

In support of this theory the Coolidge drafters cite the Coolidge letter to Massachusettes as proof of the contention that it is not so much the activities to draft him to which he objects, as to the representations that these things are being done "with my tacit consent."

Move Goes Merrily On.

So the draft Coolidge movement is not to be snuffed out by the latest or all of the utterances of the President on the subject up to date. It is to go merrily on, aided and abetted stoutly by the eastern Republicans, who are dissatisfied with the candidates now in the running.

The principal development affecting Hoover in the estimate of the politicians last week was the failure of Colorado to instruct its delegation for [illegible]

The motion to instruct for Hoover was rejected by a vote of 437 to 485. Motions to instruct for Lowden and for Dawes were likewise voted down and the delegation is to go to Kansas City uninstructed, save for two Denver delegates, instructed for Hoover.

The failure to pledge the delegation to Hoover impressed politicians as fraught with the utmost significance, for the reason that Colorado is the state of Secretary of Interior Work, who virtually fathered the Hoover candidacy and who, naturally, would deliver the delegation to Hoover as an instructed unit if it were humanly possible to do so. Dr. Work failed to deliver, though he claims that it will make no difference, as 14 out of the 18 Colorado delegates are for Hoover, anyway.

Lowden Claims Five.

In other quarters a different version prevails. It is said that not less than [illegible] of the delegates are for Lowden and that others have begun to show wavering since the Illinois primary, when Lowden stock began to soar. It is also said that the old

Boy, 4, Hunts Adventure and Finds Aplenty

Whether or not 4 year old Charley Tilston set out in search of adventure yesterday he found it. He had a brush with death, he was rescued from the lake and he gave the Sheffield avenue police, the physicians and the nurses at Columbus Memorial hospital, and Ruth, his mother, some anxious moments.

Charley left his mother's house at 1716 Burling street about 5 p. m. At 6 o'clock he was taken from the lake at the foot of Diversey avenue by Irving Jacobson, 18 years old, a freshman at the University of Chicago. Lincoln park police took the boy across the park to the hospital, and there as he prattled he had the police until midnight believing that his mother had jumped into the lake with him and that she was drowned.

His Name Is "Charley."

"What is your name?" the physicians and the detectives asked him again and again. And he could only answer, "Charley." He could not remember the rest of it.

Over and over they got that same answer from the boy. They would ask about his father and his name. They would get him completely off the subject of his mother. Then at last they would go back and ask about her. And every time the boy would answer the same way:

"My mama? O, my mama jumped in the lake, too."

He Sticks to His Story.

And at last, as hour after hour he made that same statement, the police became convinced that the boy got into the lake as his mother leaped in, and that she went down before Jacobson went into the water for the boy.

But at midnight Mrs. Tilston, who had reported the boy missing some hours earlier, was taken to the hospital and as she walked into the room the child screamed out joyfully: "Mama!" And the mystery was dispelled.

"I was making some shortcake about five o'clock," Mrs. Tilston said. "I gave the boy an empty can and told him to run to the alley with it. I didn't see him again until now. It is two miles from my home to the place where he was saved from the lake. I cannot understand how he could wander so far, nor how he got into the water."

She took Charley home, leaving the physicians a problem in psycho analysis:

Why did the boy repeat over and over again that figment of his imagination about his mother jumping in the lake? How did that idea get into his head?

AUTOIST KILLED WHEN MACHINE DROPS IN CANAL

One man was killed and four others narrowly escaped death by drowning early this morning when the car in which they were riding plunged over an embankment in Western avenue at 31st street and dropped twenty-five feet to the canal below.

The dead man was John Patterson, 19 years old, 3816 Washtenaw avenue. He was driving the car and was pinned behind the steering wheel. His companions, all of whom were asleep in the rear seat, were Charles Ball, 21, 4535 South Sawyer avenue; Tony Cozecka, 22, 4409 South Campbell avenue; William Krueger, 23, 4105 South Montgomery street; and Stanley Sigora, 21, 4029 South Montgomery street.

The car was broken apart by the fall, and the four survivors were able to extricate themselves and swim to shore. The body of Patterson was not recovered until the police removed the auto from the bed of the canal. Injuries on the body indicated he had been killed in the plunge of the machine.

TWO CHICAGOANS DROWN AS THEIR CANOE TIPS OVER

Arnold Sandberg, 25 years old, 6351 Ingleside avenue, and William Nikko, 22, of 6540 South Mozart street, were drowned in the Fox river at St. Charles yesterday morning when their canoe tipped over. Stanley Lingren, 24 years old, of Congress Park, the third man in the canoe, was able to swim to shore.

The three young men drove to St. Charles for an outing on the river, Lingren said. They were changing seats in the canoe when it capsized. Lingren, the only one able to swim, tried to save Sandberg, who was a cripple, but was finally forced to release his companion and save himself.

Police recovered the two bodies several hours later. The river is eight feet deep at the point where the drowning occurred.

Drink Parlor Is Bombed; Police Blame Beer War

Damage estimated at $1,000 was done to the soft drink parlor of W. H. Boyle, 7101 South State street, when a bomb was exploded early this morning in the front entrance. Windows were smashed and the entrance to the building wrecked. Police attributed the blast to a beer war. The place was bombed last September, when similar damage was done.

Arrest Three for Plot to Kidnap Dolores Del Rio

Los Angeles, Cal., April 23.—(AP)—The Examiner today says Dolores Del Rio, Mexican film star, has been marked as the victim of a $100,000 kidnaping plot for the last two months and that two men and a woman have been under arrest for several days in connection with the alleged abduction scheme.

Loop Theater Robbed; Hunt Masked Gang

Three masked bandits in broad daylight invaded the United Artists' theater at Dearborn and Randolph streets yesterday and escaped with $7,500 in box office receipts, according to a report to police.

Frank L. Sentman, 32 years old, 3333 Clarendon avenue treasurer of the theater, reported the robbery. After telling his story and rehearsing the action of the robbery, Sentman was detained for further questioning last night at the Hudson avenue police station while the hunt for the robbers was under way.

Battles Bandit, He Says.

Sentman told Lieut. Michael Vaughan of the detective bureau that a masked bandit, 45 years old, leaped on him at the door of the mezzanine floor office of the theater when he arrived at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

"I fought for his gun, but he bested me," declared Sentman. "He dragged me inside the office pulled some wire from his pocket and bound my feet. Then he tied my hands in front of me and blindfolded me."

"Pretty soon," continued Sentman, "two more armed and masked men, about 50 years old, came in. They made me tell them the combination to the safe. Then they opened it, scooped up all the money, nearly $8,000, and ran."

None Sees Fleeing Bandits.

Howard Graff, superintendent of the theater, heard the shouts of Sentman and with eight porters came running from behind the stage. No one could be found by police who saw the bandits enter or leave the theater.

"It's an unusual case in some respects," said Lieut. Vaughan. "Take the age of those bandits. All of them from 45 up to nearly 55. That's remarkable. Sentman first described them all minutely. But when reminded he was blindfolded and couldn't see two of them, he admitted he'd made a 'mistake.'"

A girl friend of Sentman and three youths with whom he lived were questioned but could tell nothing about the robbery.

Old Fort Dearborn Site Valued at $200 Per Foot

The value of the land on which old Fort Dearborn stood, now occupied by the London Guaranty building, 360 North Michigan avenue, was appraised at $200 per square foot by the firm of Mark Levy and Brother, it was announced yesterday. This represents a value increase of about 5,000 per cent since pioneer days in 1839.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LAKE ST. AGNES, Que., April 22.—Driven down by a steadily lowering ceiling, and a heavy fog bank, the trimotored Ford monoplane, carrying the New York relief expedition to the stranded trans-Atlantic flyers on Greenly island made a forced landing at 10:30 a. m. today at Seven islands. The landing was made on the sun softened ice of the bay. The party will stay at Seven islands until tomorrow at dawn, and, weather permitting, the journey then will be resumed.

Meager reports of the landing trickling into Murray Bay early tonight were that the relief flyers are all safe and the plane undamaged. On the plane, which took off from the ice at Lake St. Agnes at 6:10 a. m. were Bernt Balchen, as pilot, Ernest Koeppen, a Junkers company engineer, and Maj. James Fitzmaurice, who will help his German companions repair their plane.

Carries 12,000 Pound Load.

For a brief moment, at the takeoff the little knot of fur-clad newspapermen who stood on the ice and watched the big ship taxi down into the wind, saw certain disaster facing the Ford.

The plane with its load weighed 12,000 pounds more than it had ever taken aloft before and aviators of the newspaper planes, at the lake were not all sure the Ford could leave the ice.

When the last farewells were said, the last pictures taken, Miss Herta Junkers, daughter of the designer of the Bremen, waved her hand and Balchen pressed down on the gun.

Slow in Getting Into Air.

The plane pushed down to the eastern end of the lake, and, turning, began the run to get into the air. The big skiis held the ice for nearly a mile. A run of another hundred yards and the monoplane would have piled into a clump of trees along the shore. The skis at last—dropped back on the ice for a sickening moment—then took the air again.

Wobbling dangerously, the monoplane made altitude of about 150 feet and just managed to clear a hill. Then the plane disappeared over the slope. For at least a moment, it seemed like an hour, the plane was out of sight of the group on the lake and it was feared the heavy load had brought the monoplane into a crash on the wooded mountain. But fears were dispelled when the ship wheeled into sight again, with an altitude of about 700 feet. Balchen kept his ship over the lake until he had circled into an altitude of 4,000 feet.

Then he turned her nose to the north and shot away over the mountains where Baron von Huenefeld and Capt. Hermann Koehl are waiting Stowaway Is Discovered.

An incident that might have spelled ruin for the high hopes of the expedition—one which, indeed, might have resulted in death for every one on the relief plane—heightened the tension of the takeoff.

When Balchen went down on the ice to warm up the motor, at five o'clock, he searched the ship. He is a careful, methodical pilot, and he searches his ship before every takeoff.

It was well this time that he took the precaution. Hiding in the little toilet room he found a stowaway, Charley Snyder, a movie cameraman, with his camera. If Snyder had remained undiscovered the plane would have crashed in the takeoff.

A stabilizer on the plane is set for the exact amount of weight she is carrying, and anything more than that amount would mean that the plane could not get off the ice with it.

Carries Propeller and Wheels.

The Ford carried an extra Junkers propeller from the Junkers F-13, now in New York; sixty gallons of benzoil, 160 pounds of oil, 440 gallons of her own gasoline, a spare set of wheels for the Bremen, and tools for minor repairs to the Bremen engine.

The Bremen, it is believed here, will be able to take off from Greenly island Tuesday or Wednesday morning, reaching Lake St. Agnes late in the afternoon.

Here it will be refueled and the triumphant, though long delayed, flight to Curtiss field, Long Island, will then start.

Plane Takes Bennett to Hospital.

The joy and happiness felt generally over the success of the relief expedition was marred to some extent by the sickness of Floyd Bennett, who, with Balchen, flew the Ford from De-

Ben Newmark, former chief investigator for State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, more recently a private detective, and for many years a political protégé of Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson, was shot and killed early this morning by assassins who fired on him with a sawed-off shotgun through a bedroom window of his bungalow at 7316 Merrill avenue.

Newmark was sitting on his twin bed in his underclothes as the shot was fired. Mrs. Newmark had just retired to her own bed three feet away and lay there still awake.

One Shot Is Fired.

The assassins fired a single shot, the empty shell being found under the window after the police arrived. As the policemen rushed into the house Newmark was still breathing, but he was so near death that he was unable to make any statement.

Mrs. Newmark was in a state bordering on hysteria and was bent over the body of her husband calling on him to talk to her.

Police left the body where it lay in the bedroom until Dr. Joseph Springer, the department criminologist, came and examined it. Dr. Springer said about forty shotgun slugs had entered Newmark's head and the upper portion of his body.

Stands on Flower Box.

The bedroom in which Newmark was killed was on the north side of the fine bungalow in which he lived. Its window was heavily barred with steel bars, as were all the other bedroom windows of the house. The assassins, in order to shoot, placed a wooden flower box, which they took from a back porch railing, against the brick wall. The man who fired the shot stood on this. Then he placed the muzzle of the gun between the bars and against the window pane and fired, shattering the glass.

Neighbors across the street heard the report of the gun and rushed to their windows. They told the police they saw an automobile speeding away southward.

Beyond Aid of Physician.

Dr. Ernest Knatt, who had been with others visiting the Newmarks during the evening, ran back from his home across the street. He said, however, he perceived at once that Newmark was beyond any aid he could give.

Underneath the window through which the killers fired the police found a number of footprints, they said, plainly indicating that more than one man was there when the shot was fired.

Shortly after the shooting the Newmarks' son, Richard, 18 years old, attending the Morgan Park Military academy, arrived at the home. He had been called by phone and told that his father had been murdered.

Guests Had Just Departed.

In addition to Dr. and Mrs. Knatt the Newmarks had entertained other visitors during the evening. Among these were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jones, 8131 South Ada street, brother-in-law and sister of Newmark, and Police Sergeant Fred Alvenhovel.

Another sister of Newmark, Mrs. Stephen Malato, wife of the well known attorney, was called to the home when the son was called.

The killing happened less than a half hour after the guests had left the home. Dr. Knatt told the police he had not yet retired when he heard the report of the gun and ran to see what had happened.

When State's Attorney Crowe was elected to office in 1920 Newmark became his chief investigator. He remained there for three years and at the end of that period was said to have been discharged because of some infraction of duty.

He at once opened up his detective

CAPT. WILKINS TELLS STORY OF POLAR FLIGHT

BY CAPT. GEORGE WILKINS.

[Copyright: 1928: In the United States, Canada, South America, Mexico, Cuba, and continental Europe: By the New York Times company: Copyright in Great Britain and Ireland by the London Times. By radio to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

SVALBARD, Spitzbergen, April 22.—With Carl Ben Eilson's skillful piloting, a perfect monoplane and engine, reliable gasoline and oil, good weather most of the way, with good luck, and by careful navigation, we have traveled 2,200 miles above arctic ice, from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Green Harbour, Svalbard. Three parts of the way was above an area never before seen by man.

Our course led from Point Barrow to longitude 75, latitude 84, thence to the northwest end of Svalbard. If weather favored we planned to land at King's Bay a week ago.

At Point Barrow we were hopeful. Today we are thankful that aeronautical engineering skill, conscientious workmen, and our accumulated arctic experience has brought us through safely in comparative comfort. Yet the trip was not without adventure.

Had Trouble Getting Away.

Our machine weighed empty 1,300 pounds. Our load in the plane was 3,400 pounds. Three times before we finally rose in the air we had tried to get off and failed. Our pair of metal skis had broken after each try. Our Eskimo friends at Point Barrow, thirty-three men, shoveled more and more snow, lengthening the runway.

We finally abandoned the runway, 3,500 feet long, and with ten men and twenty-five dogs hauled the plane over the snow to a lagoon five miles from Point Barrow village. Another runway, 5,000 feet long, was cut, this work occupying two perfect flying days. We were already a week late in starting.

Eilson Shows Daring.

On Sunday, April 15, the weather was good. Eilson, with great skill and not a little nerve, guided the machine at eighty miles an hour along the fourteen foot wide ditch in the snow. We lifted a thousand feet from the end of the runway and headed straight out on the first leg of our course, a great circle course that would change twenty-two times in as many hours, sometimes as much as twenty-five degrees at a time by compass.

The way was clear for the first five hundred miles. Then a cloud bank obscured the ice for a hundred miles. We hated to lose sight of ice, for each mile unseen was a mile unexplored.

We flew for an hour at 3,000 feet altitude, needing to change the course frequently because of cloud banks. Strict attention to frequent compass changes made navigation strenuous but not more difficult than piloting, surrounded as we were with even grayness, no lights or shadows, no horizon.

Saw No Signs of Land.

Then clear weather favored us right west of where Peary, Stefansson, and McMillan saw indications which led them to believe land might be in that vicinty. The horizon was clear on every side. We saw no signs of islands. Leads of open water were frequent. We watched the ice, which was in general rough and closely crisscrossed with ridges. It was not heavily pressed, and showed no indication of even shallow soundings.

We would have given much to have been able to sound thereabouts, but our experience in getting off at Barrow and the chance of breaking our light wooden skis brought me to the decision that it was too hazardous to land for just one sounding. There were places we might have landed in an emergency, as we landed twice last year, but getting off would have been a difficult matter. If we should see new land with extraordinary features and a perfect landing surface, a landing might perhaps be worth the risk.

Engine Functions Well.

Our engine functioned perfectly. The sun was clear and well above the horizon. Frequent sextant observations kept us more or less on our course, but even without those observations our ordinary boat navigator's magnetic compass behaved much in the ordinary way, reading within a few degrees of what we figured it should read at its position.

We were quite comfortable in the plane. The temperature in the cabin at the start had been 22 degrees Fahrenheit. In eight hours it had dropped to 10 degrees above. Outside it was 20 below when we started.

In latitude 84, longitude 75, we could see, slightly west of north, dark clouds that we might have mistaken for, or which even might have been, land clouds. But we assumed that Peary would surely have seen land if it existed in that vicinity. Soon after reaching the position mentioned, the cloud bank off Grant Land coast blanketed the ice clouds, extended for many miles, and ranged high. The machine, then with a normal load, climbed above the lowest clouds at 8,000 feet. The highest banks were too high to climb over. We dodged some and plowed through others.

Sight Grant Land Mountains.

We had hoped to check our course by actually sighting Grant Land in the distance, but a heavy high storm ahead gave us an excuse to turn more southerly, and in a half hour, just thirteen hours from starting, we caught fleeting glimpses of the tops of Grant Land mountains peeping through the clouds.

Our course turned sharply there. The real flight of exploration was over.

But we still had 900 miles to go to reach our goal. Guided by the sun's position and our compass, we headed straight for Spitzbergen. Through the clouds we caught glimpses of ice beneath us. Our drift indicator showed a strong wind in our favor. On the far horizon toward Greenland a heavy, stormy sky forbade a cross-flight to that ice covered country, so we edged along the storm area. Our course here was almost due east. The wind was at our back.

48 Degrees Below Zero.

Three hours after sighting Grant Land one lone peak of the most northerly end of Greenland showed dimly in the clouds far to the southward. Each hour Ben Eilson swung the ship steadily on the plotted course, and as the course trended southward, the wing swung, speeding us on our way.

It had been 48 degrees below zero Fahrenheit in free air since heading out from Grant Land and flying close to 85 north latitude [300 miles from the north pole, which was as close as we planned to go]; in the cabin the temperature dropped down to zero. It was then that coffee from thermos bottles, chocolate and biscuits were acceptable.

The high northwest wind and low temperature were sure to lead to trouble were it to meet the warmer open water and warm air at Svalbard. Sure enough it did. We had left the clouds behind at Greenland.

Within 200 miles of Svalbard high curling cloud masses rose to heights that even our now lightly loaded plane could not reach. Ben climbed the machine to 8,000 feet and selected the lanes between the feathery masses. Observations for ground speed and drift were now no longer possible. We had to trust to observations of the sun's position and our compass.

Fly Through Cloud Lanes.

For one hour and a half we flew through cloud lanes, seeing merely a dark streak of almost ice-free water beneath us. We figured if the wind had held in our favor we should be nearly at the mountains on the north end of Svalbard, but even the highest mountain tops would be cloud covered. We could not go beneath the clouds for fear of running into the mountains.

Our engine had burned much gasoline. We knew we had gas for two, perhaps three hours more. If only the weather were clear, we should have no trouble to locate it. To go too far east, even if we landed safely, would take us far inland and probably mean a tedious journey on foot over mountains and glaciers. Too far west might force us down in the sea. Southward the clouds seemed lower, so we turned in that direction, hoping to spy mountain peaks and locate our exact position.

WILKINS' ROUTE ACROSS ARCTIC

GREEN HARBOR, Svalbard [Spitzbergen], April 22.—To illustrate the course described in my story of the Arctic expedition flight, take the American Geographical society's stereographic chart and draw a line from Point Barrow to longitude 75, latitude 84, and then fifty miles south toward Grant land. The line should waver between longitude 78 and 80 about Grant land. Parallel the Grant land coast for twenty miles, thence curving round Greenland to the north end of Spitzbergen; then south; wavering over Prince Charles Foreland to our first landing on Dead Men's island, immediately south of Foreland. Then to our final landing at Green Harbor.

WILKINS.

Winds Toss Plane.

Suddenly two sharp peaks, almost needle pointed, appeared beneath us. Down we spun through a break in the clouds for a closer view. The air was turbulent above the heavy clouds, and between and beneath them it was boisterous. Our now almost empty plane was tossed like a cork on a stormy ocean. Loose things in the cabin tumbled and rattled. With nothing to hold on to, I could not keep my seat. Eilson's valuable training and skill then proved its worth. With the plane nosed down and engine full on, he held her as she bucked like a broncho.

Close to the ice strewn water the wind was furious. Salt spray whipped from the sea filled the air. Over the land the snow drifted high and thick. To judge distance was impossible. A smooth patch of snow covered land flashed by for a moment, then dead ahead a mountain loomed. With a quick swerve it was avoided by a narrow margin. We swung broadside to the wind and crabbed low over the water. Soon it appeared that what we had missed was an island. The glimpse was too fleeting to identify it.

Decide to Land.

As we were running short of gas, the safest procedure was to find the smooth spot we had noticed and try to land. I asked Eilson to do this. Practically blinded by the snow and oil on his windshield, he landed with the same skill and perception with which he brought down our plane in the dark on the ice near Point Barrow a year ago.

The wind was such that the machine stopped thirty feet after the skids touched snow. We could see but a few feet on each side. An ice pick was handy in the plane. With it we discovered we were on land, fast in the ice. The machine was undamaged. We were safe. Our non-stop coast-to-coast flight had ended. We had been 20 hours and 20 minutes in the air. The thick drift prevented us from examining our location.

The only thing to do was to beat the snow from our clothes, climb into the cabin of the machine, and await clear weather. We were not unduly tired nor anxious. King's Bay or Green Harbor could not be far away. Our fear was that we barely had enough gas to stay in the air for another hour. At the worst, we might walk or construct a boat and reach some habitation, or wait on the coast until some boat came by.

Town or Mirage Appears Near.

When we awoke from our sleep the sun shone dimly. We appeared to be on an island. Across the open water in the hazy distance we faintly saw what looked like houses. But the arctic mirage plays curious tricks with objects. It is easy to imagine that shadows thrown up resembled any known physical thing. We could not believe we were lucky enough to come just blindly within twenty miles of a town.

Snow drifting in the high wind soon obscured the horizon, but the sun could be seen. Two observations gave us our position near the end of King Charles Foreland, not far from Green Harbor. But we figured by dead reckoning that we could scarcely have come so far south. Still for the last two hours in the air we had had no means of checking our drift or accurately gauging the force or direction of the wind on the ground.

For the next four days there was no opportunity to judge our position more accurately. High winds blew from the north-northwest, then changed suddenly to southeast and as suddenly back to north again. I have never seen worse weather in the spring in the arctic. Drifts four feet high formed about and over the skis of the plane, fortunately holding her fast to the ice, otherwise she would have toppled during the gusts. We were housed comfortably in the windproof, snug cabin of the plane, eating biscuits and chocolate, smoking the few cigarets we had, and patiently waiting for the weather to clear.

We sighted Svalbard [Spitzbergen] at 6:15 p. m., local time, on Monday, just twenty hours after leaving Barrow. We first landed twenty minutes later. It was not until Saturday at 3 a. m. that the weather was again fit for flying.

We rose at that hour and cut and shoveled snow drifts for six hours before a clear runway for the machine was made. We planned to take the air and from an altitude definitely fix our position and choose our course. We made a downhill start, smoothing the snow as much as possible.

Falls in Jump for Plane.

We were soon to find that our decision not to land on the pack ice with a half load was wise. The tanks now held about twenty gallons of gasoline. With that and two of us in the machine, she would not budge an inch. When I got out and pushed the tail she started fine, but to climb in as she moved was difficult.

The first time I hung to the step and tried to climb in, but soon fell off. Eilson, unable to see behind from the pilot's seat, thought I was in and took off. When he turned he saw me forlorn on the ice. He circled and landed, slung out a rope ladder provided for such emergency, and I decided to hang on at all costs. We started again. As the machine gathered speed I climbed to the tail and struggled desperately to gain the cockpit.

My hands, free of mittens to climb better, soon stiffened with the cold. I grasped the rope with my teeth to help hang on. Eilleson, feeling the weight on the tail, thought I was safe and took off, but just before he left the ground I slithered from the shiny fuselage, was struck by the tail of the machine and flung to the snow. When the snow was freed from my mouth I found that I had escaped with no more harm than loosened teeth. As I now sit and write I can rock every front one with my tongue. I expect they will tighten in a day or so.

Tumbles Into Cockpit.

Eilson in the air soon discovered I was still on the ice, so he circled and landed again. We decided on one more try. We had been running the engine for an hour, using half our precious gasoline. If we failed again, Eilson would drop me a rifle, ammunition, and food and go on alone, returning by boat for me. The next time I stuck one foot in the cockpit and pushed, sitting on driftwood found on the land. As soon as the machine moved I tumbled into the cockpit regardless of bruises, and off we climbed in the air.

Since the sky had cleared, we had been far too busy trying to get away to think of our exact location but soon after we circled a head land, having climbed to 3,000 feet, we could see in the distance the wireless mast at Green Harbor ice bay. We had been stormbound for five days on Dead Man's island at Green Harbor. Herr Islen, manager of the radio station and all other officials at the station and the neighboring mines, treated us with bountiful hospitality. Our Norwegian pilot, Ben Eilson, had brought us safely through. Our new Norwegian friends are friends forever.

Many observations of ice and meteorological conditions were obtained. Twelve hundred more miles of Arctic exploration done, 2,200 more miles of Arctic flying covered.

The Arctic has treated us roughly at times, but in a friendly manner. Here we shall stay until some boat can take us and our trusty Lockheed monoplane to more southern climes. Tomorrow I will briefly describe sea and meteorological conditions, scientific and emergency equipment carried.

To Offer Rejected Plank at Judicial Convention.

BY PARKE BROWN.

In final conferences before the departure of United States Senator Deneen for Washington yesterday, it was determined that the fight for a plank condemning alliances of politicians and criminals will be carried into the Republican county judicial convention next week.

The Deneen leaders lost their battle at Springfield for the insertion of a strong declaration on that issue in the state platform, and they expect to lose again in the county session but they say they at least will go on record as to the attitude of their group in support of the demand for the divorcing of politics and crime.

With few changes it is probable that the very plank turned down by the state leaders last Friday will be presented at the county meeting. At Springfield the plank was discussed only in private conferences but the next time it will be made public formally and if the Thompson-Crowe majority votes it down the Deneen people may still use it in the fall campaign.

More Hostilities Expected.

Hostilities between these two camps are not expected to end with the passing of the state convention. The official canvass by the election board is to be finished this week and as soon as the proclamation is published the Deneen people in the names of their candidates who lost by anything less than 20,000 or 25,000 will contest the figures and petition for a recount. That petition must be filed within five days of the proclamation.

This alone, regardless of probable prosecution of fraud and violence at the primary, is expected to prevent anything in the way of post-primary consolidation between the warring factions. One of the biggest questions involved will be the management of the state and county campaigns and plans for that have not even been discussed. The Thompson-Crowe generals, having retained, possibly at the sacrifice of some of their candidates for office, a large majority of the county committee, are determined to cling to their political power even to insisting that they will manage the county battle. If the Deneen people put in their own management for Judge John A. Swanson and their other winners it will be contended, it is said, that the county committee is released from responsibility for actively supporting them.

Emmerson Rests in Florida.

The Deneen people maintained they will not at any cost permit their end of the fall contest to be handled by County Chairman Galpin and State's Attorney Crowe. In other words, Emmerson and the other state candidates may have to do business with two local headquarters in Chicago. The winner of the governorship nomination has gone to Florida for a rest. When he returns it is expected he will announce that Rodney Brandon, who bossed his primary fight, will handle the fall campaign for him.

A difficulty in this connection is said to be that, although the state central committee ordinarily handles the battle against the Democrats, there is this year no outstanding candidate for the chairmanship of that body, no man being elected to membership who is recognized as having the requisite state-wide experience to conduct the November fight.

Organization of the state committee has been postponed without any discussion of the available material for the chairmanship and the selection probably will be left to Emmerson as the head of the ticket.

Buck Candidacy Develops.

One candidacy of importance is developing for another party office, that of Clarence F. Buck, Lowden national manager, for national committeeman. That place now is held by Allen F. Moore of Monticello, who managed Frank L. Smith's 1926 campaign, and Roy O. West, secretary of the national body, has been considered the leading choice as his successor.

The committeeman is elected by the state delegation to the national convention at its first meeting—it will be at Kansas City this year—and reports of Buck's candidacy were said to be one of the causes for Deneen selecting only staunch Deneen men as the five delegates at large whom he chose.

In the event of a West-Buck contest for the place, the Deneen people would need every vote they could muster, and even then it is believed likely that Buck would win if he has the personal indorsement of Lowden. West, however, is a loyal Lowdenite, and the presidential candidate might determine not to take a hand in such a race.

WILKINS AND PILOT MAY BE ICEBOUND FOR SEVERAL WEEKS

OSLO, Norway, April 22.—(AP)—Capt. George H. Wilkins and his co-pilot, the Alaskan mail flyer, Carl B. Eilson, who startled the aviation and scientific world by completing yesterday a flight from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Green Harbor, Spitzbergen, must remain icebound at the northern outposts of Europe for several weeks unless they decide to fly away.

Radio messages from their landing place today reported that the ice pack extends for many miles at sea, and that no vessel can approach their haven in the Isfjord until the general thaw loosens the pack, about the middle of May. The report said there was extreme cold and fresh snow at Green Harbor today.

Their airplane, according to a telegram to the newspaper Aftenposten, is lying safe on the south side of the Isfjord. Both Capt. Wilkins and Eilson are said to be in good health and will receive every attention and comfort during their involuntary stay at the harbor, which is not far from the Longyear coal mines, where several hundred persons live all the year around.

TWO HURT AS EVANSTON BUS RUNS INTO POST

When the driver of an Evanston Bus company motor bus last night attempted to issue a transfer to a woman passenger without stopping, the bus got out of control and crashed into a telephone pole at Maple and University avenues, Evanston, injuring two men passengers and shaking a dozen others.

N. H. Gortz, 49 years old, 1129 Cleveland avenue, Evanston, and Fred Green, 63 years old, 1627 Chicago avenue, Evanston, were taken to the St. Francis hospital. Matt Bach, the driver, was arrested.

Two deaths in automobile accidents yesterday increased the motor toll in Cook county since Jan. 1 to 275.

An unidentified man about 50 years old was killed when he was struck at Washington boulevard and Carpenter street by a car, the driver of which failed to stop. West Park Policeman Edward Brierty pursued an automobile he saw leaving the scene and arrested the driver, Marek Stanki, 1516 Augusta street. Despite his denials that he was the man who struck the man killed, Stanki was held for the inquest.

Carl Gustafson, 27 years old, 5758 North Talman avenue, died at the Belmont Avenue hospital of injuries suffered on Saturday, when the car in which he was riding collided with another at Cicero avenue and Addison street and was hurled against a telephone post.

Policeman Lester Willett, 20 years old, 5248 South Maplewood avenue, was seriously injured when the motorcycle on which he was riding collided with a taxicab at 47th and Rockwell streets.

Wilkins Plans Antarctic Trip Next, Mother Says

He plans to lead an expedition to investigate the influence of antarctic weather upon that of Australia.

PARIS SOCIALIST WOULD END WAR IN 42 WORDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 22.—While Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg are getting on slowly in their proposals for outlawing war, Dr. Weill, Socialist candidate for parliament in Paris, hatched a powerful idea for putting old man Mars out of business.

In his campaign posters Dr. Weill says: "Let every power that is a member of the league of nations deposit half of its gold reserve at Geneva, agreeing that it will be confiscated the moment it declares war, and I guarantee shooting irons will go right out of fashion."

Dr. Weill stands a fine chance of being elected on the basis of this idea alone.

NORTH AND SOUTH CHINESE PROTEST JAPAN MEDDLING

Demand Tokio Stop Army Sent to Shantung.

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, China, April 22.—(AP)—Wounded from the battlefields of Shantung province are pouring into Tientsin and Peking. One report, believed premature, said Tsinan had fallen before the advance of the nationalist forces under Feng Yu-hsiang, the Christian general. Dispatches from Tientsin said the nationalists were advancing along the Peking-Hankow railway and were within 25 miles of Paotingfu. This would place them only 100 miles from Peking, the capital prize of the nationalist spring drive. Chang Tso-lin, according to these reports, was falling back to a previously prepared line of defense extending from Poatingfu to Tehchow.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PEKING, April 22.—In a second note to Japan the Peking government demands the recall of the Japanese troops sent to Tsinan, capital of Shantung province.

Japan has refused to accede to the request. Japan contends it is necessary to prevent railway equipment being sent to Pukow, which would assist in the transportation of the Nationalist troops northward by way of the Shantung railroad, in the event of the fall of Tsinan.

It is explained that Japan is unwilling to take sides but this makes it more necessary for Peking to protest, since it fears that otherwise the impression might be given that Japan is occupying Shantung in the interests of the Peking government. All military news dispatches from points south of Tsinan are being intercepted and censored here.

WARNS JAPAN TO STOP

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

SHANGHAI, April 22.—The Nationalist government foreign minister, Hwang Fu, today handed an official protest to the Japanese government regarding Japanese intervention in Shantung province.

The protest declares the action constitutes a flagrant violation of the principles of international law and treaty stipulations, and is unwarranted by the existing conditions or legal sanctions. The note demands that the Japanese government discontinue the troop movements, otherwise serious consequences are likely to result.

"When the Nationalist forces invaded Shantung last May the Japanese government suddenly dispatched troops, which the Nationalist government considered an encroachment on China's territorial sovereignty, we lodged a protest," the note says. "Although the Japanese troops subsequently were withdrawn, the Chinese people still feel a sense of resentment.

Claims Foreigners Are Protected.

"Since the establishment of the Nanking government the Nationalists have repeatedly guaranteed protection to foreign lives and properties. Recently Gen. Chiang Kai-shek issued a strict order to his subordinates for the protection of foreign lives and property, a copy of which order was transmitted to the Japanese government.

"In addition to this action the Nanking foreign minister has endeavored in recent months to readjust the outstanding questions in accordance with the friendly policy of the Nationalist government, in a spirit of earnestness and sincerity, with a view to promoting friendly relations. But unfortunately the Japanese utterly disregarded the facts of the situation and now, when the Nationalists are on the point of achievement of the unification of the Chinese nation, the Japanese again intervene, which indicates that Japan is viewing China in a false light. Such an attitude is unwarranted either by existing conditions or legal sanctions.

"Such action constitutes a flagrant violation of international law and treaty stipulations, but we fear it is likely to cause serious consequences, the responsibility for which will be difficult to determine.

"The Nationalist government fails to understand the object of the Japanese government. If the action is for protection against possible danger to Japanese residents within the war zone, other means easily could be devised to assure their safety. Instead of resorting to this course, the Japanese government repeats the previous action of dispatching troops.

Sees International Law Violation.

"The minister of foreign affairs, therefore, lodges a strong protest, at the same time requesting the Japanese government to reconsider the action and immediately discontinue the troop movements, in order that the present friendly relations between China and Japan can be maintained. The Nationalist government hopes for an early reply from the Japanese government."

The local Chinese press today published reports from all parts of south and central China indicating a growing storm of Chinese indignation against the Japanese action. Late reports from Tokyo tonight state that Japanese troops are embarking for Tsingtao, taking with them a complete staff of railway operatives and telegraphers for the occupation of the Shantung railway.

50 HURT IN ARGENTINA TORNADO.

BUENOS AIRES, April 22.—(AP)—More than fifty persons were injured yesterday, some seriously, when a tornado struck the town of Raugh in this province. There was considerable damage to crops and live stock as well as to residences.

SLUGGED DYER VIEWS SUSPECTS IN HUNT FOR FOUR

Charles Foreman, secretary of the Central Cleaners and Dyers at 2705 Fullerton avenue, yesterday attended the show up of more than 300 suspects at the Desplaines street police station in an effort to identify the four men who last Thursday slugged him and burned up one of his company's trucks filled with clothing. With Foreman was Assistant State's Attorney Walter G. Walker, who specializes in the prosecution of bombers and racketeers.

Although both men scrutinized each of the suspects as they passed, neither Foreman nor Walker would say whether any of the sluggers were among those arrested. Mr. Foreman, feeling the bandage he still wears about his head, said, however, he will not allow the racketeers to drive him out of business.

POLICEMAN TOUCHES WIRE; KILLED.

THE RULES:

1. Every weekday for 40 consecutive days, (not including Sundays) the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a cartoon picture representing the name of a popular and well known song or an old favorite melody. The public is invited to cut out these cartoons and name the songs the pictures represent.
2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in cash prizes to the persons sending in the nearest correctly named and neatest complete sets of pictures as follows: 1st Prize, $1,000.00; 2nd Prize, $250.00; 3rd Prize, $100.00; next 4 Prizes ($25.00 each) $100.00; next 100 Prizes ($10.00 each) $1,000.00; next 510 Prizes ($5.00 each) $2,550.00. A total of 617 Prizes, totaling $5,000.00.
3. This game is open to everyone, everywhere—men, women, boys and girls—except employes of The Chicago Tribune and their families. It does not matter where you live.
4. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill. Accuracy will count. Neatness will count. Song Titles are to be submitted only in complete sets. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 40. Then send them to "Song Titles," The Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Ill. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Picture No. 40 has been printed.
5. Each entry must be sent in by first class mail—postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Department. At the end of the contest we want you to tell us the name of your favorite song—the one you like best of all—and why. Contestants may send in as many sets of this Second Set of Song Titles as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.
6. You need not purchase the Chicago Daily Tribune to compete. You may copy or trace the cartoon pictures from the originals and use the copies you have made. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at public libraries free of charge.
7. The judges will be a committee appointed by The Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

THE D'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

JOHN M. GLENN, STATE BUSINESS LEADER, IS DEAD

John M. Glenn, 68 years old, for 30 years secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, died yesterday afternoon at Hot Springs, Ark., after a long illness. Mrs. Glenn was at his bedside.

The immediate cause of death was given as acute dilatation of the heart. For more than six years Mr. Glenn had suffered chronic heart trouble and had developed hardening of the arteries. He had passed several weeks recently at a sanitarium in Battle Creek, Mich.

On Wednesday he arrived at Hot Springs with Mrs. Glenn. After several days' observation in St. Joseph's hospital, physicians advised him not to take the baths and yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock Mrs. Glenn telephoned to her son, John J. Glenn, in Chicago, to come for them. An hour later Mr. Glenn quietly passed away. The son is now on the way to Hot Springs to accompany the body home.

Candidate for Governor in 1911.

Although in close contact with state and national political affairs and widely known in both the state and the national capital, he never participated actively in politics except in 1911, when he announced himself a Republican candidate for governor.

Mr. Glenn was born in Fort Wayne, Ind., on Nov. 14, 1859, the son of Judge John J. and Mrs. Glenn. He attended Monmouth college at Monmouth, Ill., receiving his A. M. there in 1883. In [illegible] he married Miss Jeanie Chapin of Kirkwood, Ill.

Starts as Newspaper Man.

He began newspaper work in 1883 on the Monmouth Atlas. Three years later he came to Chicago and was employed on the Inter Ocean, TRIBUNE, and Times-Herald. In 1897 he was made secretary of the Chicago civil service commission, and in 1898 became the first secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, which he helped to organize.

Mr. Glenn was a member of the Art Institute, the Indiana Society of Chicago, and the Chicago and Illinois Historical societies. His clubs were the Union League, Midday, Glenview, Press, Evanston Country club, Chicago Athletic association, the Missouri Athletic at St. Louis, and the Lotos at New York.

He is survived by his widow; two daughters, Miss Mary Glenn and Mrs. Thomas Jerald Bryce, and two sons, John J. and Robert Glenn. His home was at 1131 Forest avenue, Evanston.

Two Overpower Guards, Halt Train and Escape

Latrobe, Pa., April 23 [Monday].—(AP)—Two federal prisoners in charge of two United States marshals, en route to Washington, D. C., from Topeka, Kas., aboard the Liberty limited of the Pennsylvania railroad, overpowered their guards near here early this morning, beat them badly, took their keys, and, pulling the signal cord of the train, made their escape.

Giant Submarine Ready for Sea

V-4, WORLD'S LARGEST SUB, IS READY FOR SEA

Boston, Mass., April 22.—(AP)—The submarine V-4, largest undersea vessel in the world, recently commissioned at the Portsmouth navy yard, has been assigned by the navy department temporarily to Submarine Division 12 of the Atlantic Control force, under Rear Admiral Frank H. Brumby, the Boston navy yard announced tonight.

The giant submarine ultimately will go to the battle fleet in the submarine division in the Pacific.

The V-4 is not entirely completed, but will begin her trials, some of which will be experimental, off Portsmouth some time after May 15.

CREDIT WOMEN MEET TONIGHT.

A meeting of the Credit Women's club will be held tonight at the Illinois Women's Athletic club. The club is composed of women in member firms of the Chicago Association of Credit Men.

DENTISTS TO TEST TEETH OF 200,000 PUPILS THIS WEEK

More than 600 members of the Chicago Dental society will begin this morning the examination of the teeth of all first, third, and fifth grade pupils in the Chicago public schools with the expectation of completing clinical observation of nearly 200,00 children during the week.

The results of the examinations will be compiled in a report which will be presented to the city council as an argument for an increased appropriation for school dental clinics. The work is to be under the joint supervision of Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, health commissioner, and Dr. Harold S. Smith, chairman of the Chicago Dental society's committee on school clinics.

POINCARE LEADS IN EARLY RETURN; PAINLEVE LOSES

French to Continue Present Government.

PARIS, April 22.—(AP)—The first 133 constituencies reporting on today's general elections for a new chamber of deputies piled up a comfortable lead for Raymond Poincare, who had appealed to France for a continuation of the union government.

Forty of the constituencies gave outright majorities to followers of the premier. These included six members of the cabinet—Aristide Briand, minister of foreign affairs; Edouard Herriot, minister of public instruction; André Tardieu, minister of public works; Louis Marin, minister of pensions; Georges Leygues, minister of marine, and Maurice Bokanowski, minister of commerce.

Only sixteen outright elections, including four Socialists, were won by the opposition. Sixty-six of these constituencies must ballot again next Sunday.

Painleve Loses.

The only fly in the ointment at that stage was the fact that Paul Painleve, minister of war, had fallen 70 votes short of the absolute majority necessary to elect and therefore would have to go before the voters again next Sunday.

Only one opposition delegate had been successful out of the 50 districts reporting. He was a Socialist. Twenty-four other districts failed to register a majority for any one candidate and will, therefore, be the scene of a second balloting on April 29.

Except for fights with fists and canes, there was no appreciable disorder anywhere in France. In Paris communists who were watching returns posted by their official newspaper, Humanité, clashed with the police. It was a lively affair while it lasted.

Riot in German Elections.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 22.—The German election rioting started with a big display today in the Berlin working class suburb of Neukoeln. It comprised a two hour street battle between rival partisans, with the police storming the barricades and firing revolver volleys.

The Nationalist Steel Helmets marched through the streets under an escort of 500 police. When the band struck up "Deutschland über Alles" the mob got out of hand and pelted the Steel Helmets with paving stones. The mounted police charged, but were driven off by the infuriated mob.

OFFICIALS SAY THIS IS FORESTRY WEEK; PLANT A FEW TREES

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Federal officials are hopeful that American Forest week, which begins tomorrow, will serve to center the attention of the lake states, particularly Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota, upon the critical problem of forest restoration.

"The enormous quantities of lumber provided by the lake states from 1870 until after the dawn of the twentieth century speeded up the development of the whole midwest," it is asserted in a bulletin issued today.

"Today these three states are dependent upon outside sources for approximately half their own lumber needs. Minneapolis, which thirty years ago was the greatest lumber manufacturing city of the world, now has become a great inland distributing center for Pacific coast lumber.

"Of the 350 billion board feet of white pine which it is estimated the original lake states forests contained only about 8 billion remain.

"Several million acres of cut-over and burned-over land which is not suited to agriculture can be restored to tree growing on a permanent basis. The principal measures necessary include protection from fire, planting of barren lands, and proper forest management to encourage the establishment of young growth of the best kinds of trees.

"Selective logging has been put into practice by a number of timber land owners."

QUIET STRANGER TAKES LIFE AT POLICE STATION

The desk sergeant commented on the quiet reserve of a ragged, middle aged stranger who wandered into the detective bureau late Saturday night and politely asked for a night's lodging. "He's not an ordinary bozo," the sergeant observed.

All night the stranger slept on a wooden bench in the courtroom on the second floor. Then he was awakened by the assistant janitor, who promised him a breakfast if he would help tidy up the bureau quarters.

It was while sweeping out around the police switchboard that temptation came. Temptation to end a life that seemingly had accomplished nothing and that had brought only poverty and destitution. The stranger had caught sight of the revolver of Policeman William Burns in a holster hanging from a coat hook.

Unnoticed by the operators in the room, he abandoned his broom for the weapon and walked into a washroom adjoining the reporter's pressroom. He fired one shot that passed through his head. Hours after his death the stranger still remained unidentified at the county hospital.

GROWING FEAR OF AL NERVES CAL DRAFTERS

Hoover Boom Now Has Hollow Sound.

guard Republicans are responsilbe for halting the program to instruct for Hoover. Senator Phipps, an old guard Republican, admits that he telegraphed the Colorado leaders to avoid instructions for Hoover. He explained that he is opposed to instructed delegations on principle.

Furthermore, it was disclosed that Hoover is far from certain of getting the delegates from Texas, Louisiana, and Mississippi. Clarence Buck, Lowden campaign manager, says that there will be contesting Lowden delegations from these states presenting their claims to the credentials committee at Kansas City.

If the Hoover forces are in control at the time, the Hoover delegations will be seated; if the anti-Hoover groups dominate, the Lowden delegations will be seated.

Hoover now has a total of 255 delegates either instructed or favorable to him, while Lowden has an aggregate of 161. The Hoover managers claim 285 and Mr. Buck claims 250 for Lowden. A conservative estimate is that Hoover will go into the convention with from 350 to 400 delegates and Lowden with from 200 to 250. The majority necessary to nominate is 545.

Old Guard Conniving.

At this moment Hoover has the old guard guessing. He is not their first choice by any means, though they may be compelled to accept him in the end. The old guard would much prefer four more years of Coolidge, and next to Coolidge it would choose Charles Evans Hughes.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Charles D. Hilles, Republican national committeeman for New York, and affiliated eastern leaders are maneuvering to produce a situation favorable to drafting either Coolidge or Hughes.

Their policy at present is to halt Hoover and mark time until the convention meets and a survey can be made of the possibilities of drafting Coolidge or Hughes.

If no further discouragement emanates from the White House the eastern leaders will go to Kansas City with a convention deadlock and draft Coolidge stampede in their bag of tricks.

Hughes Next in Line.

If Coolidge fails them, the old guard will survey the possibility of putting Hughes over. Hughes is Mellon's favorite and Hilles is prepared to offer Hughes as the only Republican candidate except President Coolidge who could be relied upon to carry New York against Al Smith.

Mr. Hilles clearly thinks that the party at large should be no less fearful of the effect of losing the Empire state this year than the New York G. O. P., which in that event will be condemned to wandering in the wilderness perhaps for decades. For if they carry New York this time, the Democrats are going to gerrymander the state in a way that will give them control of the legislature indefinitely.

And the rest of the party, thinks Hilles, ought to prefer a candidate guaranteed to carry New York, for the reason that it is unsafe for the Republicans to calculate on victory without the 45 electoral votes of that state. To do otherwise is to tempt fate, according to Hilles, who is shocked by Clarence Buck's argument that Lowden could lose New York, Massachusetts, and New Jersey, and still win.

Hughes Jinx Weakening.

The eastern leaders have been told that Hughes simply will not do, that he would be weaker in the west than he was in 1916. They have been encouraged, however, to disregard these warnings since the enhancement of the prestige of Hughes by his triumphs at the Havana conference.

The friends of Hughes do not doubt that he would accept, if drafted.

Of course, if the nomination of either Coolidge or Hughes turns out to be impracticable, the old guard will be up against the decision as to whether to take Hoover after all. And it might be that Hoover by that time would be so close to a majority that the old guard would be compelled to take him.

Hoover, next to Coolidge and Hughes, is really the logical choice of the eastern leaders, who are to a man either of or for the Coolidge administration. The other candidates and dark horses have opposed the administration in important particulars. Yet Hoover does not appeal to them, for various reasons.

The bankers are sore because he would forbid foreign loans for the balancing of budgets and for increasing armaments.

Mellon has been cold to the Hoover candidacy, presumably from personal as well as business reasons. There are many stories of the friction between Hoover and Mellon in the cabinet and in the war debt funding commission. Hoover is reputed to have differed sharply with Mellon on the French debt settlement, which he deemed too liberal. Hoover absented himself from the luncheon Mellon gave the French commissioners after the settlement and from the White House when the American commission presented the settlement terms to the President.

The coal operators are antagonistic because Hoover had a hand in putting over the Jacksonville mine wage agreement, and it must be remembered that the Mellons own the Pittsburgh Coal company, one of the greatest coal corporations.

The Hooverites have been courting Mellon ever since the commerce secretary became a candidate. It is said that Mellon has been assured that he can retain the treasury portfolio if Hoover becomes President. Whether Mellon eventually will accept Hoover is the subject of animated speculation.

If Hoover goes into the convention with upwards of 400 delegates Mellon and Hilles, with a total of 169 votes in the Pennsylvania and New York delegations, could put him over whenever they might see fit. That they could block his nomination does not follow, but with the aid they could command from other old guard sources they could make it exceedingly difficult for Hoover to get a majority.

Eye Lowden Askance.

The eastern anti-Hooverites would find Lowden acceptable if the farm relief issue were to be removed from the contest. They are against McNary-Haugenism. Paradoxically enough, though Dawes is an advocate of the McNary-Haugen farm relief plan, these eastern interests would prefer him to either Lowden or Hoover.

Mellon is emphatically opposed to Lowden. He did not vote the Pennsylvania delegation for Lowden for Vice President at Cleveland until the second ballot when he saw that Lowden was going across. Nor was Pennsylvania any more enthusiastic over Dawes, voting for him on the third ballot only when it turned out that the scheme to put over Everett Sanders had been shattered by the refusal of Jim Watson to give Sanders the Indiana vote.

Let Lady Esther Make You Beautiful

50 Cents Proves It
Four Purposes in One

In every drug store worthy of the name and in every good department store in Chicago, you can get a jar of Lady Esther Four-Purpose Face Cream for 50c.

All we ask is that you use this cream just once. Why only once? Because after the first trial your beauty is so increased, your complexion so ravishingly lovely—that you'll never use any cream but Lady Esther's.

Truly Lady Esther Four-Purpose Face Cream is the marvel of the time. Just imagine a cream which eliminates all vanishing and cleansing creams, all skin foods and astringents.

In one operation (takes only two minutes) Lady Esther Face Cream cleanses, nourishes, tightens your skin—and lays an exquisitely dainty base for your powder and rouge.

When we first told you of this remarkable cream there were some women inclined to be doubtful. However, they figured if Lady Esther really did all she claimed, she at least would be worth a trial.

Now—well after the first application of Lady Esther Face Cream they were absolutely sold on it. Their complexions—you should see them—so delicately smooth and clear. No more blackheads for them. Only days of loveliness and exquisite charm ahead.

And girls—here's a secret! Lady Esther erases all those lines and wrinkles from your face. You see it is not merely a cold cream or skin food—it is what the name typifies—a beauty cream.

Please, won't you, too, be beautiful like other women who use this wonder cream? Especially when Lady Esther is so generous as to give you the economy size $1.25; other sizes 50c-75c.

THIS WEEK MAY SHOW WAY OF THE POLITICAL WIND

G. O. P. Selects 200, Foes 160 Delegates.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—More than 200 Republican and 160 Democratic delegates to national conventions are to be selected during this week.

Primaries in Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts take place on Tuesday, with both parties selecting delegates. Several Republican conventions are scheduled, those in Oklahoma and Nevada on Tuesday, in Michigan on Wednesday, and Arizona on Saturday. The outcome of the Republican contest in the Ohio primary will overshadow all other political events of the week.

Ohio May Decide Hoover's Fate.

Capture of a majority of the Ohio delegates by Secretary Hoover, in the face of the wave of anti-Hoover sentiment which followed the death of Senator Willis, will be construed as giving a big boost to his candidacy. His failure, on the other hand, to win more than a handful of the 51 delegates will be regarded by opponents as a severe blow to his prospects.

The Democratic delegates in Ohio will be chosen without a contest. While they will be instructed for former Senator Atlee Pomerene, a favorite son, eventually their 48 votes will further add to the strength of Gov. Al Smith of New York.

Mellon Controls Penn State.

The Pennsylvania primaries hold interest in that they mean the election of the second largest state delegation in each of the conventions. The 79 Republican delegates will be uninstructed, awaiting the will of Secretary Mellon. On the Democratic side it is expected that Al Smith will get three-fourths of the delegation.

The 39 Republican delegates in Massachusetts will be uninstructed, with a considerable number of them already expressing a preference for Hoover. The 39 Democratic delegates in Massachusetts are assured for Smith and will give a substantial boost to the New York governor.

The Lowden forces expect to fare well in two of the four Republican conventions. In Oklahoma the Lowden and Curtis friends have formed an alliance and expect to control the convention. There are 21 Republican delegates from Oklahoma.

In Arizona the Lowden Republicans will be definitely in control, but the Nevada Republican convention will likely furnish nine delegates for Hoover. The Michigan Republican convention also will be a Hoover ratification meeting.

HOOVER AND SMITH IN LEAD OF NATIONAL POLL OF NEWSPAPERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Hoover and Smith are far in the lead of a poll of Republican newspapers of the country made public today by the National Republic, a magazine.

The poll shows that Gov. Smith leads as Democratic choice in every state but Missouri and Kansas, where Reed leads; Florida and Mississippi, where he is tied with Reed, and Maryland, where he is tied with Gov. Ritchie. The ballots give Smith 1,425, Reed 370, Ritchie 9, Walsh 139, Meredith 64, McAdoo 26, Donahey 21, Woollen 19, scattered 69.

A Hoover preponderance as first or second choice is shown, it is asserted, in every state except Missouri, where he trails both Lowden and Dawes. Lowden is first choice in ten states. The vote received for the Republicans who are candidates follows:

CITY TO HONOR BRAVEST YOUTH IN BOYS' WEEK

Who is the bravest boy in Chicago? A program in his honor has been arranged as one of the features of the city's observance of Boys' week, May 13 to 19. It will be the second annual boys' bravery contest, the one last year having brought out numerous instances of outstanding courage.

The winner will receive a gold medal of honor pinned upon him, will be greeted by police, fire and military leaders, and may have the opportunity to shake the hand of Col. Charles Lindbergh. Efforts are being made to have the flyer present at the award ceremony.

"The purpose of the award," said George W. Dixon, president of the Chicago Boys' Week federation, "is not only to discover the bravest boy but also to set up right ideals for all boys. It is time that other deeds than those of criminals be exploited for the city's youth."

Three Girls Leap from Auto After Ride with Strangers

Three young girls who had leaped from an automobile after accepting a ride from three strange young men whom they met at a party Saturday night were found early yesterday morning, trudging along Irving Park boulevard in Schiller park, by Leo Rosch, chief of police of that village. The girls gave their names as Flo and Lillian Conwell of 4548 North Central Park avenue, and Sadelle Kelly of 1453 South Kostner avenue.

Fishing Season Is Opened on Jackson Park Lagoon

Despite the cool weather, hundreds took advantage of the opening of the boating and fishing season yesterday on the Jackson park lagoon. Many of the boatsmen took hook and line along and good catches were reported. Today the tennis courts in Jackson park will be ready, as will the bowling greens on the site of the old world's fair German village. The golf course, it was announced, will be opened on April 28.

agency and for a time was said to have been connected with investigations of cases which gained wide notoriety.

When Gov. Len Small went to trial in Waukegan, charged with withholding state funds during his administration as state treasurer, Newmark, with Michael J. Boyle and several Chicago gangsters, was seen much in the little Lake county town. He was at the time said to be in the employ of the governor in connection with the investigation of men called for jury service. After the governor had been acquitted and the jury fixing scandal was made public he was called by State's Attorney A. V. Smith, together with Boyle and others, to tell a grand jury what he knew of that.

Pardoned by Small.

Newmark and Boyle went to Waukegan, but both refused to answer questions of the grand jury on the ground they might incriminate themselves. Both were then sentenced to six months in the county jail for contempt of court.

They obtained their release from jail on $2,000 bonds and when they were again called they forfeited the bonds and became fugitives. They remained fugitives until Gov. Small pardoned them. On his pardon, Newmark was made a special assistant state fire marshal by the governor, and he held that position together with conducting his private detective agency.

In 1924, after the government secret service men here had made a series of investigations into an alleged $1,000,000 conspiracy to counterfeit and sell war savings stamps, Newmark was indicted and arrested with a score of other defendants. He succeeded in getting a separate trial on this charge. Later this indictment was quashed. He was again indicted by the United States grand jury, but the case never was brought to trial.

Pan-American Flyers Land After Desert Adventure

Calexico, Cal., April 22.—(AP)—Hermosillo, Mexico, reported today that Jimmy Angel, Fresno, Cal., airman on a 25,000 mile Pan-American flight, and his two companions, formerly of Evanston, Ill., William Benton and Presho Stephenson, had arrived there after being forced down on the desert near Altar. Angel was on the second leg of his flight bound for Guaymas from Mexicali, a 500 mile hop. Altar is 110 miles west of Hermosillo, which is midway between Santa Ana and Guaymas. Santa Ana is on the route from Mexicali to Guaymas.

SANDINO SEIZES FOUR AMERICANS, RAIDS GOLD MINE

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Confirmation of Associated Press reports from Bluefields, Nicaragua, that Gen. Augustino Sandino and his followers had raided an American gold mine in the department of Prinzapolca and taken as prisoners all employés, including several Americans, was received by owners of La Luz mine, in that district.

The message which came from the private wireless station of the Standard Fruit and Steamship company at Puerta Cadezas, through the company's office at New Orleans, said:

"On the twelfth, Sandino raided La Luz, taking all the gold, money, merchandise, animals, also Marshall and all employés prisoner."

J. Gilmore Fletcher, president the La Luz and Los Angeles Mining company, operators of the raided mine, received the message at his New York office. He said four Americans and one Englishman, in addition to 100 Indians, were employed at the mine.

The "Marshall" mentioned in the message, he said, was George B. Marshall of New York City, assistant superintendent of the mine. Other Americans there, the company's records show, include L. B. Milbery of Woodsville, N. H.; Roy Burley and P. Peterson, addresses unknown, and the superintendent, Harry J. Amphlett, a British subject.

"The La Lux mine," Fletcher said, "has been operated since 1905 and employs about 100 men. It is one of the largest in Nicaragua and is situated on the Prinzapolca river, in the department of Prinzapolca, about 100 miles inland as the crow flies.

"Communication between the mine and Puerte Cadezas on the Caribbean sea, Nicaragua, where the private wireless station of the Standard Fruit and Steamship company is located, is a six day journey by runner. This would account for the delay in transmission of the message."

Fletcher said he could not estimate the loss suffered by the company until further details were available.

MOROS SEEK TO DIE BY KNIFE; IN FEAR OF CHAIR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., April 22.—Four Moro murderers sentenced to be electrocuted April 25 today will beg Gov. Gen. Henry L. Stimson to change the mode of death to hanging, or the Moro style of execution, known as the "busbus." The busbus requires being tied to a post and a knife slashed across and down the stomach.

Electrocution is unknown to them and their superstitious natures causes them to fear death in this manner, though they are not afraid to die by the other methods.

There being no Moro priest in Manila, an Indian Mohammedan may read the Koran for the quartet.

Little Lectures on ORIENTAL RUGS
By SARKIS H. NAHIGIAN
(No. 6 of a Series)

Who can resist the charm of artistic environment? Perhaps, an adored Rembrandt, or a Cotter hangs near; soft, clinging draperies delightfully attract, and one's eyes may even linger lovingly on oddly antique pieces of furniture. But what is it that puts the "sparkle of sunshine" in the picture? Ah, the luxuriant Oriental scheme, of course—the crowning decorative achievement of all . . . Indeed, with the coming of the Oriental Rug, comes luxury; they beautify and glorify the American home. And Oriental Rugs are the universal floor covering because they are genuinely economical. Oriental Rugs endure for a lifetime—and longer. Generations to come may enjoy them, too. Figure it that way.

FLOODS, FAMINE HARASS VICTIMS OF BULGAR QUAKE

Premier Calls for Aid; Relief Work Starts.

BULLETIN.

VIENNA, April 22.—(U.P.)—Renewed earthquake shocks in parts of Bulgaria today brought panic and terror. The Bulgarian government has declared a moratorium in the affected districts.

Houses collapsed in today's new tremblors. The crowds were reported to be lynching all persons caught looting the ruins and threatening the same action against those accused of profiteering in food.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, April 22.—(AP)—To the panic and despair resulting from the heavy earthquakes in southeastern Bulgaria have been added sufferings from floods. Reports from Philippopolis and other points in the devastated region said that it had been raining unceasingly for 48 hours.

A tenth of the 125,000 persons affected by the quake have shelter of a sort where they have been able to improvise huts. There are thousands, however, exposed to the full rigors of the weather. Added to these sufferings is a scarcity of food and a lack of fuel.

Repeats Call for Help.

Premier Liapcheff today repeated to the Associated Press that foreign help must come for the destitute population, who will be compelled to live for a long time without adequate shelter and on scant rations.

The relief, however, has started to arrive. The American Red Cross telegraphed $5,000. The pope sent about $90,000.

King Alexander sent a telegram of condolence to King Boris and the Jugo-Slav Red Cross dispatched about $12,000. Newspapers, teachers and other intellectual interests have formed a committee to collect funds for this stricken country.

Jugo-Slavia Opens Frontier.

Jugo-Slavia's department of the interior has relaxed its frontier regulations and has ordered that all Bulgarian immigrants be transported to the interior of the country so there may be no occasion for conflict.

Light shocks were experienced today at several places that have hitherto been untroubled. There were no casualties, as the people fled from their houses at the first sign of a tremor. The Panaguerichte, Ladiane, and Kiralji districts were shaken by today's quakes.

BEGINS SENTENCE FOR PROFITING IN AID'S RUM SALE

Paul Chalmers, owner of a drink parlor at 3600 South Union avenue, will be locked up in the McHenry county jail in Woodstock this morning to serve a federal sentence for selling liquor. The United States Circuit court of appeals last week held that although Chalmers was not present at the time of sale and although the bartender testified that the liquor belonged to him and was sold without knowledge of the proprietor, nevertheless the proprietor can be found guilty if circumstantial evidence indicates that he profited by the sales.

Took Soda 20 Years for Gas—Stops Now

"For 20 years I took soda for indigestion and stomach gas. One bottle of Adlerika brought me complete relief."—J. B. Hardy.

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, saline, etc. (known as Adlerika), has a most surprising DOUBLE action. First it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that often poisoned the system for months. Second, Adlerika clears all GAS and sourness from stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, writes: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and bacilli."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated."

It will astonish you the great amounts of poisonous matter Adlerika brings out—matter you would never believe was in your system. In chronic constipation, gas bloating, sour stomach and sick headache, just ONE spoonful Adlerika brings wonderful relief. At leading druggists.

THE MUNICIPAL COURT.

A first page story of Saturday's TRIBUNE records the absence from their posts on Thursday last of half of the Municipal judges. In one court an assistant state's attorney was acting for the absent jurist to the extent at least of granting continuances, and our reporter presented a vivid picture of confusion and irresponsibility which may or may not impress our citizenry. The news editorship of this newspaper thought the matter worthy of a conspicuous presentation and we hope it will help to bring a little nearer some effective concentration of opinion upon the deplorable state of our popular court.

The Municipal court act was passed in 1905. It was the result of many years' publicity directed upon the evils of the old justice court which crystallized the protest of unfortunate litigants in that malodorous forum. The Municipal court act was expected to avoid the faults of the justice of the peace system and bring forth a tribunal of the people which would be worthy of respect and confidence. From the first it was recognized that the personnel of the new judiciary would fix the real test of the court's efficiency, and while the first bench of judges did not in every instance measure up to the highest expectations, it represented a most encouraging advance over the justice of the peace and included a number of men of first rate character and ability. The most fortunate, as it was the most important, fact was the choice of the chief justice, who still remains and is the sheet anchor of what remains of the qualities expected of the new tribunal. But the outstanding aspect of the court's history has been the progressive degeneration of its personnel. Steadily the quality of the Municipal court judiciary has deteriorated until at this time, in spite of Judge Olson's long and stubborn struggle for competency and integrity in the court, and in spite of the presence of some faithful and efficient members, there is an emphatic opinion at the bar that the present situation is little better, if at all, than the old justice of the peace system produced.

We are not fitted to make expert comparisons, but it is notorious that the Municipal court is not only not what the bar and public expected it would be but that it includes judges grossly unfit, and even that its general level is progressively lowering. Yet the Municipal court is one of the most important of our public institutions. It touches more people than the higher courts and touches them more nearly and persistently. It is preëminently the people's court, and it should be maintained upon a secure and high level of integrity and efficiency. Theoretically the people, the general voting public, being so directly affected by such a tribunal should be especially jealous of its character and especially determined to protect it from perversion and demoralization. But in fact the court has become one of the worst victims of irresponsible and vicious politics that we have had the misfortune to develop. Its state challenges whatever civic conscience and intelligence the community possesses, and particularly we think it is a public responsibility of the bar to disclose its weaknesses and to lead a directed practical movement for its reform.

The fact that the bench was half emptied for one day is in itself not of critical importance, but the reason for the absence of the judges is the key to the whole problem. A judiciary chosen by the ordinary processes of practical politics is not going to be distinguished by high judicial qualities. Municipal judgeships are on the bargain counter of low grade politics. They represent real power and they are filled not on the basis of judicial fitness but in the unscrupulous maneuvering of the political game. To the tactics and service of professional politics the judges are necessarily committed. They go along or they don't go at all. Of course, they cannot be free agents or disown the powers that lend them power. The law of self-preservation is the law they obey and must obey above all other laws, or pass out of political and official existence.

All this is obvious and notorious. But it ought not to be necessary. The evils of the old justice court brought reform, and if the reform has not proved durable and fully effectual it does not follow that we cannot do better with another try. We know, if we face conditions, what the matter is and that at least a part of it is not wholly incurable. Certainly one of the weaknesses of the present system is that a short elective term for judicial offices keeps judges perpetually in the turmoil of politics and subjects them to all the influences which are brought to bear upon the conscience in the interest of political favor. But the methods of choosing judges, whether by election or appointment, need drastic revision and the bar should address itself without further procrastination to the task of devising better methods. With an honest and well considered plan, public opinion will have something to rally upon and to place its conquering force behind. The laissez faire of professional habit is deplorable. The bar owes the community initiative and leadership in this special field of administration.

SPOILS POLITICS AND THE SCHOOLS.

A year ago Mayor Thompson took office. He was elected on a platform containing as a major plank the dismissal of Superintendent of Schools William McAndrew.

Mayor Thompson began his attack on Mr. McAndrew by bringing about the appointment of J. Lewis Coath as president of the board of education. Last Aug. 29 Mr. McAndrew was suspended on a technical charge of insubordination. After a trial which was, as had been expected, another act in the farce of Thompson's "America First," he was finally ousted a few days before the primary elections.

Since Mr. McAndrew's suspension last August the public school system has been without a superintendent. Twelve important executive positions, their occupants driven out by the Coath method, have remained unfilled because the superintendent's recommendation was needed before the board could act. No superintendent was named because it was deemed politically expedient to wait until after the elections.

Mr. McAndrew's dismissal was only a single high spot in the Thompson-Coath school administration. It only epitomized the exploitation of the schools for political purposes. In so far as it could be accomplished without too much publicity the school system has been remade into a political plum tree. At the end of Mayor Thompson's second term, five years ago, the administration of the schools had been shown as so lax and venal that Thompson was afraid to run again in the face of the public indignation. The last year has seen the schools slipping back into that same condition of inefficiency, political privilege, and corruption.

It was about a month after Mr. McAndrew's suspension that Miss Bertha Giffey, principal of the Plamondon school, made complaint to the school board of which Mr. Coath was president, stating that a brick wall bordering the school playground was unsafe. The board was busy with the McAndrew trial and it was about that time that word began to get out that the fattest school building contracts were going to a company of which Mr. Coath's son was vice president.

Miss Giffey heard nothing of her complaint until February, when she was instructed by the office of the superintendent—officially vacant according to Mayor Thompson's promise—that she must make a requisition for the repairs. She sent in the requisition. It was allowed by the board on Feb. 28, but in the six weeks following nothing was done to repair the wall.

On April 19, six months after the principal's original complaint to the board controlled by Mayor Thompson and presided over by Mr. Coath, the wall at the Plamondon school fell, killing two children and injuring thirteen others.

The history of the public schools under the Thompson-Coath system of spoils politics—inefficient, greedy for self, callous to the rights and safety of the people—is memorialized by the sprawling pile of bricks that were once a wall at the Plamondon school.

FARM RELIEF VS. RECLAMATION.

Senator McNary of Oregon is the first half of the McNary-Haugen bill, which, in turn, is popularly synonymous with farm relief by means of a government fund and federally authorized machinery to dump the farm surplus abroad and spread the loss over products consumed at home. Senator McNary, therefore, stands as one of the notable champions of the American farmers.

So it was in some amazement that one noted a day or so ago in the news from Washington that Senator McNary of Oregon was one of a group who spoke in defense of the bill authorizing the $300,000,000 Columbia river basin reclamation project.

For whoever favors the Columbia river or any other reclamation project at this time of agricultural distress may be a friend to interests in the Pacific northwest or wherever the project is located, but he cannot be a friend of the American farmer, particularly the farmer of the great midwestern producing area.

There are already too many farms in the United States. Thousands of farming acres have been abandoned during the last few years. Reclamation and the creation of more farms can lead only to greater surpluses of foodstuffs, and the farmer already has so much surplus that he doesn't know what to do. What the farmer needs is not growth but stability, a period of respite while the demand catches up with the supply. It will be many years before more farm lands are needed in order to grow larger crops for domestic consumption. And any reclamation scheme proposed now is an overt act of injury to established agriculture. It may bring temporary benefit to those immediately concerned with it, but as far as the farmer is concerned to ask him to help pay for a reclamation project is asking him to finance an additional group of rivals of whom he already has too many.

No senator or representative in Washington can consistently support both bills, the farm relief measure and the Columbia river bill. No real friend of farm relief can sincerely advocate reclamation.

Editorial of the Day

WISCONSIN CATCHES STEP.

[The State Journal, Lansing, Mich.]

Wisconsin has presented a peculiar problem in party politics for the last 20 years. Within recent days it has shown some symptoms of returning to normal.

Following the primary in Wisconsin early last week, it required pretty much all the time since for the situation to so settle and clarify as to be fully intelligible. It now appears that those who may be called regular Republicans have made appreciable gains over La Folletteism.

Wisconsin Republicans for years past have presented the strange spectacle of being nominally within the national party and yet in every practical and even theoretical sense being a third, or, as it might be said, a state party unto themselves. So contradictory has this position been that it is not at all surprising that there is a growing sentiment with Republicans of the state to once more catch step with the party at large.

Wisconsin Republicanism for long years centered around the personality of the older La Follette. The present Senator La Follette appears quite a forceful young man, but it is increasingly apparent that he cannot permanently wield a power equal to that of his father.

Considerable advancement of a liberal nature may be credited to Wisconsin in recent years, but in attaining her advances Wisconsin has seemed to assume the position of a little principality set down in an alien country. Wisconsin has long been considered the "odd sheep" in the flock of states. The influence of Wisconsin Republicans in the national party has fallen nearly to zero. Little wonder there is support for those who would catch step again.

NO EXCUSE FOR SERIOUS SKIN CANCER.

DRS. MACKIE AND LEWIS are particularly emphatic in what they have to say about skin cancer. There is almost no excuse for a serious result from skin cancer. These growths give such abundant warning; they are right under observation; such a choice of cures are offered, and cure is so certain that a fatal issue in skin cancer is little short of suicide. The evidence is so plainly seen that the man who refuses to act does so because he has made up his mind not to accept the truth, or, knowing it, to act unwisely.

They then discuss the significance of various skin blemishes. The ordinary brown spots which come on the skin of elderly people, which are not thickened or hardened, are of no significance. They are called moth patches and liver spots.

Skin growths which go by the name of senile warts are of three kinds: the hardened, somewhat horny masses, those that look more like birthmarks or moles, and those that look like warts. These growths are usually benign, though some of them become malignant. A man who has such growths should go to a doctor about once a year to have them passed on. So long as they are benign they should be left alone. If they acquire a hardened base, ooze, become inflamed or ulcerate they should be removed. This can be readily done by any one of several methods. As a rule, the cancers that develop from such growths are not very malignant.

"Farmer's skin," or "sailor's skin" is a condition which develops in the skin of farmers, particularly in the windy, dry sections of the west, and in sailors. The exposed skin becomes thick, brown and wrinkled. Skin cancer is quite likely to develop. A man with such a skin should protect against excessive exposure to light and wind. He should use ointment rather freely. There is no reason for seeing a physician, but if he develops any ulcers or fissures of the skin he should have them watched. The cancers which develop in "farmer's skin" and "sailor's skin" are not very malignant.

Pigmented moles should not be irritated. So long as a pigmented mole is not sore it is safe. But cancers develop in moles fairly frequently and such cancers may be very malignant. Therefore, a person with moles should keep them under observation, guarding against irritation of them.

All chronic ulcers should be kept under observation for evidence of developing malignancy.

A QUESTION OF DENTISTRY.

H. O. R. writes: Is it possible to have a plate put in place of an extracted tooth without having a gold or silver cap? I have heard this kind of dentistry is expensive but can be done very nicely, and the plate looks natural.

REPLY.

It is.

HYGIENE FOR WOMEN.

MRS. M. S. and about fifty others write: Please send me your booklet entitled "Personal Hygiene for Women."

REPLY.

Send a stamped, addressed envelope (two cents).

If we are willing to provide the booklet you should be willing to provide the envelope and postage.

LIVER AND ANEMIA.

M. A. T. writes: I read of the woman who has anemia. I would like to tell her that anemia could be cured by eating liver three times a day. Now they have the liver prepared in pellets. A neighbor was so reduced with anemia that she could not raise her head or hands from the pillow. She tried the liver cure and now she is able to go shopping to the city, and takes long walks.

REPLY.

What you say is true of some kinds of anemia.

MINOR'S SHARE OF PROPERTY.

Chicago, April 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A widow owns a piece of property. She has one daughter and three grandchildren, one a minor. If the daughter dies first can that property be sold on death of the mother or must it remain as is until the minor is of age?

F. R.

It cannot be sold during the minority of one of the owners without court proceedings. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VOTER'S LIMITATIONS.

Chicago, April 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I was informed that if a Democrat votes Republican at a primary he will be ineligible to vote at any regular election for a period of two years after declaring such change in his politics. Is there any truth in this?

W. C. N.

A voter is limited only in the primaries. In the election he can vote as he chooses.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

AMATEUR DRY CLEANERS.

Chicago, April 18.—[Friend of the People.]—Please advise as to the best method of disposing of naphtha cleaning fluid so commonly used now for cleaning clothes? Is it safe to pour it down the sink to be carried away in the general sewerage or would this cause the pipes to explode?

M. M.

Section 1412 prohibits the use of any volatile oil used for dry cleaning or spotting unless license has been issued to carry on such business and then only after an inspection has been made and application for license has been approved by this bureau.

The best method of disposing of the so-called "Naphtha Cleaning Gasoline" is to dig a hole in the yard, pour in the liquid, and after waiting a reasonable time to allow it to evaporate cover up same. Do not under any circumstances empty volatile oils into sink, as they will drain to the sewer and may cause an explosion.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

R. H. L., good old Uncle Dick, is on his way—about to realize his long cherished wish to visit Ireland. That is why we are here this morning, drafted for the period of that vacation to pinch-hit as best we may for the conductor with whose ways you are familiar and who is familiar with your ways and desires.

We'll not attempt to conduct the Line as R. H. L. would conduct it. We could not do so if we did so attempt. We'll not attempt to fill Dick's capacious shoes. Our feet would rattle around in those shoes. Anyway, we prefer slippers when we work.

Lest you fear iconoclasm, we have taken the sacred images we found on R. H. L.'s desk and placed them on a shelf just back of our chair, where they repose under intertwined American and Irish flags. We tell you this so that if at any time you feel impelled to hurl a vitrified product because you are not getting what R. H. L. would give you, we'll just duck our head and down will fall one of those sacred images.

So let's understand one another. R. H. L. has asked us to help make possible his needed period of rest and recuperation after that flu attack. Our tenure is temporary. That's as he wants it—and as we want it. We're accustomed to wearing soft shirts and plus fours. We do not know how long we (or you) could survive in our present more formal garb. You follow our thought, don't you? All right, let's go!

ONE DAY IN APRIL

Caught in the Dollar Shambles
Where "Fortune" tips the scale—
Where one draws out a "million"
And nine and ninety fail,
I chanced upon a Tulip,
A-nodding through the glass—
That held me, as a lover,
And would not let me pass.

But tho' the mocking window
Refused to let me through,
'Twas there I fought with "Fortune"—
And met my Waterloo,
For soon I'd signed with "Hookey"
To join a gypsy drive
To the far lands of the Springtime
Where life and joy survive.

A Vagabond. . . . What think you
Enriched the Wandering Trail?
(My Masters to their Paris
Or Rome in splendor sail!) . . .
Heigho! Spring's heart is joyous.
Glad was the Rebel throng
Escaped from many a Market—
Led by a Robin song.

ARROW-HEAD.

Our Qualifications.

When the Big Boss was card-indexing by interrogation our qualifications, if any, for this temporary tenancy in accordance with R. H. L.'s request, he suddenly inquired, "Have you ever written a book?"

"No, sir," we replied shamefacedly, "we have not."

"But you have studied books and literature, haven't you?" he pursued.

"Oh, yes," we replied, "I've studied books very methodically for nearly thirty years."

That seemed to satisfy him—BUT what we overlooked telling him was that the books which we have studied methodically for nearly thirty years are the kind that are laying 3 to 1 against Reigh Count to win the Kentucky Derby.

A SPRING IDYL

When April comes and the soft rain soaks
The soggy ground into froggy croaks,
When the white clouds float in the turquoise sky
I could easily skip off the ground and fly—
But the thing that keeps me down on the street,
Or the two things, rather—are just my Feet.

They push along in that slow old way
No matter how spring-y or wing-y the day.
The rest of me glimmers along in the air
Over the treetops—anywhere—
And the only thing keeping me, I repeat,
Down on the sidewalk—is just my Feet.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 23, 1863.

ST. LOUIS.—Information of a reliable character has been received representing that the rebel force now in southeastern Missouri is larger than before believed and that Gen. Price is probably in that state. The force which engaged the Union garrison at Patterson was only the advance guard of the rebels, whose numbers are estimated all the way from 12,000 to 25,000. All our troops have fallen back to Pilot Knob.

CHICAGO.—John F. Arnold and Miss Alezinna Inman were married on April 22 by the Rev. W. Harsha, pastor of the South Presbyterian church.

CHICAGO.—Figures we have gathered from the best sources show that in Tuesday's election F. C. Sherman, Democrat, was elected mayor over Thomas B. Bryan by a majority of 155 votes. The new council will stand: Anti-war Democrats, 12; war Democrats, 2; Republicans, 12. Winning Democrats and their wards follow: J. H. Roberts and Stephen Barrett [3d], M. Sheridan and C. Kahn [5th], M. McDonald and D. Walsh [6th], John Comiskey and J. D. Abbott [7th], E. Clark [8th], George Himrod [10th], D. Aleckner and J. Armstrong [13th], M. Sullivan [15th]. Republicans elected are: A. D. Tittsworth [2d], B. E. Gallup [4th], M. Talcott [9th], C. C. P. Holden [10th], L. L. Bond and G. Van Hollen [11th], A. Steinhaus and W. Giesfeld [12th], J. H. Batten and C. Lauer [14th]. All loyal men will rejoice at the reëlection of Mr. Holden, who was especially obnoxious to the Democrats of the Tenth ward.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 23, 1898.

KEY WEST, Fla.—The American fleet arrived off Havana at 6 o'clock this afternoon. When news was sent from Morro Castle that the fleet had been sighted the city went wild. After the fleet sailed for Cuban waters last night, and when only twelve miles from Sand Key light, it sighted a vessel flying the Spanish colors. Admiral Sampson's flagship signaled the Nashville to go and take the ship. The Nashville bore down on the vessel and fired a blank shot, which did not stop the Spaniard. The Nashville then fired a solid shot, and the ship hove to. It proved to be the Buena Ventura. This is the first capture of the war.

BUENOS AIRES.—The Spanish torpedo gunboat Temerario is expected to leave here tomorrow, and it is believed its mission is to attack the United States battleship Oregon, which is making a fast run from the west coast to join the eastern fleet. The Oregon and the gunboat Marietta left Valparaiso on April 18 for Montevideo, and the two warships should now be nearing Cape Horn from the Pacific side.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 23, 1918.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Gen. Pershing's first report on the assault upon the American and French forces in the Toul sector on April 20 is understood to indicate that the Americans sustained more than 200 casualties and to estimate the German loss at between 300 and 400. At least 300 German dead in the trenches and in No Man's Land are reported from press headquarters of the American expeditionary force.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE.—Baron Richthofen, the famous German aviator, was shot down and killed last night back of the British lines along the Somme front.

LONDON.—An official statement issued at Berlin yesterday said: "Baron Richthofen, at the head of his trusty chasing squadron, on Saturday gained his seventy-ninth and eightieth victories." Recently Emperor William conferred on him the order of the Red Eagle.

LONDON.—Events along the battle line in France and Belgium seem to be shaping themselves for a resumption of the great German offensive. A telegram from British headquarters in France says the Germans seemingly are continuing to mass troops on the line of Bailleul and Neuve Eglise, on the north, and around Dernicourt on the south.

CHICAGO.—Mary Pickford came back to Chicago and added another $1,000,000 to her Liberty bond sales. At a Board of Trade meeting she sold $460,000 worth of bonds.

NORMAL DIGESTION RESTORED.

Madison, Wis., April 19.—Now that I have read and inwardly digested your recent analysis of what's wrong with London and my first visceral reactions are smoothed out, it occurs to me that you might profitably proceed with further analyses of the capitals of the civilized world—say Paris, Vienna, Madrid, Berlin. There ought to be good pickings there; if not, what's the matter with Tokio, Peking, Moscow, or even Timbuctoo? The resulting contribution to international good manners would be important, besides affording good scope for a display of Chicagoesque erudition, culture, cosmopolitanism, and civic intelligence. Rome, modern and ancient, ought to make a good foil for the modern Utopia which is Chicago and environs. And Athens, too—how comely would be a good, bouncing critique of the age of Pericles from the metropolis of brag and brass!

London, analyzed in the Chicago Trib! Incidentally, I once saw a copy of THE TRIBUNE in the heart of London. Somehow, it didn't seem quite fitting, if you know what I mean. T. J. MOSLEY.

OUR ENGLISH INHERITANCE.

Chicago, April 19.—It was with astonishment that I read your editorial on London. After fighting so ably and so successfully Thompson's attempt to stir up national hatred, to see you go over to his camp is incomprehensible. In any case, to try to create ill will between any two nations is an act comparable to that of a pyromaniac, who cares not where the conflagration he starts may end.

If not done in malice, it is at any rate an act of unequaled stupidity. The U. S. is no longer predominantly Anglo-Saxon in blood. But our language, law, literature, traditions, moral standards and our predominant religion are based on this racial stock. Our love of individual liberty, our law-abiding instincts all root back to England. When we speak of assimilating our immigrants, we invariably mean indoctrinating them with these ideas and standards. United, the two great English speaking nations can control the course of civilization. They can defy any attempt to create a world tyranny. They can prevent any swamping of our countries by great migrations of the yellow races in their swarming millions. We can uphold forever our standards of freedom in church and state, universal education, scientific research, public health, and enforced sanitation.

L. D. M.

"DEAR OLD ENGLAND!"

Berwyn, Ill., April 19.—Please let me add my few words to your no doubt big list concerning your rotten editorial, "Yes, This Is London," there being not a bit of truth in it. I know, for I spent most of my life around London, and your writer no doubt got his views from the movies. It is a pity that such an otherwise good newspaper should feed its readers [mostly English, too] with such trash as that editorial. Hoping you will soon [for your own benefit] lay off slamming "dear old England."

ARTHUR H. STUART.

SLOT MACHINES FOR CHILDREN.

Chicago, April 19.—Have slot machines and gambling devices become lawful within the last year? I know there are three stores in our neighborhood that have these machines and encourage children to put their pennies and nickels in them. Some of these devices use marbles instead of money, too. These stores do not seem to hide these machines and policemen who make purchases at these stores certainly see them. Do you think the policeman on the beat gets his bit, or is it "Big Bill"? Wish somebody would answer my question.

INQUISITIVE.

HOOVER AND THE FARMER.

Enid, Okla., April 17.—During the late war Mr. Hoover as food administrator worked a hardship on the entire farming interest of our country. We farmers remember when wheat was bringing $2.80 per bushel; Mr. Hoover put a minimum price on it which made the price of wheat in Enid, Okla., $1.80 per bushel, yet kept the price of flour up to a high mark for many weeks after. One farmer ten miles southeast of Enid lost by Hoover's reign $1,300 on his wheat crop.

I had gone to raising hogs—had [illegible] head. Hogs were bringing on the market $23 per hundred, and corn on the Enid, Okla., market was $2.25 per bushel. Hoover put a minimum price of [illegible] per hundred on hogs. One bushel of corn puts on ten pounds of pork. It took $2.25 worth of corn to put on [illegible] worth of pork. Yet Hoover kept on crying "Raise more hogs." It put me with many others out of the business. Mr. Hoover now pretends to be the farmers' friend. Hoover is a man for the monopolies. These are facts that cannot be denied.

R. K. WILSON.

TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHTS.

Chicago, April 19.—Two of the replies received by your "Inquiring Reporter," published in today's TRIBUNE, were incorrect, inasmuch as Lindbergh was not the first to cross the Atlantic, although he was the first to do so alone. The first nonstop trans-Atlantic airplane flight was made on June 14 and 15, 1919, by two Britishers, John Alcock and Arthur W. Brown. I have no wish to detract from Lindbergh's heroism, but, if anything, the Bremen flyers deserve more credit, as every one who had attempted the east-west flight before them had perished, and therefore they knew what awful chances against unknown dangers they were taking.

M. A. MACDONALD.

WHERE THE GUILT BELONGS.

Elmhurst, Ill., April 19.—Your editorial in today's TRIBUNE, "Fixing the Guilt," made me stop to think. You do not have to go far to place the blame where it belongs. If children were raised with love and kindness, a thing like going out killing somebody would never happen. It would not make a bit of difference how much crime was printed in the papers. A child who has had the loving care of good parents who from early childhood instilled in him the respect of other people's rights will never go wrong.

It makes my heart ache to see the way some parents raise their children, never giving them a chance, scolding, nagging, and licking them every day. You treat a dog like that and he will fight back. No wonder half of the children start out in life with an inferiority complex, as all the spirit has been taken out of them before they get out in the world to take care of themselves, and the balance has been so hardened by their treatment at home that they are ready for almost anything.

Civil Service Head Fights Brookhart Bill.

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Chaos [illegible] confusion would befall the prohibi[illegible] enforcement machinery, in the [illegible] of William C. Deming, presi[illegible] of the civil service commission, [illegible] congress passed and President Cool[illegible] signed the Brookhart bill to [illegible] into the classified service with[illegible] examination all employés of the prohibition bureau who had been in the service one year when civil service examinations first were authorized.

"The old prohibition régime had seven years in which to discredit itself and lose the confidence of the people," said Mr. Deming here tonight. "The civil service commission should be given at least one year in which to complete its job before snap judgment is taken as to the results."

Quizzed on Measure.

Mr. Deming was asked about the Brookhart bill after his arrival here to attend the annual meeting of the Associated Press, of which he is a member by reason of his ownership of the Wyoming State Tribune-Leader at Cheyenne.

"The bill has been reported favorably by the senate civil service committee, of which Senator Brookhart is a member," he said. "I do not believe that congress, as a whole, has given much thought to this bill except as individual members have been importuned by employés of the prohibition bureau who failed in their examinations.

"Senator Brookhart is an able and conscientious man, and is friendly to the merit system and to the cause of prohibition. He is sincere in his present efforts, of course, but I believe mistaken as to the alleged demoralizing effects of our examinations upon the prohibition service. I understand his initial interest in this bill arises from the fact that he knows certain employés of the bureau of prohibition whom he believes highly competent and who failed in our mental test.

2,500 Old Employés.

"Such instances were to be expected among the 2,500 old employés who took the examinations. These employés were selected without regard to any particular standard, and it would be little less than miraculous if all should have passed. Certain other members of congress claim to have knowledge of similar cases.

"That may be true; but, in my judgment, it seems preposterous to sacrifice a principle for no better reason than to meet an individual case or a temporary situation in the prohibition bureau.

"Upon the recommendation of President Coolidge, the Anti-Saloon league, and practically everyone else interested in the success of prohibition, congress refused to bring the old employés into the classified service without examination when it passed the act of March 3, 1927, because of the conditions in the bureau under the old régime. Only one exception was made, namely, the commissioner himself; the language being plain and emphatic that all others should submit to open competition in examinations held by the United States civil service commission.

Cry from Losers.

"I cannot conceive of a majority of congress now stultifying itself by reversal of a sound policy at the first hue and cry of those who fell by the wayside.

"The Brookhart bill, if passed, in my judgment, will practically nullify the open competition feature of the act of March 3, 1927, and bring upon congress widespread criticism for breaking faith with thousands of applicants now in the process of being certified for appointment."

Taunts of "Sissy" Cause Boy to Attempt Suicide

Detroit, Mich., April 22.—(AP)—Taunts of "sissy" from neighborhood boys, because he was unable to participate in their games, resulted in an attempt at suicide here today by 11 year old George Shulty. Found unconscious hanging by a rope from a basement rafter at his home, the boy was rushed to a hospital, where his condition was considered serious.

BREMEN RELIEF PLANE FORCED BY FOG TO LAND

troit. Bennett was taken down with a high fever and he was confined to bed in the home of a French family here until after the Ford hopped off, when he was flown to the Jeffrey Hall hospital in Quebec.

Bennett was put into Balchen's fur lined flying suit and brought over the ice in a sleigh. The horse was unhitched to keep it from being injured by the propeller and newspaper men pushed the sleigh out to the ship. A seat was taken out and Bennett was laid on the floor. A buffalo robe was thrown over him. He was more concerned over his inability to make the Greenly island hop than he was over the seriousness of his illness.

"Good-by, boys," he said, as Godfrey Dean, the pilot, tucked him under the robe. "I'll be all right soon, but I sure am sorry I could not make the flight."

Mrs. Bennett, who lives in Brooklyn, was notified, and she started for Quebec at once.

Byrd Goes to Bennett's Side.

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Anxiety over the illness of Floyd Bennett, second in command of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, caused Commander Richard E. Byrd tonight to cancel all his immediate engagements and prepare to start at once from his home in Boston to Quebec, it was announced at the New York headquarters of the expedition.

Bennett, co-pilot with Bernt Balchen, of the Ford relief plane en route to Greenly Island, Que., with repair parts for the German monoplane Bremen, caught a heavy cold on the flight from Detroit to Murray Bay last Friday. Information received in New York said pneumonia of the right lung developed Saturday and today Bennett was removed by airplane to the Jeffrey Hale hospital in Quebec.

Specialist to Aid Airman.

Mrs. Bennett, wife of the aviator, left New York tonight for her husband's bedside. Although she has been ill, she insisted on making the trip and was accompanied by Dr. A. L. Barach of the Presbyterian hospital in New York, who is widely known as the inventor of the oxygen tent for the treatment of pneumonia.

Dr. Barach was accompanied by his assistant, Dr. Silman, and took with him two high pressure oxygen tanks for use in the treatment of the flyer. Efforts also were being made to locate four additional tanks in Montreal and Quebec should they be needed. Mrs. Bennett and the physicians expected to reach Quebec tomorrow afternoon.

BARON EXPRESSES GRATITUDE IN VERSE FOR SAFE FLIGHT

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Gratitude for the successful trans-Atlantic flight of the German plane Bremen was expressed by Baron von Huenefeld, backer of the flight, in verse which he wrote in German for the New York Staats Zeitung.

The poem was written April 14, the day after the Bremen landed at Greenly island, and was translated by George Sylvester Viereck. The concluding verses follow:

Silent I ponder; ended is the flight;
And He whose hand upheld us in the air,
Whose grace has calmed the snowstorm and the night,
Is now with me and folds my hands in prayer.

In the small hut of quiet rustic folk,
In the snow-blown wastelands, lonely and immense,
Thy godhead's vestments rustle in my ear,
And everywhere reigns Thy omnipotence.

He who has glimpsed the awful face of death
Can but confess Thy mercy and Thy might;
Who never bowed his heart before Thy cross,
He never saw the unadulterated light.

YOUTH, 20, DIES AFTER ALL NIGHT TOUR OF BARS

George Andreasen, 20 years old, 7223 St. Lawrence avenue, died suddenly yesterday morning soon after he had returned home from a tour of south side bars.

The police were told by John Coltier, 20 years old, 7204 St. Lawrence avenue, that their last stop had been in the home of Frank Zboril, 1311 East 93d street. There Andreasen, his brother Martin, Coltier, and Louis Orlando, 9526 Commercial avenue, all had drinks, it was said.

It was at first believed that Andreasen might have died from the effects of poisoned liquor. A physician examined the body, however, and found that heart disease was the cause. Zboril was arrested on a charge of violating the prohibition laws.

Head of Watching Service Held; Find Loot in Home

Alfred Allen, 52 years old, 3251 Roosevelt road, proprietor of a private watching service, was held for investigation by Fillmore street police last night, following the discovery of nearly $3,000 in stolen merchandise at his home. Charles Hechter, manager of an antique shop at 3252 Roosevelt road, and David Branson, a dry goods merchant, 3249 Roosevelt road, identified most of the articles as being stolen from their stocks. Allen was taken into custody by Detectives Thomas Hayes and Walter Marion.

MAYOR IS BLAMED FOR POOR TRANSIT ON N. WEST SIDE

Residents of the far northwest side, forced to walk from three-quarters of a mile to two miles to the nearest street cars, voiced their grievances at an open air massmeeting at Diversey and Central avenues yesterday afternoon. Speakers told the gathering of 3,000 that Mayor William Hale Thompson was to blame for the lack of transportation to territory in which 35,000 street car riders live.

The residents are not asking for street cars at this time, Raymond T. O'Keefe, secretary of the committee in charge, explained. They ask for feeder busses on Diversey avenue from Milwaukee avenue to Narragansett avenue and on Belmont avenue from Central avenue to Narragansett avenue with a 7 cent fare and the right to transfer to street cars.

Car Lines Are Ready.

C. H. Evenson, superintendent of transportation of the Chicago Surface Lines, declared his company was prepared to put the busses in operation if a proper ordinance to that effect would be passed by the city council. The only effective enabling ordinance to that end had been vetoed some months ago by the mayor, he said.

The Surface Lines must spend $1,000,000 to put a new line of busses into operation, Mr. Evenson told the crowd, and they cannot afford to do that unless they are given the power to operate the busses as long as the street cars are operated.

Ald. Wiley Mills asserted that the people had but to use their power of voting to get a city council which would be strong enough to pass a proper ordinance over the mayor's veto. Other speakers stressed the financial gain to the community if transportation is provided.

Bowler Ready to Fight.

Ald. Thomas R. Bowler sent a message from Kansas City in which he pledged himself to fight for an appropriate ordinance to give relief to the people on the northwest side at the meeting of the transit committee next Wednesday.

Norman R. New, vice president of the Logan Square State bank, acted as chairman at the massmeeting.

MEXICO CITY, April 22.—(AP)—Public subscriptions for funds to enable Capt. Emilio Carranza to return Lindbergh's compliment to Mexico by making a nonstop flight from this city to Washington closed today with $25,000 in hand. Capt. Carranza is expected to return to Mexico soon in a plane which was bought in Los Angeles.

CALL MASSMEETING TO PLAN WELCOME FOR OCEAN FLYERS

Definite arrangements for a city-wide demonstration on the occasion of the visit of the German and Irish flyers to Chicago are to be made either next Wednesday or Thursday at a massmeeting in the city council chambers, it was announced last night by George F. Getz.

Every organization in the city is requested to send a representative to the meeting in order to make plans for their participation in the celebration. Besides Mr. Getz, the four other members of the welcoming committee will be in charge of the gathering. They are Edward J. Kelly, president of the south park board; William R. Dawes, president of the Association of Commerce; Elmer T. Stevens, chairman of the executive committee of the mayor's citizens' committee, and W. R. Abbott.

SAVES A LIFE WITH FOUNTAIN PEN TOURNIQUET

Edmond Benson, 21 years old, 1222 West 22d street, owes his life to the quick wit of Miss Florence Arenberg, 4818 North Troy street, who applied a makeshift tourniquet to his arm after he had accidentally severed a tendon and an artery in the right wrist.

Benson, who is in charge of the organ room at Kimball hall, 306 South Wabash avenue, went to work yesterday without his keys. He attempted to force the door to the hall and cut his wrist when his hand slipped through a pane of glass. Miss Arenberg, leaving a concert in the building, witnessed his plight and, with only a handkerchief and a fountain pen as materials, stopped the flow of blood. Benson was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

MAN, 83, TRIES TO END LIFE.

Simon Schwartz, 83 years old, 5150 South Park avenue, attempted to commit suicide yesterday by slashing his throat with a razor. He was taken to the Washington Park hospital, where his condition was described as critical. Schwartz is said to have been despondent over ill health.

Baby Dies, Parents Revived After Gas Overcomes Them

Although its father and foster mother were revived, an 18 months old baby was killed yesterday by gas escaping from a range on which water for its bath had been heating. Frank Kosan of 5137 Richmond street, a relative, broke into the home at 5031 South Washtenaw avenue, when he received no response to his knocks. There he found Joseph Holey, 26, his wife, Flora, 24, and the baby, Joseph Jr., the son of his first wife, overcome by the fumes. Holey and his wife were revived at St. Bernard's hospital, where it was said they will recover.

OVER ICY WASTE! "FITZ" TELLS OF FEAR AND HOPES

Planned to Use Magneto to Make Fire.

BY MAJ. JAMES FITZMAURICE

[Commanding the air force of the Irish Free State, co-pilot of the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen.]

[[illegible] 1928: In the United States, Can- [illegible] South America, and Cuba: By the New [illegible] Times. Copyright in Great Britain [illegible] by the Irish Times. By tele- [illegible] to the New York Times and The [illegible] Tribune.]

LAKE ST. AGNES, Quebec, April [illegible]—As I recall all that happened to the Bremen and her crew, I cannot help but feel that others, too, may have crossed the Atlantic westward by air, only to crack up in some remote wilderness.

I realize that we were saved only by providential luck. A few more miles to the northward, another hour in the air, and we would have been far from any human habitation.

That such a contingency might arise occurred to me in the course of the flight, and I tried to recall all that I had read of Labrador and the arctic. The books of Dr. Grenfell and of Hydson stuck, and those splendid tales of Cooper built around the Indians of the north.

Recalls Boyhood Adventure.

What did these books tell of land and weather, and the things men live by? I tried to recall and I did recall some of it, for the imp of adventure had always pinched me, and these stories of these later books had been impressed most clearly on my mind.

Indeed, I had even once before been lost myself. It was in the Bog of Allen, when, with two companions I wandered for three days, living on the birds' eggs we started out to get, and finally reaching some men cutting turf and so home to a jolly good licking.

I decided that the first thing to do if we should come down at some remote point would be to hold a conference. We would have to discover ways and means to get back to civilization.

Figures on Making Skis.

First of all we would have to take a good rest and we could take that in the machine. From stars we could gain a general idea of our whereabouts and guess in which direction a human habitation would most easily and certainly be encountered.

For that, there was our compass. We would take it along. As we would have to travel over soft snow, we would require snow shoes of some sort.

We carried a small axe in the Bremen. With this we would improvise skis and we would take the axe along to cut firewood. That brought up the question of fires. We would need them for warmth and cooking purposes. But none of us had matches. We had not brought them because of the risk of fire.

To be sure, Baron von Huenefeld had a cigaret lighter, but should this not work, we would certainly die. I racked my brain for a solution, and found it in the starting magneto.

We could remove that from the airplane. It was operated by a handle. It made a good, fat spark. If we took along some petrol as a precaution we would be fairly certain to make a fire under any conditions. There, again, the ax would come in handy to chop away one of the petrol tanks from inside the machine.

I tried to picture how we would live. We brought with us some sandwiches and hard boiled eggs and thermos flasks of coffee and tea. The bulk of this remained untouched and we could take it along.

Food Would Soon Be Gone.

But that food would soon be consumed. What would we do after that? My thought was that we would travel across country until we found a river, then make our way down the river. We could chop holes in the ice and fish. Of course, we had no rods or lines or hooks, but we could use string and a bent pin and red paper for bait. I had seen that done successfully in Ireland.

I recalled that porcupines were to be found in the north. They would be easy to catch and we could eat them. Possibly there would be other animals, but probably we would depend more than anything else on fishing.

One thing that blood-and-thunder reading did for me was to give me a frightful horror of wolves. I remembered stories of people being chased by packs of them, and I recalled that the thing to do would be to kill one. I understand wolf will eat wolf, if that one is dead, and so we might escape. But how to kill one without being killed? Well, there was the light signal pistol, and I had fifteen cartridges.

Thought About Building Sled.

It dawned upon me now that we could not possibly travel with the magneto and the petrol tank and the fish we might catch or the animals we might kill without having some means of transportation. There again with the ax we could improvise a sort of sled, and if we chose a river route we would not have difficulty in dragging it. We could do that in turn, just as Koehl and I had taken turns about in piloting the Bremen.

How would we sleep at night? Fortunately, we wore heavy flying suits. These would keep us warm as we walked by day. At night it would be different. We would face the danger of attack by wild animals or freezing to death.

In ordinary winter weather fires would solve that, and we would stand guard in turn until the break of day. If, however, the weather became extremely cold we would have to improvise shelter of some kind.

As I thought back over what I had read it seemed to me that some of the Eskimos made their igloos by building a framework of branches and covering them with snow. In such shelters we could survive the severest cold.

Could Vision 6 Months' Trek.

I realized that the distances were enormous. We might be six months making our way back to civilization. If the ice broke up we might make a rough raft and float down stream, stopping only to drag it over rapids or when we slept.

Of course, we might not survive, and I remembered wondering in what order we would go if we died of exhaustion—who would be first and who last, and what it would feel like. I remembered Capt. Scott's fate in the Antarctic and the bravery of that companion of his who stepped out into the snow when he realized he was imperiling the chances of the others.

But as I thought it over I felt very optimistic. Of course, I always felt we would win through. Somehow or other we would get out of any emergency that might arise. Pilots have to, I suppose. And so I had no great fears as I formed these plans to offer to my companions in our first conference together should we crash on land.

As I go over it all now I have every reason to believe that possibly other airships crossed the Atlantic safely from Europe and that these are hanging up on the trees of Labrador.

What fate overtook their gallant crews? Were they killed in crashing? Did they die of hunger or exhaustion, or are they, or some of them, fighting their way back through a wilderness of forest and a waste of snow?

I do not know, but I sincerely hope that this may be.

Catholic Prelate Exiled by Mexico Dies in San Antonio

San Antonio, Tex., April 21.—(AP)—Archbishop Jose Mora del Rio, exiled head of the Roman Catholic church in Mexico, died here today in a hospital to which he had been hurried four days ago when he reached San Antonio from Cuba. He was 75 years old.

CIVILITY HE FINDS ON STREETS HERE SURPRISES BRITON

A dignified, elderly gentleman, wearing a conservative black English suit and speaking with a decidedly British accent, ventured out into Chicago streets last night for a stroll. He considered it something of a venture, for he had been reading about Chicago in foreign newspapers, but the quiet of the streets and the orderliness of the people surprised him.

"Why, your streets are practically deserted after 11 o'clock and the people are most civil," he exclaimed.

He was Sir Edward F. Inglefield, one time assistant director of British naval intelligence. In the last ten years he has traveled almost constantly, he said, but this is his first visit to Chicago. Sir Edward recalled that as a boy he visited Henry W. Longfellow's home, where the poet showed him the old clock on the stairs and presented him with a book of his poems.

The New Coiffure

Demonstrated Upon Mannequins

On the Fifth Floor

Because the mode's gone feminine, Madame and Mademoiselle must complete the perfection of their ensemble by the addition of distracting little curls, side pieces and knots of additional hair—retaining the convenience of bobbed hair, yet conforming to the fashion of the moment. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the Feminine Coiffure, with its modern use of additional hair for formal wear, will be demonstrated upon mannequins.

WASHABLE DOESKINS

Kislav Gloves—imported by Stevens—are fashioned of unusually supple Doeskin that is washable and wearable. They are by far the most practical Gloves for general wear.

At a most moderate price you may obtain the Biarritz model that boasts the attractive pinked tops, and may be worn smartly crushed at the wrist. $3.95.

FABRIC GLOVES

The new models are delightfully feminine. They have handsewn seams, ingenious turnover Cuffs with various designs of embroidery in harmonizing color. The smart one-button models are also included. $2 and $2.50.

TINKHAM QUIZZES CANDIDATES ON NEGRO SUFFRAGE

Assails Disfranchisement in Southern States.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.] — Presidential aspirants were asked by Representative George H. Tinkham [Rep., Mass.] today to declare their position with reference to enforcement of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments relating to Negro suffrage.

Patterning after the prohibition questionnaire of Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho], Representative Tinkham sent a letter to six Republican and five Democratic candidates. Those to whom the questionnaire was addressed were Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, Frank O. Lowden, Senators Curtis [Rep., Kan], Watson [Rep., Ind.], Goff [Rep., W. Va.], Norris [Rep., Neb.], Walsh [Dem., Mont.], Reed [Dem., Mo.], and George [Dem., Ga.], Gov. Al Smith of New York and Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland.

Representative Tinkham asserted that constitutional government is the issue involved.

Here's Tinkham's Letter.

"Do you favor enforcement of the mandatory provision contained in the fourteenth amendment of the constitution that there shall be a reduction of representation in the house of representatives and in the electoral college in proportion to the disfranchisement which exists in certain states of the Union?" asked Representative Tinkham in the letter.

"Allow me to bring to your attention the fact that this amendment and the 15th amendment are wholly nullified in many states of the Union and that congress has not taken action to enforce them. This nullification results in dishonest and unconstitutional elections to congress and taints with fraud and illegitimacy the election of a president. Unconstitutional tenure of office and illegal elections strike at the very heart of the moral sanction behind laws and executive acts.

Unequal Political Power.

"More than this, the nullification of these amendments gives unequal political power to the disfranchising states which count all citizens for purposes of representation and then disfranchise many of them. This impairs the political rights of every other state and of every voter in every other state. The issue in all its nakedness is whether there shall be constitutional government in the United States and enforcement of constitutional provisions and whether the government as it now exists shall be a legitimate and honest one."

Representative Tinkham's recent declaration that the enforcement of a federal statute recently cited by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson in charging a grand jury in Chicago in advance of the Illinois primary would go far toward preventing Negro disfranchisement in the south was brought to the attention of Attorney General Sargent today.

Sargent Won't Comment.

The attorney general was unwilling to comment on the situation in the south and to what extent the statute referred to might be applied. Under the statute in question it is made criminal for two or more persons to conspire to injure or threaten or intimidate any citizen in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to him by the constitution or the laws of the United States.

Mr. Sargent said he had no information as to what facts Judge Wilkerson had in mind in making his charge to the Chicago grand jury and that it would not be becoming for him to discuss the soundness of Judge Wilkerson's views or their application either to the Illinois situation or to other situations.

Cabaret Manager Robbed of Cash and Automobile

John A. Brown, manager of the Frolics café, was seated in his automobile in front of his home at 2109 East 68th street last night when a stranger approached. Without hesitation he swung open the door and took his seat beside Brown. Then he flashed a revolver and ordered the latter to hand over his money. The command was obeyed. Then the robber told Brown to get out and when he complied drove off with the car.

DELAY IN SOUTH SIDE TERMINAL ACTION ATTACKED

Merchants Protest Plan to Extend Road's Rights.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The South State Street association has started an attack against the prolonged delay in reaching an agreement upon the south side railway terminal. The association sent a letter to Ald. Dennis A. Horan [Twenty-first], chairman of the council committee on streets and alleys, protesting against extending the rights of the Western Indiana railroad to occupy Plymouth court and the alley immediately east with two or more tracks.

Ald. John J. Coughlin [First] presented an ordinance March 28 for a renewal of the rights of this company in these thoroughfares. It has been referred to the Horan committee.

New Station for Immigrants.

Years ago Chicago received many immigrants. Many of them traveled over roads entering the Dearborn street station. The Western Indiana, which owns the Dearborn terminal, desired a special station for the immigrants where the social service workers, relatives, and friends could meet them without interfering with the regular passenger traffic.

The company offered to erect a new station facing Polk street, immediately east of Plymouth court, if it could have the privilege of crossing Plymouth court with two tracks. The city council granted permission in an ordinance adopted July 15, 1915, soon after Mayor Thompson was elected the first time. The Western Indiana acquired much property between Dearborn and State streets.

Later immigration was so restricted that there was little need for a special station; but in the meantime the business of the terminal had grown. The immigrants' terminal is now used as a waiting room for persons taking late trains and sleepers out of the Dearborn terminal. The mail and express business grew and that has been largely transferred to the area east of the immigrant terminal. To get tracks to this spot an ordinance was passed June 4, 1924, permitting the Western Indiana to lay tracks across the alley immediately east of Plymouth court.

Extension to 1940.

Coughlin's ordinance proposes that the rights of the terminal company in the street and alley shall be extended to June 4, 1940.

If that is done the Western Indiana group of roads will not be in a hurry for a new terminal, in the opinion of the South State Street association officials, including Milton B. Florsheim, president; Murray Wolbach, vice president; John P. Hooker, secretary, and Arthur B. Hall, treasurer, and Directors Philetus W. Gates, William V. Kelley, E. J. Lehmann, William R. Linn, and Charles R. Roby.

It has been repeatedly claimed that with a modern terminal the railroad property along State street could be released for commercial purposes.

Railroad men are emphatic that a modern terminal is contingent upon the straightening of the south branch of the Chicago river. An agreement between the railroads and the city in unkinking the river was reached Sept. 5, 1925, and the ordinance embodying those agreements was passed in 1926.

Approved by I. C. C.

These agreements involve the transfer of much real estate between the railroads and for the bed of the new river. The agreements have been approved by the Illinois commerce commission, but the deeds have not been exchanged. The delay, it is said, is probably due to the fact that the city administration leaders had to neglect this task in order to attempt to renominate State's Attorney Crowe and Gov. Small in the late primary.

The North Western and the Burlington railroads are said to have been ready for some time to transfer $3,863,394 worth of real estate to the city upon the payment of the cash. The city hasn't the money and is unable to borrow it until it gets the deeds from the other railroads in the hands of the trustee. The delivery by the various railroads is in various stages of progress. The Baltimore and Ohio railroad has approved of the transfer of its land, but the trustee under its general mortgage has not yet signed up. His signature is expected about May 1.

Needs Three Weeks More.

The Rock Island is said to want about three weeks more to deliver its deeds and mortgage releases. The New York Central is reported to have the matter under consideration with no announcement as to when it expects to act. The Western Indiana is said to be ready to do business.

But the all important feature is that the deeds and mortgage releases have not been delivered, and the bankers will not advance the necessary $4,000,000 to dig the new channel in advance, although it is understood that an effort will be made this week to persuade the bankers to make the loan.

In the meantime the proposed new terminal is waiting on the river straightening, and the unkinking of the river has been waiting on the political activities of the city administration.

WOMEN VOTERS LEAGUE BEGINS SESSIONS TODAY

When the first sessions of the eighth convention of the National League of Women Voters open at the Palmer house today the six hundred delegates will have some important proposals on the docket for consideration.

Some time between today and next Saturday they will have to decide whether the Eighteenth amendment shall be put on the study program for examination during the next two years, and whether birth control also should be put on that program. Those two subjects, it was said, would provoke the greatest discussion, while the study of regulation of public utilities, of legislation restricing child marriages, of the continuation and coöperative schools, and of methods for lessening seasonal and temporary unemployment would arouse less heated debates.

Many of the delegates arrived yesterday, but a large contingent will come in today, among them being Mrs. Walter S. Dillingham of Honolulu, representing Hawaii.

BRITAIN IN TOILS OF DILEMMA ON KELLOGG OFFER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 22.—That the Kellogg peace treaty has struck a stone wall in Foreign Minister Aristide Briand's amendments seems to be the general pessimistic tone of London editorial comment. It is pointed out that Great Britain is placed in the embarrassing position of sympathizing with two reasonable but conflicting points of view.

Tomorrow the London Daily News and Westminster Gazette will declare that the French proposals are inspired by France's fear of its neighbors, as well as its belief that the world is not ready to turn its back upon war in view of the vital problems still unsettled.

The Daily Telegraph tomorrow will state: "The powers now invited to join in the discussion will define their own views in the course of time. That of the British government, it needs hardly be repeated, is much more in favor of such open engagements as Washington proposes than of the inflexible systems of 'sanctions' which Paris upholds. But we, too, have obligations as guarantors of peace, of which full account must be taken."

Object to French Idea.

BERLIN, April 22.—(AP)—An unfavorable reception has been given the French text of the proposed multilateral pact to outlaw war by both political circles and those newspapers which comment on it. The view is held that the French reservations to Secretary Kellogg's proposals contain subtleties calculated to weaken the clear American formulation.

Mae Tinee Gives Closeup of Motion Picture World

Three Generations

By WARWICK DEEPING

SYNOPSIS.

Old John Pybus, formerly a bookseller in London, is serving as a porter in an inn at Castle Craven when his son, Conrad, sees him there. He's been estranged from both his sons since the beginning of the war, and they have lost track of him. Conrad hastens to tell his brother, Probyn, that he has seen his father. Probyn's son, Lance Pybus, had believed his grandfather dead. Probyn Pybus drives to the inn at Castle Craven to see his father.

INSTALLMENT VIII.
NEW BLOOD.

They had reached the green door of Castle Cottage, and old Pybus turned and looked wickedly at his son, though there was no wickedness in him.

"This gravy! Both hands full. Mind opening the door, sir."

Probyn opened it. He saw the red tiled floor and the Windsor chairs, and the dahlias in the little garden on the southern side glowing like velvet cloth of gold beyond the lattice windows. He was thinking at the moment of that saying of Conrad's, that old John was jealous of his sons and had always been jealous of them. Big fellows looking down at him. Yes, little men were often touchy and self-centered and arrogant.

"Take a chair, sir. You'll excuse me going on with my dinner. Have to be back on duty at a quarter to one."

Probyn let his father pass and then closed the door, but he did not sit down. He was looking at the two photos on the mantelpiece. John Pybus saw the look.

"My two sons, sir; killed in the great war—both of them."

Probyn made a movement as of pulling down his waistcoat and settling his collar.

"You won't accept sentiment. Can't we delete the irony and come to business. I'm a business man."

"Exactly," said his father, and sat down to his dinner. "And what's the business today? I think I know, my lad. Much better leave me alone. I don't interfere with you."

"May I put it to you, father, that I should like to make things easier?"

"Easier?"

Old Pybus paused with a piece of potato on his fork.

"Easier! I'm not complaining. I've got all I want. How could you make it easier?"

"There is no need for you to remain——"

The blue eyes fixed him.

"Pension me off. Put me comfortably on the shelf somewhere? I'm quite contented here. You need not worry, my lad. I am not going to complicate the new coat of arms."

Probyn winced. For with unerring aim his father had thrown a stick and knocked down and marked out the principal motive.

"You're not fair to me. If you remember, on a previous occasion I attempted——"

John Pybus gazed at him fixedly for a moment and then went on with his dinner. He had every appearance of enjoying it.

"How's your boy?"

"Lance? He's up at Cambridge."

"I wish you luck with him, Probyn. There is no bitterness between me and your boy. Don't spoil him."

Probyn's color seemed to come quickly.

"How's your boy?" "Lance? He's up at Cambridge."

"Really, father! You did not spoil us, did you?"

"But your mother did. There, there, let us leave it at that. I suppose when a boy is up at Cambridge, he wouldn't be pleased to have it known that his grandfather——. Quite natural. I'm not quarreling with the prejudice. What do you make the time?"

Probyn pulled out a gold watch.

"Five and twenty minutes to one."

"Thanks. I must eat my cheese. You need not worry about me, Probyn. Never was better in my life. I sha'n't intrude. No wish to. Besides, no one here need be told—that because my name's Pybus. You take me? No obligation anywhere."

His big white head caught the sunlight. He smiled.

"My good wishes to your boy—anyway. He's young. A fresh start. New blood. Hope he'll miss our mistakes. Good luck to him."

. . . .

Lance's room on the third floor was very much his own, impulsively untidy, the room of a young man who with a freedom of gesture distributed his belongings where and how he would. Furnished much like a college keeping room, it had an additional door that communicated with his bedroom, and a south and an east window, each filled with that green English landscape. For writing he used a deal table covered with a powder blue cloth, which he could move from window to window as his mood shifted. The east window gave him more open country; the south the beech avenue, the park, and the distant woods. The general color of the room was a soft and indefinite rose. An oak bureau in which Lance kept his private papers stood between the passage door and the south window.

"My son writes, you know."

Lady Pybus allowed the information to be broadcasted. It was an interesting and refined fact, or a kind of gentlemanly trick that was allowable provided it was not taken too seriously. Lady Pybus was a little proud of it. Lance helped to edit one of the Cambridge magazines. He spoke at the "Union," gravely and a little fiercely, on subjects that were in the empyrean. So far as his mother was concerned. She had never read any of his work. He never showed it to her. He was funny and secretive about his scribbling.

That morning he was at the east window, looking down at a car that was standing on the gravel. So his father was going alone. Lance saw Wyman the chauffeur, standing aside, and his father at the steering wheel pulling on a pair of wash leather gloves. It was unusual for his father to drive a car, especially so without Wyman beside him. Sir Probyn drove rather badly and was helpless when trouble occurred.

To Lance the suggestion was irresistible. His father was driving over alone to Castle Craven to seek out old John Pybus and to persuade him to be respectably buried in some suburban villa. Youth confronted one of its problems. What manner of man was this John Julian Apostasius Pybus? The name had the flavor of old vellum. For to Lance the fiercely sensitive, with his almost uncanny insight into the workings of his father's mind, the discovery of his grandfather had quickened certain curiosities.

He watched the blue car slide into the black slot of the beech avenue. He was conscious of a restlessness.

He was in no mood to sit in a chair and scribble. Going down and calling one of the dogs, he made for the open country.

. . . .

Sir Probyn was back at Windover by four o'clock. He looked tired. He glanced at a picture paper while he drank his tea, and Lance was as silent as his father. Lady Pybus read the daily paper.

Lance escaped. He strolled round to the garage where the car, covered with dust, was standing under the glass shelter for Wyman to wash her down. Lance happened to know the car's mileage, for he had driven it the previous day. The speedometer recorded the fact that his father had driven 134 miles. A map and route book spread upon the tail of the two-seater gave the distance to Castle Craven as 66 miles.

The coincidence appeared conclusive.

Johnny Hines and Associates Do Their Best

But the Director Seems to Have Stumbled.

"CHINATOWN CHARLIE."
Produced by First National.
Directed by Charles Hines.
Presented at the State-Lake theater.

THE CAST:

"Chinatown Charlie"	Johnny Hines
Annie Gordon	Louise Lorraine
Red Mike	Harry Gribbon
Oswald	Scooter Lowry
Mandarin	Sojin
His sweetheart	Anna May Wong
Hip Sing Toy	George Kuwa
Monk	Fred Kohler
Gyp	Jack Burdette

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Well, in this piece, a large time is being had by all in New York's Chinatown.

There are pickpocketings and abductings and smugglings, and it becomes the dearly dangerous duty of Johnny Hines, as guide on a sightseeing bus, to rescue a fair and beloved passenger from the heathen Chinee en masse.

So well is the picture played that it is with regret one reports that inadequate direction gums up a story that could none too well afford to be gummed up. It is adapted, you are told, from the "melo-comic extravaganza by Owen Davis."

Ordinary as the yarn, adapted, is, it might still have had moments of riotous merriment had the director been an able milker. He wasn't. It hasn't.

All left to say, then, is that Johnny Hines and his supporting cast did all that they could for "Chinatown Charlies"—and it wasn't much.

The Acting Is Faultless; the Story, Not So Much.

"13 WASHINGTON SQUARE."
Produced by Universal.
Directed by Melville Brown.
Presented at the Rialto Theater.

THE CAST:

"Deacon" Pyecroft	Jean Hersholt
Mrs. De Peyster	Alice Joyce
Jack De Peyster	George Lewis
Mary Morgan	Helen Foster
Mathilda	Zasu Pitts
Olivetta	Helen Jerome Eddy
Adams	Jack McDonald
Sparks	Jerry Gamble

Also, in the humble opinion of the reporter, much could have been done for "13 Washington Square" [intriguing title, isn't it?] that wasn't done.

When you consider that the cast boasts Alice Joyce, Jean Hersholt, Zasu Pitts, and Helen Jerome Eddy it seems hardly possible that the picture could be mediocre. Which "13 Washington Square" is.

At 13 Washington square lives the snobbish Mrs. De Peyster who does not wish her son to marry the grocer's daughter. When the picture opens she is packing preparatory to sailing away with him that day to foreign shores where he will be out of reach of the charmer. Son, however, has no idea of catching the boat. He plans to wed, that night, instead. After mother has gone, he tells his fiancée, they will slip into the house and get his things, and then hie them to the preacher.

Just before the ship sails, a family friend notifies Mrs. De Peyster that she is to depart alone. The lady thinks rapidly. And—in her place and under her names sails second cousin Olivetta, while Mrs. De Peyster and maid scuttle back to 13 Washington Square. Adventure is hers before she gets there and that night witnesses strange meetings and strange doings at No. 13.

The acting of this picture I should say is faultless. The story had possibilities unrealized by the director.

See you tomorrow!

ENGAGED

[J. O. Toloff Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson of 478 Drexel avenue, Glencoe, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jayne Eloise, to John Willett Magill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard N. Magill of the Belmont hotel.

Children to Benefit from Dance Tonight

Members of the auxiliary of St. Bernard's hospital and the nurses' alumnae of that institution expect a record breaking attendance tonight at the annual dance to be held under their auspices at the Trianon ballroom. Proceeds will be used to follow up cases in the children's ward, furnishing milk and assisting deserving families until the children have recovered, and for the nurses' home. Mrs. Mary B. Finan of 6931 Yale avenue is president of the auxiliary.

Artists Give Services to Benefit Nurseries

Mrs. William A. Hofnauer of 1540 Lake Shore drive is chairman of the committee selling boxes for a benefit concert to be given by Chicago artists next Friday at Orchestra hall for the Italian poor children of Chicago.

MRS. WILLIAM A. HOFNAUER.

Six day nurseries located in various parts of the city and caring for destitute Italian children will divide the proceeds through the Italian Poor Children's fund, which is sponsored by Mrs. Herbert W. Drew of Evanston.

The artists contributing their services are Eusebio Concialdi, baritone Vittorio Trevisan, basso; Silvio Scionti, pianist; Joseph Vito, harpist, and Milan Lusk, violinist.

The nurseries include San Calisto, Mantellate Sisters, St. Philip's, St. Rose day nursery, Guardian Angel and Assumption kindergarten.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mary G. Vigilone, 1118 Lake street, Oak Park, Ill., was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you still cherish the doll of your childhood.

The Answers.

Miss Yetta Brilliant, 3619 Douglas boulevard, stenographer—I had dolls when I was a youngster, but I really never cared for them. There was no doll instinct in me, I guess. One of them, I set on the mantlepiece; it stayed there a long while. I remember I preferred to play jacks with my four brothers and three sisters.

Mary Paulding Wilson, 405 North Michigan avenue, general manager—I still do. I have one of them on the front of my bed right now—an old-fashioned doll with honest-to-goodness hair. I still have some stuffed dogs and cats. I must have a toy complex, for I enjoy them as well as I ever did.

Miss Helen Bennett, 360 North Michigan avenue, manager Woman's World fair—I never played much with dolls. I always liked to play with something that was more active. I thought dolls were a little slow. One had to sit down with them and be quiet, and I preferred to move around and be doing things. I'm the same way now.

Miss Berla Wood, 360 North Michigan avenue, assistant manager, Woman's World fair—I did not play with dolls. I preferred to be out playing baseball with the children—pals and schoolmates. Looking back, I wonder if that was because I enjoyed being in games with the boys, but I wouldn't dare think that. Certainly, I preferred children to dolls.

Mrs. H. M. Miller, 6728 Perry avenue, housewife—I do not. I had an old one that I kept for years and years. I finally gave it to my daughter. She gave it to her children. What has become of it, I don't know. I suppose it has disappeared long ago, like all things in the hands of modern children.

$25,000 Fund Sought for New Infant Home

Miss Rosa Herbst is chairman of the music and book group in the Carnival of Venice, which is to be held the week of May 21 at the Congress hotel to raise a fund for the completion of the building at California and Hirsch boulevard, the new home of the Daughters of Zion Infant Home and Day nursery, now at 1441 Wicker park.

MISS ROSA HERBST.
[Lewis-Smith Photo.]

The present home cares for nearly 100 infants who are orphans or whose parents cannot care for them, and for many more with working mothers. The new home will accommodate five times the number. Mrs. Edwin Romberg, general chairman of the carnival, says $25,000 is the aim of her workers.

10,000 Children Open Mission Mite Boxes

With mite boxes containing their Lenten savings, 10,000 children, together with clergy, choristers, crucifers and banner bearers of Episcopalian churches gathered yesterday afternoon to contribute their funds to the foreign mission work. Eight churches were designated for the rally, which is an annual post-Easter event. The churches were: The Church of the Atonement, Kenmore and Ardmore avenues; St. Bartholomew's at Stewart avenue and Normal parkway, St. Andrew's, Washington boulevard and Robey street, and St. Mark's church, Glen Ellyn; St. Luke's church, Evanston; St. Luke's church, Dixon; and Grace church, Hinsdale.

THEATER

"THE LOVE-CALL":

Operetta, in three acts, based by Edward Locke and Harry B. Smith on Augustus Thomas' play named "Arizona"; music by Sigmund Romberg; made known in Chicago (by the Messrs. Shubert) April 22, 1928, in the Olympic Theater, with this cast:

Lieutenant Denton	John Barker
Captain Hodgman	John Rutherford
Colonel Bonham	W. P. Carleton
Henry Canby	W. L. Thorne
Mrs. Canby	Alice Fischer
Estrella Bonham	Roberta Beatty
Bonita, her sister	Berna Deane
Sergeant Keller	Richard Lee
Lena, his daughter	Vera Deane
Tony, her beau	Joseph Lertora
Doctor Fenlon	Charles Lawrence
Miss McCullagh	Violet Carlson
Reginald Pargeater	Barry Lupino
White Horse	William Balfour
Black Hawk	Robert Harrison

HERE is "Arizona," all but three decades old, taken from the mausoleum, its cerements replaced by the flossiest of togs, its fauna tricked out with songs and dances, and subject to such an overhauling and refurbishing that there are times when Mr. Thomas, who happened to write the melodrama that thrilled Chicago in 1899, is no more in evidence than his name is in the playbill. And it is just as well that this is so, granting the premise that "Arizona" ever contained the material for 1928 operetta. Learned writers here and in New-York, when the play was new, held that it was at least a masterpiece; and, while that may have been so, masterpieces are not necessarily rewritable into song-and-dance shows.

If your memory for the wonder-phases of the old play is no keener than mine, you'll not miss what is missing. There are times when you may think that the librettists, in editing the original, stumbled onto an old manuscript of "The Girl I Left Behind Me" or "The Rose of the Rancho," if not, indeed, of "Jessie Brown; or, The Relief of Lucknow": the last act has the white folks bottled up all night in a stockade, without a round of ammunition, with the reptile redskins creeping up, and with the husbands and fathers passing out to the women revolvers containing the last bullet: "I don't have to tell you, Little Gal, what to do with this!" I don't remember any of that stuff in "Arizona"; I don't remember an Indian in it; I don't remember a silly-ass Englishman in it; and I don't give a rap what was in it.

Contents of "The Love-Call" include four or five good tunes; the melodramatic stresses of the original in capsule'd doses; a rich and at times lovely spectacle; some excellent singing by Mr. Barker, Miss Berna Deane, Mr. Lertora, and others; and a new comedian, Mr. Lupino, who is as amusing and agile and as eager and as Cockney as his brother Stanley, and a bit less audacious; a good conductor of orchestra, Francis Gromon; and a stageful of active, well-drilled quiristers and dancers to wear the costly raiments provided by the Messrs. Shubert in the rejuvenation of what many persons insist was Mr. Thomas' best play. Gone is the mysterious shot that took the villainous Hodgson to his well-deserved doom; and that shot would be a joke in the present condition of "Arizona." So also would be much else that is gone.

News-Notes of the Stage.

Miss Dooley and her numerous associates are in their final week in the Woods in "Sidewalks of New-York." . . . The Wednesday matinée has been dropped from her schedule.

Mr. Dowling, Miss Dooley's husband, will tarry a week beyond her time, till May 5, in the Erlanger in "Honeymoon Lane," and will be succeeded there, the 7th, by Frank Craven in "The Nineteenth Hole," which, in spite of its title, is a play about golf.

Mr. Hodge, too, will regard the 5th as moving-night with "Straight Through the Door." . . . An attraction in succession for the Princess is not yet announced.

Mrs. Ames' month in the Studebaker starts tonight (Deo gratias!) with "The Mikado." . . . And "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream" will be used again as the bill in Goodman Memorial: this is the anniversary of Shakspere's birth.

Coolidge Salutes Couple, Married Sixty-four Years

Chilton, Wis., April 22.—(AP)—Telegraphic congratulations from President Coolidge, and a letter from Gov. Zimmerman, were received by Col. and Mrs. George D. Breed as they observed their sixty-fourth wedding anniversary at their home here this week end. The couple was married at Chilton in 1864. Both are in good health. Col. Breed is a veteran of the civil war.

Melius Takes Her Place in Van of Coloraturas

The Performance Is Rated Close to Perfection

BY EDWARD MOORE.

There may be a better coloratura soprano voice in the world than that of Luella Melius, but if there is one its owner is keeping herself carefully secluded. What she did yesterday afternoon in her recital at the Studebaker was close to perfection.

This means not only a brilliant performance, but an exact performance, scales that were scales and not desperate slides for base, embroidery of notes that did not need imagination to tell where they belonged, but were squarely in the middle of the pitch, transcendently beautiful tone, and at all times the appearance of ease as though the working of vocal marvels was no particular trick.

She did so well with a French song, Hahn's "Le Rossignol des Lilas," that the audience asked her to repeat it, and she did. The same thing happened to Manning's "The Lamplighter." And there was Alabieff's "Russian Nightingale." The last time I heard this song it was called the Shadow Song from "Dinorah," but at any rate, Mme. Melius' voice was not something nearly as good as Ary Van Leeuwen's flute, but its rival and its master. There were many encores.

Andreina Materassi-Barton stepped into the front rank of pianists by playing Castelnuovo-Tedesco's "Alt Wien" at the Playhouse. This was a first class performance, not only because it is a tricky and trying modern work but because it had imagination and atmosphere. Mrs. Barton had a program that only the good pianists are justified in using, Beethoven's "Appassionate" Sonata, a group of Chopin, and some Liszt pieces, but the Tedesco suite is enough to make her remembered.

Heniot Levy, the Chicago pianist, was another recital artist of the day, having chosen a Chopin program of major dimensions. It contained both sonatas, three of the ballades, the Barcarolle, an étude, and the B minor Scherzo. Here again was no list for the faltering of purpose, but Mr. Levy is a profound student as well as a pianist, and his musicianly lore, as well as his technical achievements, was manifest.

George Smith, a baritone with an unusually fine voice, gave a recital at Lyon & Healy hall. His voice is brilliant and has range and quality, and he would seem to be thoroughly in command of all the points that make a singing voice both a musical instrument and a device for the transmission and interpretation of words. He was assisted by Eva Polokoff, who played the violin with unusual ability.

A large audience gathered at Orchestra hall to hear the Chicago Singverein in a benefit performance. William Boeppler conducted Max Bruch's "Die Glocke." The soloists were Elsa Holinger, Lilian Knowles, Edwin Kemp, and Mark Oster, with Edwin Stanley Seder at the organ and a symphony orchestra to play the instrumental score.

Shopping Sense!

SOME women have a knack of hunting through stores and finding good bargains in unexpected corners. . . .

Others dislike this shopping around and prefer to look for sales and special values before they start out to do their buying. . . .

ALWAYS—TRIBUNE ADVERTISING—FIRST!

Unless Your Legs Are Lovely, Why Not Cover 'Em Up?

An observation specialist, after I don't know how many weeks of keeping his eye to the ground or thereabouts, makes the announcement that nine out of ten have 'em, "'em" being ugly legs—legs that were born to blush unseen, but never knew it, or legs that were let to run to bows, or spikes, or grand pianos—legs that never knew a kind mommer's discipline, legs that never were told they should be neither seen nor heard.

"Speaking of the legs on exhibition," quoth our unremitting observer, "and aren't they all" he quoth some more, "on exhibition? And what for? With only a flimsy percentage of them worth a second look. What with knock knees, sack legs, bow legs, grand piano legs and spike legs—why the backwardness about taking to the extended hem line?"

So say we—why the hesitancy? Though we don't agree with the quoted observer that only 8 per cent of legs are legs and 92 are eyesores, yet one does wonder why there hasn't been a perfect crash at the longer hem line gates. The longer skirt is in vogue. It's chic. It's smart. It's all the things women want to be, if you hear them tell about it. But the older woman most in need of hiding her legs behind a couple of yards of chiffon is not taking to it as the young one who does not need it half so much.

That downward dip in the back of the skirt is, without blasphemy, God's greatest gift to women in the last ten years. I think it is about ten years since skirts started going up the other direction. Anyway, it seems that long. In fact, I'd go so far as to say that the designer of that dipped skirt deserves a monument. Monuments have been erected to individuals who have not done half so much for civic beauty. Is it not true? The ugliest part of a not-perfect leg is that upper back part of it. The front view may be distressing, but at least there is a face there to divert one's lifted eye.

Now, those gals that have used up a great deal of energy tugging at knee length skirts and berating the fashion that victimized them have assuredly come on better days if they'll accept them.

"Charm," says the guide book, "is a consciousness that all's well with yourself." And all's fairly well with yourself so long as you can keep the knock, sack, grand piano and spike legs under cover of dress goods.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MRS. H.: THE FACE AND NECK bleach is: lactic acid, one ounce; glycerin, 2 fluid ounces; tincture of benzoin, 2 fluid drams, and water enough to make sixteen fluid ounces. I am glad you found it so effective.

G. N.: EATING BEFORE GOING to bed disturbs the sleep. The best sleep is had with the stomach empty. The food may put to sleep at first by diverting the blood from the head, but it will eventually cause trouble. And by going to bed without eating one can do with less sleep.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Young Onions and Kidney Beans.

The housekeeper who has not learned how dependable a staple is the kidney bean has missed something. In summer it is a pleasant luncheon dish, whether used as a salad or in some simple combination hot. In winter it may furnish basis for a soup of substance, though the beans plain, when correctly cooked, have no great supply of calories, but they take fat seasonings well, and so as they rise in savoriness increase calorically.

They are easy to cook, if one goes about it intelligently, and really are much more like a fruit than most vegetables, although quite positively beany when poorly cooked. It is not necessary to soak them. Simply pick over and wash, then add to them four cups of cold water, or six or eight, according to the sort of a cook you are. Put them over the slowest of fires in a small kettle without covering it until at the end of about an hour, then cover and cook slowly about three hours. If you rush the cooking you get hard beans.

Seasonings of different sorts may be used or none save salt. If an onion and a carrot are also cut up and added a great many people can eat the beans so cooked and not miss greatly the butter or other fat which will always make them more savory.

New onions cut fine and sautéd in some bacon fat go exceptionally well in a dish of kidney beans, and this is a good way to add the dressing fat to them. Have the fat hot, put in the young onion cut fine, stir in the fat until it has softened, then add the kidney beans plain cooked and cook about ten minutes. You may like this as a central luncheon dish and may eat it with boiled rice. Note that it is a profitable way to use bacon fat.

Another way to use the onions with the beans gives something much more vigorous, even objectionably so to some people. Use the beans cold and the onions raw, combine and serve with a French dressing on a bed of lettuce. Finely shredded onion may replace the young onion in this salad.

Instead of using bacon fat or butter for seasoning kidney beans, tried out salt pork fat—if not burned—is good and the onion may be softened in it first as in the bacon fat.

Lake Forest Club Sets Garden Show for June 16 and 17

BY THALIA

Lake Forest Garden club members have enough optimistic imagination to make them start planning for a garden show in June, even if they haven't been able to wear their new spring tailleurs yet. The board of directors met at the fortnightly with Mrs. Thomas E. Donnelley, the new president, a few days ago, and as a result June 16 and 17 were set for the annual exhibition in the service buildings of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's Lake Forest estate, and Mrs. J. Andrews King, just back from abroad, was appointed chairman. Mrs. William H. Mitchell, returned from a stay in California, has had the publicity job wished on her.

Mrs. Mitchell tells me that the club will most likely have its open gardens again this year, and that the club will probably meet in May. There are plans for some new features for the show, including flower border designs, and one doesn't necessarily have to belong to a garden club to compete.

The Garden club some time ago agreed to provide the superstructure and beautification of the new bridge Lake Forest is to have on Sheridan road near the intersection with Deerpath. That's where stands the Presbyterian church, wherein so many important weddings have taken place, and some of the buildings of the college. It is understood that the structure will be a handsome one, and since a report from Springfield announces that bids will be opened by the state on May 9 for the construction of the bridge, it will undoubtedly be an actuality in the near future.

The committee that has been making the arrangements for the Shakespeare's birthday tea this afternoon at the Drake being sponsored by the Drama league, the English Speaking union, and the American Shakespeare Foundation are a bit overwhelmed by the success of their party indicated by almost six hundred reservations. They thought it would be a nice affair if two hundred persons came. They've had to order another birthday cake and reserve another room. Mrs. Frank I. Wheeler, representing the Drama league; Miss Victoria Powell, the Shakespeare Foundation, and Miss Helen Johnson, the English Speaking union, working with Mrs. Harry J. Ridings, who has arranged the program, have been doing all the work for the tea and are justly proud of the results of their efforts. Grant Mitchell is to give an address and Beatrice Lillie is to be mistress of ceremonies. Miss Margery Maxwell is to sing and Ben Adam of the Goodman theater is to do something, dressed in English costume.

There will be two or three hundred attending the tea at Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's residence at 1000 Lake Shore drive this afternoon for Mrs. N. Windsor Wade, who is to speak about her work among the lepers at the Island of Culion in the Philippines, the world's largest leper colony. The affair is in connection with the Leonard Wood memorial. Mrs. Arthur Meeker and Mrs. Jacob Baur are to assist Mrs. McCormick as hostesses.

Latin school alumnæ who have taken tables for the benefit card party tomorrow afternoon at the school for the Eli Bates settlement include Mrs. Richard Bentley, Mrs. Clifford Templeton, Miss Dorothy Schmidt, Mrs. Perkins Bull, Miss Ruth Elting, Miss Jean Lowe, Mrs. R. H. Hardin, Mrs. William G. Sage, and Miss Mary Catherine Forster. Mrs. Arthur Farwell, Mrs. James L. Houghteling, Mrs. Stanley Richards, Mrs. C. S. De Long, and Mrs. John Gage Tyner evinced their support by sending contributions, though they will be unable to attend the party.

The north shore suburban committees for Arden Shore summer camp are beginning activities for their spring drive for funds and Mrs. Herbert S. Mack is Chicago chairman of the group of girls who are dressing baby dolls in gay dresses and bonnets for the youngsters who will be at the camp. Mrs. George Allen Mason of Highland Park is to corral her Highland Park committee for luncheon on Friday. Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, honorary president of the Arden Shore association, who is to depart soon for her annual trip abroad, will be present and will speak to the workers.

The Cloister Mummers of St. Chrysostom's are to present "The Pipes of Pan" under the direction of Miss Gloria Chandler at the Cordon following a dinner party on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Forgan are moving out to Lake Forest on Wednesday. They have taken the Wayne Chatfield-Taylor house on Lake avenue for the summer.

Mrs. Enos M. Barton of Hubbard Woods is having a buffet luncheon this week for members of the Mary Noble club, a literary organization in which she is interested, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Malcolm S. Barton [Andreina [illegible]] will present a program during the afternoon. Mrs. Barton gave a piano recital yesterday at the Playhouse which marked her first professional appearance since her marriage last summer in Florence. She departs early in May for Italy, where she plans to spend a portion of the summer with her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex E. Kirk of Dearborn parkway are moving to 203 East Chestnut street on the first of May.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Thurston Naugle have returned to their apartment at 199 Lake Shore drive after a trip abroad. The Naugles' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Billings McArthur, have been occupying their Lake Shore drive apartment since their marriage last fall and are now at the [illegible].

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Fisher, who spent part of the winter in Florida and Hot Springs, Va., recently returned to their domicile at 1440 Astor street. They expect to move out to their Lake Forest house as soon as it is in readiness.

GIRL'S DRESS.

A gayly blocked gingham in popular yellow tones, with the collar, tie, cuff bands, belt and trimming straps carried out in plain yellow, accented by brown piping, makes this little dress appear like an import. Printed sateen, poppy red shantung, dotted pique, nile green chambray and candy striped cotton broadcloth are interesting fabrics to select for this dress.

The pattern, 3405, comes in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1¾ yards of 40 inch material with ⅝ yard of 36 inch contrasting and 4¾ yards of binding.

Better to Hop a Bus than to Accept a Lift 'n' Be Sorry

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A man drives up to the curb where a pretty girl is waiting for the bus. He asks if he can't give her a lift and she steps into the car.

The man who later rescued her—and believe me, it was rescue from a happening a bit too sordid to print here—asked her why she picked up with a person like that. The girl answered that it was such a good car she thought the man must be all right.

The man in this case didn't happen to be a crook in a stolen car. He proved to be a degenerate son of parents who could well afford a good car. But he might just as easily have been a holdup man in a stolen car, so far as the girl was concerned.

Without wanting to be sensational about these pickups, although their frequent sensational endings would fully justify the stand, let me warn girls to judge every strange man who draws up to the curb and offers them a lift as a crook or a degenerate, and to govern their conduct accordingly.

If that is the sort of company girls seek—then it is their affair, and so are the consequences. But if there remain any gullible innocents who think it is merely an act of friendliness to be offered a ride by a man they've never laid eyes on before—be warned that friendliness is not the motive behind the offer. And the more impressive looking the car, the less likely are the intentions to be honorable. No man with sufficient get up and go to him to own a decent car need ever be so reduced in women friends as to have to waylay strangers. They're either undesirable among the girls of their own circle or they don't belong in any circle, for some good reason.

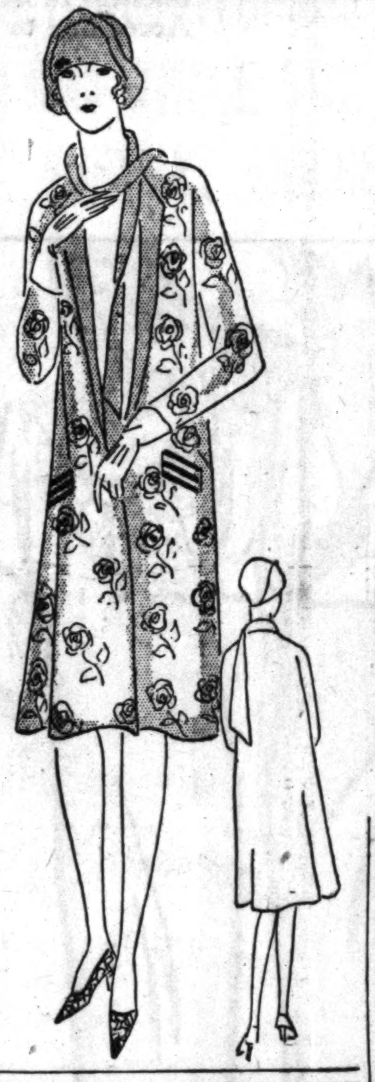
Foulard Coats Are Now the Vogue



by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—A foulard and its chic are not soon parted—not in this present year of grace. For foulard has emerged from its humble position of mere lining—the one which it contentedly occupied some seasons ago—and is now in business for itself, employing other linings.

All this means to say that the foulard coat is one of the novelties of the season and that for resort wear it is apt to be taken up by some of our best people. All sorts of designs enliven these new foulards which are used for coats, but the one we show in today's sketch, the modification of a wrap designed by Brandt, is especially meritorious in this respect, for it poses a widely scattered floral design of green and rose on a beige background. And what more beautiful can be done in the way of a color scheme than that?

The wrap is made on perfectly simple lines, the severity of which is tempered by a narrow scarf collar of self material and by inset bands of green crêpe. These appear on the sleeves and in the sides in simulation of pockets. The coat is lined with the same green crêpe forming the bands.

Nor is foulard confined in its scope to the realm of the wrap. Many of our most charming frocks of today have resuscitated the old-timey fabric with its up to date designs, and there is no doubt but this silk lends itself admirably to the feminine styling which is so much a part of today's fashion picture.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

A Picture Instead of a Pass.

I spent my week of spring vacation in a city where they issue weekly street car passes. I paid a dollar and a quarter for my pass and was happy to get on and off cars as often as I pleased and never have to pay car fare. I actually felt as if I were riding free of charge.

I carried my pass in an inside pocket of my purse, where I also carry a small picture of my boy friend. One day when I boarded the street car I clutched what I thought was my pass and held it up for the conductor's approval. The expression on his face caused me to look at my "pass"—and, to my horror, it was the face of my boy friend I was showing instead of my ticket! S. S.

Plant the Seed Even Though It Takes Long to Grow

by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

Do you remember "I shot an arrow into the air—it fell to earth I knew not where"? And then there's the parable about the mustard seed—to be quite unpoetic, some fell on good ground and some didn't.

I think all of us mothers have days when we have to work on faith. We have days when we feel a little doubtful as to whether that arrow ever really did fall to earth anywhere and days when we wonder if any of the mustard seeds will take root.

But I think our faith is justified, though often the fate of the arrow or the mustard seed of advice or suggestion seems unknown for a long, long time.

There's Bill—of about 10. He was full of mischievous spirits, and a tease. He teased not only children his own size but little ones, too, and especially one little fellow, Harry, who was too jumpy and nervous to stand it—though his reactions to the teasing were laughable, I must confess.

Bill's mother talked to him, and then talked to him some more, apparently without avail. She was discouraged. Then one day Bill announced: "We have a club, mother—six of us biggest boys—and we have a swell time."

"What's the club for, Bill?" asked his mother.

"Well, we do all kinds of things for fun, but the object of the club is to protect Harry. All the kids torment him the way I used to. But I've been remembering how I used to hate being teased when I was little. So we've made a club and if anybody in it teases Harry, we chuck him out of the club—he can't belong. One boy's been put out already. You know, mother, I can see how it isn't being a good sport to pick on a little kid."

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

The other day I mentioned in this department a new book on "Home Flower Growing," written by Emil C. Volz, professor of floriculture, Iowa State college, Ames, Ia., and published by Macmillan company, New York City. Since then I've been getting better acquainted with it. I venture the guess that the author has lived for many years around amateur gardeners who have pestered him a lot with their simple, rudimentary questions about gardening.

No one would expect him to admit it, but there is plenty of evidence to indicate that one of his reasons for writing the book was to answer about a million of these questions for his friends and others who happen to be starting out with a garden. Anyway, he has done a good job of putting into 342 pages about as much valuable information on the growing of flowers as any one could expect to find in a book that size. Here is a sample:

"The question is often asked, 'How should bulbs be treated after flowering?'" writes Mr. Volz on page 148 of his new book. Immediately following is his answer: "All bulbs flower better if left undisturbed in beds or borders for two or three years. If it is imperative that the bulbs be removed early after blooming, they may be saved by digging the entire plants and heeling them in an out of the way place in the garden. When the tops are dry in August the dormant bulbs should be dug, cleaned and stored in a cool, dry place until the usual fall planting time, when they are left undisturbed."

It's just the kind of information hundreds of gardeners are looking for at this time of the year. With the beginner there are a dozen or more such questions coming up daily. If they go unanswered it may mean a scrubby looking garden by midsummer.

A WOMAN'S frock in print elects chic of line and color to express the new formality. And this frock is all the lovelier because of it. Chanel lends the long blouse that has a softened and upward line. And it holds the full skirt to undue slenderness. The print is a fine foliage pattern in soft colors on navy or black. $45.

The costume suit, with a decided reserve, makes much of the very smart cardigan line. The coat, in tan mixture, is seven-eighth length and hangs straight from the shoulders. And this collarless coat displays to advantage the flattering lines of the scarf frock. In prints of varied colors, the frock of silk matches the lining of the coat. For women. Sketched center. $65.

Fourth Floor, North and East.

The Fox Scarf

Illustrates to perfection the significance of important accessories—giving to the furless mode a note of the luxurious. The skins that make up these scarfs show a fineness in beautiful shadings and in color and texture. According to size and quality, $35 to $95.

Silks Woolens Cottons

More New and Smarter Printed Silks, $2.45 Yard

AS the days hurry on into summer even a greater vogue seems to come to the fashion of printed silks. Georgette crepes and radiums, crepes de Chine in lovely colors. 40 inches wide.

A new transparent flat crepe, sheer, all silk, in the darker colors brings new distinction to the summer mode. $4.50 yard.

Black Broadcloth Increasingly Important

It is noted in many of the smarter ensembles and the separate coats. Light in weight, soft and supple. Here is an excellent choice, ranging in price from $4.50 to $8.50 yard.

Printed Cottons from France

Voiles and crepes and batistes—some printed handkerchief linens also, and all of them unusual with shadings of color which tell their foreign origin. Widths from 36 to 40 inches, prices vary from $2.50 to $5 yard.

YANKEE REGAINS WORLD AUTOMOBILE SPEED RECORD

KEECH DRIVES CAR 207.5526 MILES PER HOUR

Daytona Beach, Fla., April 22.—[U. P.]—Ray Keech, driving the triplex special of J. M. White, Philadelphia manufacturer, set a new world's record for special built cars of 207.5526 miles an hour here today. The elapsed time for a mile on the two-way trip was 17.345 seconds.

RAY KEECH.

The former record of 206.95 miles was made by Capt. Malcolm Campbell, British driver, on the same course last February.

The greatest speed of the big three motored thirty-six cylinder triplex was attained on the northward trip, with the wind, when it clocked 213.90374 miles an hour, an elapsed time of 16.83 seconds. Traveling against the wind the triplex attained a speed of 201.56774 miles, an elapsed time of 17.86 seconds.

Keech made his record breaking run in the presence of thousands of spectators who covered the dunes paralleling the measured course. They swarmed past police lines and literally pulled the grinning, red haired driver from the seat of the Triplex when he returned to the judges' stand after the new record had been announced.

Disqualified in February.

Keech made the record during special speed trials authorized by the American Automobile association in which Frank Lockhart, with his Stutz Blackhawk, and Wilbur Shaw, with his Whippet special, also have entered.

The triplex was entered in February speed trials here when Capt. Campbell made the former record, but was disqualified because it lacked reverse gears. These later were installed.

The record was made over the Ormond-Daytona beach course, nine miles in length. Four miles are for attaining speed, one mile is clocked, and the last four miles are for stopping.

Keech failed to equal Capt. Campbell's fastest one way trip of 214.79 miles an hour, but he surpassed the Englishman's speed against the wind. His speed of 201.56 miles is faster than ever was clocked against the wind on this course. The wind today had practically the same velocity—30 miles an hour—as the wind on the day Campbell set the former record.

Car Ran Perfectly.

The Triplex Special functioned perfectly, Keech said. It held to the course firmly, and the only defect, a slight one, was backfiring by carburetors on the forward motor, which inflicted minor burns on the driver's right wrist. The beach was smooth, but low hanging clouds made visibility poor.

Lockhart's Blackhawk clocked an average speed of 192.61 miles an hour during the trial run before Keech set the record, and he was prevented from making further trials after the record because of an incoming tide. He said he would continue tomorrow afternoon, however.

The Triplex was built in Philadelphia by J. M. White, sportsman and manufacturer of that city. It is equipped with three Liberty motors, each capable of developing 500 horsepower. The motors are geared direct to the rear axle. The machine weighs about three tons.

MOVING TIME.

DEAR Helpers and Readers: This is the season when one often finds it necessary to move, and it is better to do so before the May-day rush. We are very comfortable in our little cottage here among you, our old friends, and we enjoy its cozy hominess. In fact, it suits our simple tastes perfectly.

But a good friend has invited us, even to the point of imploring, to move into his swell co-op in what he considers a very swell neighborhood. He has been ill and he needs rest and he does not wish to leave vacant his large apartment with its costly furnishings. When an old friend and fraternity brother calls, what can a fellow do?

Therefore, for a brief period we are going to move into a location where we have no assurance our neighbors will not high-hat us, where we know we shall at times be lonely and perhaps homesick, and where we often will think of our humble little cottage among the folk we like.

So we are going to ask you who write regularly to keep right on writing and those who do not write to drop us a line of cheer every now and then. If you do not know what we are talking about—we hardly follow it ourself—please turn to column 4 on page 10.

Scandinavians Win Cermak SoccerCup, 2-1

The Scandinavian soccer team won the Cermak cup yesterday by defeating the Bohemians, 2 goals to 1, in the final match of the series at De Paul field. The game was well played, both teams going at top speed all of the way. Despite the fast play, no fouls were called during the match.

The Scandinavians were first to score. After six minutes of play in the opening period, Hageman counted on a high, dropping shot from 20 yards out. Two minutes later the winners brought their goal to two points when Hugo Johnson took a pass from Wattenberg and kicked the ball into the net from two yards out.

Burger Scores for Bohemians.

One minute before the half ended the Bohemians scored their lone goal, Burger netting the ball on a short kick. After that the teams fought scoreless through the second half, the Bohemians trying hard for the tying point, but the Scandinavians successfully protecting their lead. The line-ups:

LYONS PITCHES, SO WHITE SOX DEFEAT TIGERS

Early Attack Rolls Up 9 to 3 Victory.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., April 22. — Ray Schalk, for the second successive game, this afternoon again demonstrated the cheering efficiency of having a full quota of ball players on the field when appearing in American league competition. This time receiving their inspiration from the sterling Mr. Lyons, our Sox tortured the snarling Tigers, 9 to 3, while 14,000 spectators looked on.

TED LYONS.

Ted and his associates made their total in the first four innings. While they received the first three markers as a direct result of a miserable error on the part of Catcher Mervyn Shea, the boys earned enough by sound hitting thereafter to win for Lyons almost any day of the year.

Metzler Starts Trouble.

Tomorrow the matter of pitching again becomes a bush league emergency unless the indisposed George Connally, who just rejoined the club, finds himself ready to go. But cheer up, friends, it will be Thomas' turn again Tuesday.

Mostil opened today's game by striking out, and Clancy followed him with a fly to center. Metzler singled to left. He stole second, and continued to third when Shea overthrew the base. Barrett walked, then took second without a play being made on him. Falk popped a high fly to the right of the pitcher's box and when Billings was about to catch it, Shea rammed into him. Metzler and Barret scored and Falk reached second. Kamm singled to center and Falk thereupon made the score 3 to 0.

The second inning was without consequence, but in the third the Chicagoans pounded the bespectacled Mr. Billings something wicked. Clancy singled to right and went to third on Metzler's double. The runners paused while Barrett rolled feebly to Sweeney, then Falk cracked one into center, scoring Bud and Dutch. Kamm tripled along the right field foul line and came in on Cissell's sacrifice fly. Four runs were in and the score was: Sox, 7, Tigers, 0.

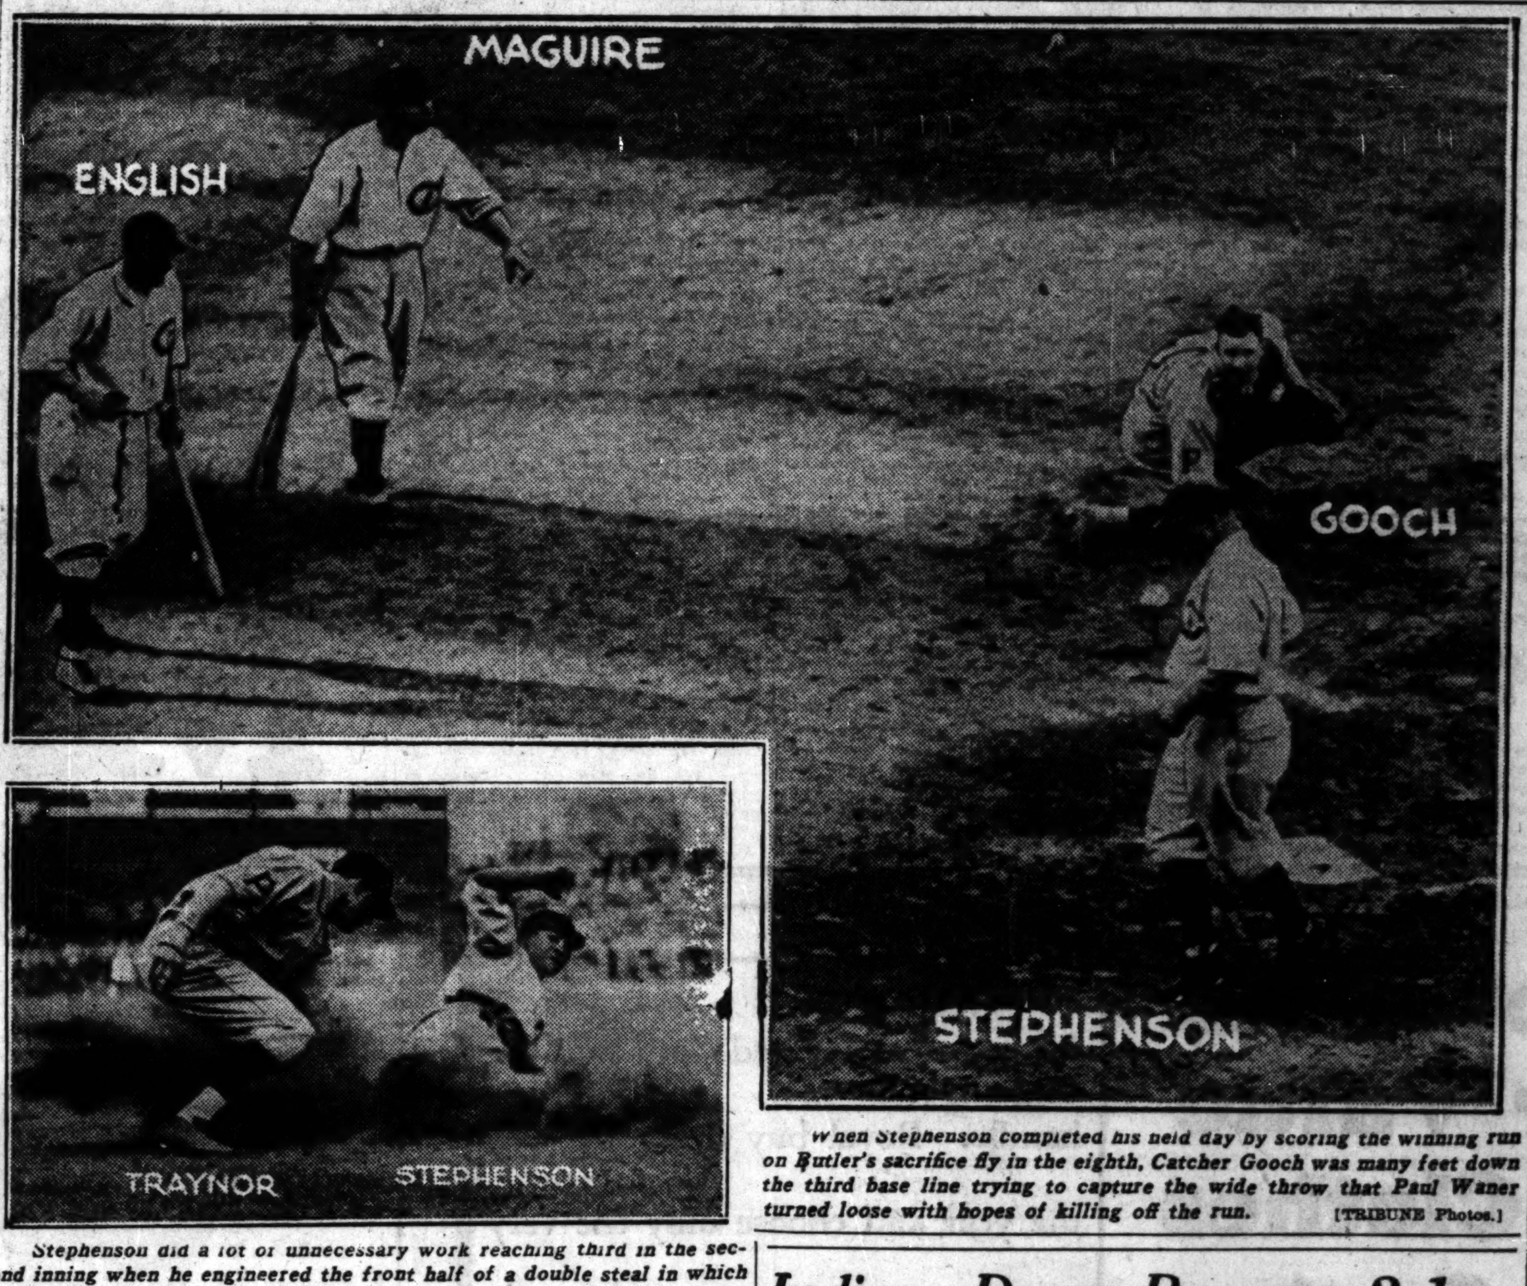
Ted Takes It Easy.

The Sox completed their scoring attainments in the next inning, the fourth. Mostil opened by drawing a pass from George Smith, who had succeeded Billings. Clancy sent Johnny to second with a sacrifice, then Metzler got his second double and third hit in four innings, scoring Mostil. Barrett singled, registering Dutch. Falk walked, but he and Bill died when Kamm and Cissell were easily disposed of.

Starting in with so handsome a lead, Ted never bore down particularly, allowing one hit each in the first and second innings, two after two were down in the third, and one each in the fifth, sixth, and seventh.

Then came the Tiger eighth. Sweeney singled and stopped at second when Gehringer also delivered a safe one. Rice popped to Cissell. Heilmann rolled one to Cissell, who tossed the ball to Barrett, getting Gehringer. Despite the fact he was out of throwing position and Heilmann was but a step or two from first, Bill heaved in the general direction of first. Sweeney went home and Heilmann went to second. McManus and Easterling then followed with the two doubles, the Tigers' only extra base hits, Heilmann scoring on McManus' and Mac getting in on Easterling's.

BRINGING HOME THE RUN THAT BEAT THE PIRATES



When Stephenson completed his field day by scoring the winning run on Butler's sacrifice fly in the eighth, Catcher Gooch was many feet down the third base line trying to capture the wide throw that Paul Waner turned loose with hopes of killing off the run. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Stephenson did a lot of unnecessary work reaching third in the second inning when he engineered the front half of a double steal in which Grimm handled the other half. This put runners on the two far bags with one out and a pass to Gonzales filled the sacks but no runs resulted because Butler fanned and Jones bounced to Grantham.

Better Golf by Jock Hutchison

ARTICLE I.

IT might be well to start this series of golf articles with a statement of their intention, which is not to "teach the game of golf on paper." A five-foot shelf of books has been written about the golf swing, most of them good, but no real golfer ever has been developed except on the course. It is the essential purpose of these articles to set the beginner on the right track and point out the most common faults which cost the 100-and-more golfer many shots. Their worth to the golfer will be just how much of them he puts into practice. Reading this series during the week, studying the pictures on Sunday, and listening to the radio talk Sunday nights, are preliminaries to putting these suggestions into effect. If the reader will study and digest the suggestions and then use them when he's swinging a club at a ball to such purpose that he plays a better game, their purpose will have been served.

Essentially the golf swing is the same for all clubs, with minor changes from the drive to the shorter shots. The drive, of course, is the swing in its freest form, when the player wants every atom of his power to be concentrated back of the clubhead. That swing, carrying the utmost in smoothness and ease of motion, but shortened and compacted, is just as useful in the short shot where accuracy holds a premium over power.

There is no mystery or secret about playing a good game of golf despite the ancient Scotch axiom that it is "putting a wee ba' in a sma' hole wi' instruments ill adapted to the purpose." The perfect golf swing is the result of blending into one a series of very simple movements, and it is the purpose of future articles in this series to tell specifically what those movements are and how they can be combined so the reader may play a better game.

AMERICAN HORSE IS EASY WINNER AT LONGCHAMPS

PARIS, April 22.—(AP)—Kantar, 3 year old owned by the American sportsman, J. Ogden Mills, today fulfilled the promise of his performances in 1927 by winning the seventy-first running of the biennial stakes at Longchamps.

The son of Alcantara out of Karabe led through the entire mile and a quarter, finishing two lengths ahead of Crideguerre. Marquis Dellano's Whirligig was third. Only four horses started, eight being scratched.

COAST TENNIS PLAYERS DEFEAT DAVIS CUP STARS

Los Angeles, Cal., April 22.—(AP)—The Davis cup tennis team, captained by Big Bill Tilden, was given a neat trimming here today by a Southern California team led by Ben Gorchakoff, Occidental college tennis ace, on the courts of the Los Angeles Tennis club.

Gorchakoff, teamed with Gerald Stratford, Southern California champion, defeated Tilden and Arnold Jones of the Davis cup team, 6-4, 11-13, 6-4. Gorchakoff outplayed Tilden at almost every stage of the match.

Riggs Stephenson, the unsung, came into his own on Wrigley field yesterday, bringing with him Johnny Butler and Percy Lee Jones. And some 48,000 folks, supposed to be the largest crowd that ever witnessed a league game outside the Yankee stadium, saw the deeds of this trio hoist the Cubs to a thrilling 3 to 2 triumph over Pittsburgh's Pirates, who are going to protest the outcome to teacher because they did not agree with Ump Klem's interpretation of a ground rule.

RIGGS STEPHENSON

Stephenson, the unsung, came into his own because he hit. He hit in the middle of a splurge that became two runs when Butler doubled and tied the score in the fourth. Steve hit again in the eighth to start the winning tally and the protest on its way. Butler again supplied the finishing touch. Meanwhile Percy Lee was southpawing like a man who had no thoughts of being beaten.

Jones, Miljus in Duel.

When Stephenson came up to open the eighth there was a 2 to 2 deadlock that had existed since the fourth. Jones for four innings had pitched the kind of ball that didn't permit of even a single. Johnny Miljus hurled three rounds that were almost as effective. The only difference was that he liked to tumble into trouble and then tumble out of it with a beautiful curve ball that, as a sample, was dazzling enough to make both Cuyler and Wilson whiff the air with two men on bases in the seventh.

Steve refused to go after that curve. He spurned it in the second and walked, but it didn't help. He waited in the fourth for what he wanted and singled. He did his own picking again in the sixth and singled, nothing happening. Then he waited some more in the eighth and got what he was after. He lined it over third for what should have been a double into the crowd. There was no chance for a play, but Barnhart foolishly raced over and in his haste kicked the ball across the foul line against the grand stand, and before he heaved it back Stephenson was standing on third and the Pirates were rushing toward Umpire Klem to remind him that a drive into the crowd meant only two bases.

Pirates to Protest Game.

Klem's first impulse was to wave Steve back a peg, but McCarthy, who was coaching there, bellowed lustily that the ball had gone into unoccupied foul territory and not into the crowd. Klem agreed with him and Stephenson remained at third. Not satisfied with the arbiter's judgment, the Pirates pleaded for a reversal but their fire finally died out and they abandoned the argument with the promise by Manager Bush that the affair would be protested at league headquarters.

With none out and a runner on third, the matter of bringing him home appeared simple, but Grimm fouled out to Gooch and complications set in. The curve of Miljus' was getting away from the right handed hitters too regularly to be pleasant, so McCarthy switched to Webb, a left handed clouter, in place of Gonzales. The Pirates had heard of Webb's three home runs in three games, so pitched badly to him and let him walk. Then Butler hoisted a fly to right. It was not a deep fly but good enough to let Stephenson home with the winning run. Paul Waner's return throw was not more than a quarter mile away from the plate.

Error Helps Pirates to Run.

It was no fault of Jones that the Pirates had him two runs in the hole before his own mates started to get serious with Miljus. One of the tallies off the curving left hander went over in the first inning, but an error did it. After two were out, one of them Sparky Adams who wasn't forgotten by his old admirers, Paul Waner slapped a double over third base. Wright grounded to Maguire and the side should have been retired, but Molly booted. Then Traynor singled P. Waner home and Grantham walked to jam the bases, but Grimm put an end to the fuss by dashing to the stand and pulling in Barnhart's foul.

A hit by Adams to start the third went to waste because he took liberties with Cuyler's arm and was thrown out trying to get an extra base. Then Traynor opened the fourth with a double to left, went to third on a sacrifice bunt and home on Barnhart's long fly to Wilson. Jones was a real pitcher after this and the only man to reach base in the last five rounds was Wright, who singled with one out in the ninth.

Cub Rally Nipped.

If it hadn't been for a slip by Wilson in the second the Cubs might have settled down to the business of scoring right then and there. Hack walked to start the round and Stephenson followed suit but Hack permitted himself to be plucked off second by Gooch's throw. Barnhart muffed Grimm's fly and the corners were loaded on a ticket to Gonzales. But in this pinch Butler struck out trying to reach that wide curve and Jones concluded the round with a grounder to Grantham.

Wilson was the first man up in the fourth, and singled to center. Stephenson slammed a similar blow to right. Grimm tried to bunt, but couldn't, and finally flied out, after which Gonzales survived on a boot by Adams. Here was the spot Butler selected to make amends for his strike out. He doubled to left center, Wilson and Stephenson ran home with the tying runs, and the score remained knotted until Steve was heard from again in the eighth.

NOTES OF THE CUBS

The Pirates again today at Wrigley field. McCarthy may be forced to start Art Nehf, as his other experts have not completed their rest periods. Dawson is due for a call from the Pirate boss.

Eleven men charged with scalping tickets and four charged with vending red hots without a license were arrested outside Wrigley field before the game. The speculators were getting as high as $10 per ducat.

The White Sox last season were credited with one crowd of almost 50,000 but this was only an estimate, so whether the Cubs have taken away the honor for a "big" day will be a subject for north side vs. south side debate until the official figures are revealed.

"Red" Faber, the veteran White Sox flinger, watched the performance from the press coop. He is on the hospital list because of a fractured small finger on his right hand, but he hopes to be pitching before many more weeks.

The Pirates raised quite a hubbub in the second inning when Stephenson was batting. They claimed the Cub outfielder had swung for what should have been a third strike. Ump McCormick ruled that he hadn't, and called it a ball, making the count 3 and 2. On the next pitch Steve walked.

Besides being an industrious workman on offense, Stephenson contributed a couple of thrillers in the field. In the second he dashed in to catch Paul Waner's wicked liner and in the eighth raced over to the stand to pluck Lloyd Waner's foul off the rail.

DERBY CANDIDATES

Records, Breeding, and Possibilities.

BY FRENCH LANE.

AGITATOR

Owner, Harry Payne Whitney. Breeder, Harry Payne Whitney. Trainer, James Rowe.

THIS son of Pennant-Mrs. Trubbell will be one of the Harry Payne Whitney aces in the Derby, although he played a second string to Victorian in most of the big 2 year old events last season.

Agitator may be just a sprinter. His dazzling early speed made it possible for him to win three races in six starts last year. He beat Petee Wrack at 5½ furlongs and later defeated such good ones as Sublevado and and Henrietta Wildair at 6 furlongs.

He had no excuses to offer in the Hopeful. Was away with the leaders and quit. Brooms, Victorian, and Nassak trimmed him in that race. In the Futurity he was never a contender, finishing 17th in the field of 19.

Like all Whitney colts, he is well bred. His dam, Mrs. Trubbell, was by Hamburg. There is an abundance of Domino blood in Agitator, and his sire, Pennant, could go any distance. Agitator has been wintered at Red Bank, N. J.

(This is the first of a series on the leading candidates for the Kentucky Derby which will be run May 19 at Churchill Downs. A second article will be printed tomorrow).

Cook County Preps to Hold Swim Meet at L. S. A. C.

The Lake Shore A. C. will conduct its first annual indoor high school swimming relay championships in its seventy-five foot pool on Friday and Saturday nights. The championships are open to all Cook county high schools.

Turf Colony Gathering at Aurora Track

Aurora, Ill., April 22.—[Special.]—Officials for the twenty-nine day meeting of the Exposition Park Jockey club, which opens here on May 1, will be on hand Wednesday to prepare for the opening. Martin Nathanson, the presiding steward, later in the week will go over tardy applications for jockey and trainer licenses. He will be assisted by C. W. Hay.

M. NATHASON.

Leigh to Act as Judge.

R. A. Leigh, who with C. C. Campau and Francis P. Dunne will judge the finishes, has been on the grounds for a week. Campau and Dunne are on the way from Maryland and Kentucky, respectively. Starter Harry Morrissey also is due here from Lexington, his preliminary work having been done by Eddie Thomas, his first assistant.

Jack Clifford arrived yesterday. Clifford is patrol judge and association clocker. He also will serve as an advisor to the stewards on matters pertaining to the condition of the thoroughbreds in the paddock.

Ike Weil, who raced The Runt with success here a couple of seasons ago, is coming from Louisville with two two year olds.

More Horses Arrive.

G. W. Click already is on hand with Pandy, Jeb and Laska. He recently sent Pat Calhoun to J. Robertson in Maryland.

A carload of horses got in this morning from New Orleans. In it were the horses of T. J. Carroll, M. J. Beauchamp and D. Womelsdorf. Carroll brought Sir Maurice, Cloud Idolizer, Dancing, Bright Spangle, and Spats.

Amateur Boxing Shows

Harry Schuman and Eddie Farrell will be the principals in the windup of the East Side Boxing club's show at 1369 Blue Island avenue tonight. Seven other fights round out the program.

Freddie Caserio and Humberto Gutierez top the card of fights to be held at the Motorists' Association of Illinois, 2400 South Michigan avenue, on Wednesday night. Athletic Director William Enright is arranging five other bouts.

Kid Capitano vs. Jack Barry, at 126 pounds, is the windup of eight fights carded for the weekly boxing program at the Garden theater, 3305 North Marshfield avenue, tonight.

MILLS NINE IS VICTOR, 6-2, OVER CHICAGO GIANTS

Sixth Inning Rally Scores Five Runs.

A five run rally in the sixth inning swept away the Chicago Giants' early lead and gave the Mills semi-pro nine a 6 to 2 victory in the first game of the season at Mills stadium. The game was a practice affair for the Mills team, which is a member of the new Chicago City league, and three pitchers worked for the home club and four for the Giants. The Mills were outhit, but three double plays cut off rallies by the Giants. More than 1,000 attended. Score:

AMERICAN GIANTS WIN.

The American Giants shut out the Nissen-Litsinger nine of the City league, 6 to 0, yesterday at the Giants' park. The colored world champions collected 8 hits and stole 4 bases.

Three hits were all the visitors were able to get off the Giant hurlers. Score:

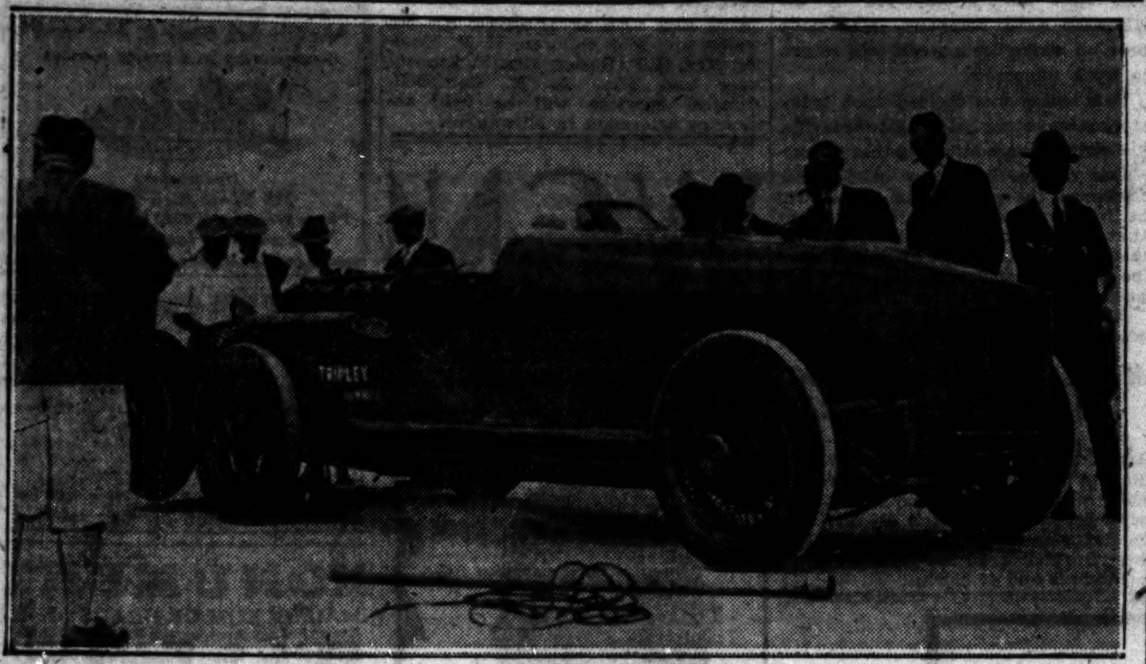
TUNNEY RETURNS TO N. Y.; PRAISES HEENEY AS FOE

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—A bigger, stronger and apparently more rugged Gene Tunney came back to New York today from ten weeks of vacationing in Florida. From the heavyweight champion came a quiet declaration of appreciation of the ability of Tom Heeney, the man who is to fight him for the title, which was manifestly sincere, even though it contradicts the popular conception of Heeney and his chances of wresting the title from the strapping young man who laid the foundation for the climb he has made in Greenwich Village.

Tunney verified everything that came out of Miami from Promoter Tex Rickard when negotiations were in progress there for the title struggle which is proposed for July 26 in the Yankee stadium. Tunney said he would have only one fight this year and that he is bound by agreement for this year and next to Rickard exclusively.

He characterized as ridiculous the idea that Jack Dempsey's announced retirement is merely camouflage for another title fight this year, and said Dempsey would get no chance at his title this year.

WORLD'S FASTEST AUTOMOBILE



J. M. White's 36 cylinder Triplex roared up and down Daytona Beach yesterday for a new world's record. Ray Keech drove the Philadelphia auto in the successful effort to wrest the honor from Capt. Malcolm Campbell of England. The speed was 207.5526 miles an hour.

Ammonn Wins Grand Chicago Shoot Tourney

A. H. Ammonn captured the annual Grand Chicago handicap at the Lincoln park traps yesterday. His score of 97 out of 100 targets from the 21 yard marked placed him at the top of a field of 105.

Frank Hughes won second honors with 94 targets from the 23 yard mark, and Mark Arie, former national champion; D. B. Baker, and T. P. Green tied for third place. Each hit 93, but Arie stood at the 23 yard mark, Baker at the 20 yard mark, and Green at the 18 yard mark.

The Grand Chicago handicap first was shot in 1910. A trophy, now valued at more than $1,500, was donated in that year by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

In the Lincoln park introductory, which opened yesterday's card and in which 95 shooters participated, D. E. Thomas triumphed with 99 out of 100 from 16 yards. Sam Herzog and Joe Losee tied for second place with 97 apiece, and Frank Hughes shot into third position in the final standing with 96.

A tie resulted in the doubles, twenty-five pairs from 16 yards, when C. W. Olney and F. Ludington each turned in cards of 46.

One Mile Relay to Feature Track Carnival at Drake

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The one mile university relay between Northwestern, Iowa, and Nebraska will be one of the many features of the Drake relays at Des Moines, Ia., on Friday and Saturday. The Penn relays, which will attract a large entry from the middle west, will be held on the same days.

The Purple defeated Iowa last Saturday by a scant yard at the Kansas relays. Nebraska was in the running for first place until Wyatt, the last Cornhusker, dropped his baton after the anchor runners had started on the final lap. There was little to choose between Walter of Northwestern, Cuhel of Iowa, and Wyatt of Nebraska when they started on the final circuit.

Wyatt Drops Baton.

Wyatt dropped his baton shortly after he left the mark and the race then settled down to a fight between Walter and Cuhel, who are among the leading quarter milers in the middle west. The Purple runner had a trifle more reserve than the Hawkeye captain and breasted the tape less than a yard in advance of Cuhel. Walter's unofficial time for the distance was :48 4-5.

If Indiana, which won the same event at the Ohio State relays, is a contestant at Drake the race will be even more interesting. The Purple won at Kansas in 3:21 4-10 and the Hoosiers at Ohio State in 3:25 4-10. Weather conditions at both sets of games were unfavorable.

Good Marks Despite Weather.

Despite the rain and cold weather some good performances were recorded. Probably the outstanding feat of both sets of relays was the sprinting of George Simpson of Ohio State, who tied the world's record of :09 3-5 for 100 yards. Simpson ran the distance in the Buckeyes' games on a soft track which was covered with water in places. Later he ran anchor on the Ohio State team which won the university half mile sprint relay. Jack Elder of Notre Dame covered the century in ten seconds against a strong headwind at the Kansas games.

Rinehart of Indiana threw the javelin 204 feet 11 inches to win the event at the Ohio meet, and Abernathy of St. Xavier cleared 6 feet 3¾ inches in the running high jump. Otterness of Minnesota got over the bar at 13 feet 1 inch in the pole vault at the Ohio games, and Howell of Oklahoma threw the discus 141 feet 9 inches at Kansas. Cooper of Michigan registered an excellent performance by winning the low hurdles in :25 at Columbus.

Coaches of middle western university and college teams will split their squads and send representatives to both Penn and Drake this week.

Wernicke and Marino Win League Bowling Matches

Bill Wernicke and Hank Marino won their matches yesterday in the All Star Individual league matches at the Randolph alleys. The former took six of seven games from Eddie Krems and the latter bested Ad Carlson in six of nine games. Marino gave the best exhibition, all of his nine games being over the 200 yard. His best was 290.

Western Electric's Chess Players Win N.Y. Series, 6-4

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Chicago chess players turned in one more victory in the last of the series of telegraph matches when the Hawthorne Works team of the Western Electric company defeated the New York combination, 6 games to 4.

McCarthy and Zivic Clash in Ring Tonight

JACK ZIVIC.

Since he started his successful comeback, McCarthy has lost only one fight. Billy Light, the St. Paul welter, took a decision from the local fighter recently, but tonight Jack is determined to make amends for that setback.

Zivic, who is under the management of Jimmy Bronson, who acted as Gene Tunney's chief second in the champion's two fights with Jack Dempsey, has met some of the best welterweights in the game. He can punch with his right hand and is a fairly clever boxer. Both fighters finished training yesterday with light gymnasium workouts.

Show Starts at 8:15.

George Sidders of New York and Louis La Velle of Indiana will meet in the six round semi-windup. Henry Cullen, the south side flyweight, will trade punches with Eddie Kain of Indiana in one of the preliminaries. Four other fights complete the card which will start at 8:15 o'clock.

Tiny Roebuck, the former Haskell Indian football player who meets Otto Von Porat of Norway in the feature of Promoter James Mullen's boxing show at the Coliseum one week from tonight, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow to complete training, according to Manager Reilly.

Roebuck weighs about 250 pounds and has been working in a Kansas City gymnasium for the last three weeks. He is in fine physical condition, and Manager Reilly expects his fighter to make a strong showing.

Von Porat Recovers.

Von Porat has been in active training at Mullen's for two weeks. He has completely recovered from a recent attack of pneumonia and has regained his lost weight.

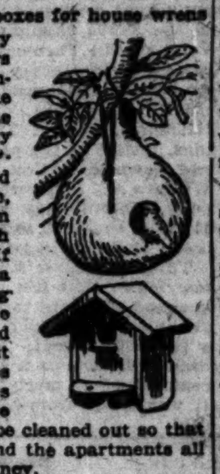
Jeff Carroll, the Biloxi, Miss., heavyweight who meets Tony Stabenau of Buffalo in one of the four round preliminaries, is due tomorrow. Les Marriner and Jackie Fields, principals in the ten round semi-windup, are working at Mullen's, as are Tuffy Griffiths of Sioux City, Ia., and Jack Elkhart, the Huron Indian, who will trade punches in one of the four round openers.

Norway Declares Hoff Professional Athlete

OSLO, Norway, April 22.—[U. P.]—The only foreign menace to American supremacy in the pole vault in the Olympic games at Amsterdam was removed definitely today when the Norwegian Sports association declared Charley Hoff a professional. Hoff, who formerly held the world's record for pole vaulting, sought reinstatement in Norway despite his admitted professionalism in the United States. The sports association here decided Hoff had forfeited his amateur standing.

Wrens Pick Homes in May; Put Up Those Houses Now

BY BOB BECKER.



It's almost time to sound the last call for nesting boxes for house wrens as these peppery little songsters will soon be coming into the lake country. The house wren, easily attracted to nesting boxes placed about the home, is due to check in from the south early in May. If you stand a chance of landing a pair of these birds in your yard you'd better put out nesting boxes this week. Houses which were in use last year should be cleaned out so that the wrens will find the apartments all ready for occupancy.

Gourds make attractive wren houses. They have long been used in the south. When we were in Georgia a few months ago we saw hundreds of them around the Negro cabins. Down there they put them out singly for wrens and bluebirds or in groups for martins. Gourds are not very durable when exposed to weather, but for a season or two they make a hit with the birds.

The wooden nesting box shown here is an attractive model for wrens. Make the floor of the box 4 by 4 inches and the height should be anywhere from 6 to 8 inches. An entrance hole the size of a quarter, seven-eighths of an inch, is the correct size for wrens. The most modern birdhouse architects specify a slot instead of a circular opening so that the wrens may bring in the short twigs with which they build their nest.

Bonelli Sings His Way Into Elmer's Heart

Opera Star Also Stars in Recital Over Radio.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Richard Bonelli, Chicago opera baritone, was the principal star—the announcer seemingly taking pains to stress this point—on the New York 8:15 to 9:15 W-G-N concert. Surely he was, for Bonelli is a sterling artist among radio singers.

When wire connections were made with New York Mr. Bonelli had already begun Rossini's tongue twister, "Largo al Factotum," and doing it with tremendous dash and splendor. The electric fire kindled in this number was continued throughout his portion of the recital. Comparatively unfamiliar numbers figured prominently, one of these being "Love Was with Me Yesterday," by Golde, his accompanist. He sang in English, Italian, and French, while in "Irish Names" [Turbey], Mr. Bonelli nearly deceived his American nationality by his Irish dialect. And the microphone took kindly to his voice.

But there was a secondary star, Miss Emillia da Prato, soprano, the second prize winner in last year's radio audition contest. Miss da Prato has a remarkably clear, pure, large caliber voice, of considerable range and both even and unusually likable throughout this range. And her qualities are all virtues; she has no drawbacks perceivable over the air.

Kathleen Stewart, WEAF's piano accompanist and radio recitalist, was quite at home with this artistic company of singers, playing Schumann's sonorous "Novelette No. 1" with telling effect, and doing several other numbers creditably.

The Debussy program, W-G-N music room 9:15 to 10 hour, turned out to be a dandy musically, though I fear it was too heavy and intricately toned for popular approval. Announcer Coates intimated that Debussy is not one of today's popular composers, but that he may be some day.

Enchanting Debussy impressionistic tones, suggestive of cathedral bells, mysterious tones suggestive of the night, tones suggestive of poetic pictures, of these examples we had many.

STUBBORN CHILD HOLDS UP OCEAN LINER FOR HOUR

Boston, Mass., April 22.—(AP)—Six year old Jimmy McTiernan held up the departure of the White Star liner Celtic for nearly an hour today. Threats and pleadings were of no avail. Jimmy flatly refused to accompany his mother and 2 year old brother, to Kerry, Ireland. When he found his father was not going along, too.

Jimmy's father finally took the entire family off the boat and packed them home. He plans to try again in two weeks. The Celtic was bound for Queenstown and Liverpool.

Clean Up Health This Week Also, Kegel Urges

Calling attention to cleanup week which starts today, Health Commissioner Arnold H. Kegel, in his weekly bulletin, points out the need for a checking up of health habits at this time as well as cleaning up the back yard. He has designated the week beginning April 22 as "Health Promotion Week." All resources of the health department, he said, will be available for any citizen who seeks any information pertaining to health. Cleanliness and health go hand in hand, the commissioner asserts.

2 MILLION WETS UNITE TO FIGHT DRY AMENDMENT

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Stanley Field of Chicago and Richard T. Crane, president of the Crane company, are among the seventy nationally known business men installed as directors of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. Henry M. Curran of New York is the new president of the association and William H. Stayton of Baltimore is chairman of the board which includes as its members officers or directors of organizations employing over 2,000,000 persons and with combined assets of over 40 billions of dollars.

Ultimately the directorate will number 100 members representing every state in the Union, according to a statement issued by Mr. Curran who asserted the association's goal "is the entire repeal of the eighteenth amendment . . . when the curtain will ring down on this passing show of government by guns and graft."

"There are three vital features in the present situation," declared Mr. Curran. "The first is the intrusion into our constitution of an intimate and unreasonable restraint over the personal habits that never was a proper concern of the constitution.

"The second is the fact that federal prohibition does not work, and the third is the question of what we shall set up as a substitute for federal prohibition. I think the states should install a method of control and restricted distribution which will prevent the exploitation of the liquor traffic for unconscionable profits and do away with prevailing speakeasies and secret drinking.

Man, 94; Wife, 69, Walk 5,000 Miles to Get Home

Dallas, Tex., April 22.—[U.P.]—Tex Tyler, 94, and his wife, 69, are en route to their home in west Texas by train after having walked more than 5,000 miles to Dallas from Canada. The aged couple failed to locate friends in Canada, and when their funds were exhausted they hiked back to Texas. Daughters of Caledonia, a Scotch women's organization, came to their aid.

WIFE OF JUDGE CONFESSES TO BANK ROBBERY

Names Woman Cousin and Two Men.

Salem, Ill., April 22.—[U.P.]—The 18 year old wife of a justice of the peace and a salesman for an insurance company have confessed they participated in the $3,200 daylight robbery of the Vernon (Ill.) Farmers and Merchants bank, Sheriff Harvey D. May, of Marion county, announced today.

With the arrest of Mrs. Bernice Hitchings, wife of Thomas J. Hitchings, justice of the peace of Belleville, and Newman A. Cox, salesman of the Western and Southern Insurance company, Sheriff May said, more than $1,000 of the bank loot has been recovered. Both are in jail here.

Three days after Mrs. Hitchings was married in June last year she left her husband and went to Detroit, Mich., in an automobile which he gave her as a wedding present. She was brought back to Illinois on a warrant charging removal of a mortgaged automobile. It was stolen from her in Detroit, she said.

Through the confessions of Mrs. Hitchings and Cox, May said a woman cousin of the girl and another man were implicated in the Vernon robbery, which was committed on April 5 of this year. Search is in progress for the two accomplices, whereabouts of whom is unknown.

Although Mrs. Hitchings had been living with her husband in recent weeks, he has made no effort to communicate with her since her arrest, May said.

"He has thrown her over," the sheriff said. "Before marriage she was his stenographer."

At the time of the robbery, Mrs. Hitchings said, she and her cousin sat in the rumble seat of the car Hitchings had given her as a wedding present, keeping watch while Cox and the unidentified companion—believed the brains of the robbery—held up the bank.

Pilsudski Taking "Chess" Treatment for Bad Arm

3,000 STRIKING MINERS RETURN TO WORK TODAY

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 22.—(AP)—The 3,000 miners employed by the Kingston Coal company, who have been on strike for a week, will return to work tomorrow.

This action was decided upon today at a massmeeting held at Edwardsville. The strikers were informed that the employés of No. 2 colliery over whose discharge the strike was called will be reinstated and that in the event that the men returned to work, officials of the coal company would meet the grievance committee tomorrow and pass upon other matters in dispute.

The vote to return to work virtually was unanimous.

Market Robbed of $10,000 as 150 Customers Gasp

St. Louis, Mo., April 22.—(AP)—Five armed and unmasked men held up the Remley Arcade market in University City, a suburb, early today and escaped with between $8,000 and $10,000. The money was taken from Cashier Herbert Burkhardt, in the presence of 150 customers and 40 clerks.

New... a Triple BUG... WORM and FUNGUS KILLER To Protect Your Garden!

No more danger of having your flowers and vegetables eaten up by bugs! No more worry about worms, plant-lice or fungus diseases! For a new type of insecticide has been perfected that protects your garden from all these hungry marauders! Kills both chewing and sucking insects. Also controls and corrects spore-carried fungus disease like mildew, black rot, etc.

Non-Poisonous

This new insecticide is called Plantgard. It is a fine, light powder, almost as fine as talcum. You simply sprinkle it on the plant out of the handy "shaker top" box. Yet, although Plantgard works like magic, this amazing bug killer is non-poisonous! Unlike other insecticides, it can be used with perfect safety on all garden vegetables, without danger of poisoning.

Another unique and surprising quality of this new discovery is that Plantgard acts as a fertilizer—in fact is one of the finest soil conditioners you can get.

Many expert gardeners now apply Plantgard at regular intervals as a bug-preventative and fertilizer, as well as for the safest, surest insecticide. Try it on your flowers, shrubs or vegetables. It's waiting for you at your dealer's, in tidy green boxes. A big package of Plantgard protection costs only 35c. Larger size 60c. Remember the name Plantgard—there is no substitute.

MEIGHEN WILL OPEN FORESTRY WEEK TODAY

Former Premier Arthur Meighen of Canada arrived in Chicago last night over the Michigan Central railroad to speak at a luncheon in the Congress hotel today which will celebrate the opening of forest week. An exchange of speakers between Canada and the United States is a part of the week's program, both countries having decided to discuss the measures to be taken in safeguarding the nation's forests within the next seven days.

Meetings are to be held all over the country. The suppression of forest fires and the better production of timber crops will be topics for discussion.

Members of the Izaak Walton league, the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, the Chicago Woman's club, and the Chicago Retail Lumber Dealers' association will be present at the luncheon today.

The New York Times.

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Resumption of business by the stock exchange, after its second Saturday holiday for overtaking arrears on the ledger, may be accompanied by another rise in prices, or by another break, or by nothing but suspended activity. There would be an explanation for any of these three courses of action after it had been taken.

The advance in reserve bank rates last Thursday was accepted, not only in the banking and business community, but by the stock exchange itself, as a third move by the federal reserve system to abate the Wall street speculation.

The first step, taken in January, was the withdrawing of $225,000,000 cash from the open money market through sale of government securities held by the reserve banks. Next came the marking up of reserve bank rates from 3½ to 4 per cent in February. Neither action had more than momentary effect, even in checking the violence of speculation, which, in fact, reached by far its highest pitch after the February rise in rates. Last week's fixing of a 4½ per cent bank rate at Boston and Chicago, the usual preliminary to a similar advance at New York and other reserve cities, therefore followed naturally.

Market Little Disturbed.

At the most last week's advance in bank rates merely meant higher money and high money has on many previous occasions failed to stop a speculative market. A particularly wild advance occurred in February, 1920, after reserve bank rates had been moved up twice and with call money bringing 15 per cent. In one famous pre-war speculation the stock market rose with great violence while demand loans were bringing 25 to 125 per cent.

On those two occasions the "outside public" had been pretty much scared out; the further advance was conducted by wealthy and powerful manipulators, and not with wholly agreeable results. But both the speculating outsiders and the Wall street ring leaders are far more powerful in financial resources now than then, and the belief that precedent of older times can apply to a present day market, though it existed even in those earlier days, is now held far more obstinately.

There is a possibility, therefore, that we may yet have before us a measuring of strength between the reserve banks.

Depends on Who's Who.

The immediate result of such a conflict cannot be confidently predicted. If, as the Wall street gossips have sometimes allowed their minds to picture, the nucleus of the present speculative movement had consisted of large scale purchases made with their private resources by men of boundless wealth, and if private capital were to be poured on an undiminished scale into acquisition of stocks at rising prices, then the federal reserve might find that it had invited a third defeat.

The picture, however, is altogether imaginative. The richest speculation "leader" borrows to conduct his operations, for the sufficient reason that his private capital always is kept invested; furthermore, the most powerful capitalist who buys at the crest of a wave of rising prices in a speculative craze does so because he believes he may sell at a still higher price to other buyers.

Public Is Big Factor.

Therefore, the real question is, what will be the attitude of the speculative public. Every one who has observed the greater speculative "booms" knows that its attitude is determined partly by actual circumstances, but mostly by the psychology of the speculator. The actual circumstances will in the end be the higher cost of credit required to carry his speculative holdings and probably the discouragement of his banks or brokers. Psychologically, he may believe the Wall street leaders capable of resisting pressure from the federal reserve; but it is impossible that he will shake off entirely the moral influence of the reserve banks' action.

If that change in the situation does nothing else, it will inevitably invite consideration of how and when "realizing sales" may be so arranged as not to come when everybody else was selling out.

Swift International.

J. C.: Swift International [Compania Swift Internacional] reported net profit of $2,005,205 for 1927, as compared with $940,102 for 1926.

This was equal to $1.33 a share earned on its $15 par value capital stock in 1927, against 62 cents a share earned in 1926.

Surplus for the year after dividends was $139,685 in 1927, comparing with a deficit of $925,418 in 1926.

Profit and loss surplus stood at $11,547,071 at the end of 1927.

The above figures are all in Argentine gold.

Conclusion of the trade agreement among packers engaged in the South American field should prove of particular benefit to the company, whose business consists largely of the sale of Argentine beef and other cattle products in England and on the continent.

Dividends at the annual rate of $1.20 a share are being paid.

Mr. W. H. Schmidt, President of the Corporation, summarizes his letter to the bankers as follows:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS: The Unit Corporation of America is engaged in the production of a diversified line of steel products for the automotive, tractor and general manufacturing industries including precision, transmission and other gears, truck and passenger car transmissions, forgings, dies, power take-offs, saw-rigs, and other specialized equipment.

The Corporation is acquiring the business of Fuller & Sons Mfg. Company of Kalamazoo, Michigan, one of the oldest concerns in the country, specializing in the manufacture of automotive gears and transmissions since 1903.

The present component companies of the Unit Corporation of America constitute one of the most important and completely equipped organizations in the country in this line of business.

The Corporation's Milwaukee plant is being and has been for a considerable period, operated both night and day at maximum capacity, despite which fact it has been unable to meet the demand for its products. A large volume of business, which the corporation has been compelled to reject in the past, will be produced in the future in its Kalamazoo Plant.

ASSETS: After giving effect to the present financing, the Company's balance sheet as of December 31, 1927, shows net tangible assets of $38.55 per share, and current assets of $1,393,124.74 against current liabilities of $232,898.53. Current assets are 5¾ times current liabilities.

EARNINGS: Net earnings after all charges including depreciation and Federal Income taxes, after giving effect to certain non-recurring charges based upon this financing and a contract between the officers of the Unit Corporation and the Bankers, for the three years ended December 31, 1927, were:

Years ended Dec. 31	1925	1926	1927
	$443,677.74	$406,035.59	$460,453.35

Average earnings for the period shown were $436,722.22 equivalent to $3.97 per share on Preference Stock. For the year ending December 31, 1927, such earnings were equivalent to $4.18 per share.

The management of the Unit Corporation has also contracted with the Bankers that certain other charges made by the officers of the Fuller & Sons Mfg. Company will be eliminated in future operations.

These additional non-recurring charges amounted to an average of $56,288, for the years 1925, 1926, 1927 and, if included in the above schedule of earnings would increase the average earnings per share of Preference Stock for the three years mentioned to $4.47 and the earnings for the year 1927 to $4.68 per share.

The management anticipates that these earnings will be materially increased during the current year, due to larger productive capacity obtained through the acquisition of the Fuller & Sons Mfg. Company. A considerable volume of such new business is already on hand.

Legal details in connection with this issue of stock will be passed on for the bankers by Messrs. Chapman & Cutler, Henry M. Goldsmith and Good, Childs, Bobb & Wescott, and by Schmitz, Wild & Gross for the Company.
Audits by Haskins & Sells, and Ernst and Ernst. Appraisals by the American Appraisal Company and Lloyds Appraisal Company.
We offer this Preference Stock When, As and If Issued, and received by us for subscription subject to allotment. Delivery of certificates in temporary form will be made on or about April 19th.

Application will be made to list this stock on the Chicago Stock Exchange

The Equitable in Paris

The Equitable's branch in Paris, in itself one of the foremost financial institutions of the French capital, was opened in 1910. Steadily increasing its facilities since the war, it now provides in its own building the most modern and complete banking, investment and tourist service.

Our Paris Building

In the center of Paris, within two blocks of the Place Vendome, The Equitable now occupies a six-story building with a ground floor area of 32,000 square feet. In a large banking room, brightly lighted by great skylights, are conveniently grouped all the commercial and personal banking departments constantly used by the public. In a separate room—a continuation of the main banking room—are located a number of special departments devoted to the service of tourists.

The Only American Vaults in Paris

The most modern type of American vault has been installed in the basement of our Paris building. Two stories high and containing an area of approximately 2,000 square feet, it is the first of its kind on the continent of Europe. A system of safe deposit boxes and private coupon rooms is provided on the same plan as in use in large New York City banks. These vault facilities are managed and operated by our subsidiary, The Equitable Safe Deposit Company of New York.

For Our Tourist Clients

Here, in Paris, the continental center of tourist interest, almost every service and convenience that a traveler could desire have been anticipated by our office and provided for through its own departments or tenants grouped under its roof. In addition to complete banking facilities, tourists will find a Travel Bureau—Mail Department—Public Cable Office—Public Stenographers—Information and Shopping Department—Woman's Department—Office of a New York Stock Exchange House—Office of a Transportation Agency and an Office providing Merchandise and Travelers' Insurance.

We announce the removal of our Paris Office

WHEAT ADVANCES 11 TO 14c WITH SCARES ON CROP

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

There was active buying of all grains to a greater extent last week, with speculators in control of all markets. With a crop scare, most grain futures advanced to new high levels for this season. Those that did not were May corn and September oats.

Sales, 426,099,000 bu of wheat on the Chicago board of trade for the week, compared with 241,534,000 bu the previous week, and 164,813,000 bu last year.

Corn trading, which had lagged, more than doubled with sales of 225,857,000 bu, against 109,508,000 bu the previous week, and 71,175,000 bu last year.

Even Oats Do Better.

Even oats came in for increased attention, with sales of 53,059,000 bu, against 20,536,000 bu last year, and rye increased to 14,636,000 bu, or more than double the previous week and over 8,000,000 bu in excess of last year.

Despite big advance in wheat, the Saturday close was ⅝c lower to ⅜c higher than a week ago, corn was up 3¼@4½c, oats 3c higher on May and 1⅛c lower on other futures. Rye 1¼c higher to 1⅝c lower for the week.

Wheat markets in the United States are in a strained condition. There is a strong under current of bullishness based on a belief that the northwest and southwest will raise less wheat than last year, and that the liberal carry over indicated at the end of last season will come in handy in making up a probable deficit that it expected from the poor crop showing this year.

With May selling at practically the same prices at Chicago as in Liverpool at one time and at a premium over Winnipeg, the world's situation is out of line. Late cables say that European crop prospects are less favorable with more damage developing to winter wheat than is expected. This should have an important bearing on foreign markets, and cause a good advance, making a profitable shipping basis between America and Liverpool.

Wheat Prices for Week.

May wheat closed in Chicago Saturday at $1.53½@1.53¾. July, $1.54@1.54⅛; September, $1.50¼@1.50⅜. Prices for the week follow:

	May.	July.	Sept.

Corn at New High.

An oversold pit condition in corn, with local professionals as large buyers of futures, combined with a good cash demand and light receipts from the country, with cash prices bringing 5 to 5½c premium over May for No. 2 yellow, coupled with the advance in wheat, made a decidedly better feeling.

At the close the market had the apperance of having been more nearly evened up.

Opening of navigation is expected to be a factor, as a belief exists that a good part of the cash corn delivered on May sales next omnth is likely to be shipped east.

It is said that elevator interests have turned over the bulk of their hedges from May to July at 3¼@3⅜c.

May corn closed Saturday at $1.05¼@1.05½; July, $1.09@1.09⅛, and September, $1.09¼, the latter being unusually close to July for this time of the year. Prices follow:

May Oats Congested.

Light stocks, with a better demand and small receipts, brought active buying of May oats, with an advance ot 7⅝c from the low point of the previous week, to 20c over the price of a year ago. Liquidation and a break came at the last, with the close 61⅝@61⅞c, a net gain of 3c for the week.

Despite unfavorable crop reports, specially from Iowa, with freezing temperatures over a large part of the oat area and a good advance early, distant futures reacted at the last and closed 1⅛c lower for the week. Old July closed at 54⅛c, new at 54⅝@54⅞c, and new September at 47⅞c. Choice heavy No. 3 white oats testing 33½ lbs. sold at 71⅛c, the highest since 1920. Prices for the week follow:

Rye Prices Erratic.

Exporters and foreigners, as well as speculators, are buying rye futures, which advanced with wheat, but they reacted at the last on profit taking and closed 1¼c higher on May and 1⅝c lower on deferred futures. Crop prospects are none too favorable, and supplies of rye in Germany are said to be very low.

LARD PRICES HIGHER

Leading eastern longs were credited with selling May and buying July, making it easy for packers and warehousemen to buy the May and sell the July and September. An advance in grain was a strengthening influence, yet the week's range was small and closed well toward the top with net gains of 20@25c in lard, 15@25c on short ribs, and 37½@42½c on bellies. Week's prices follow:

$1,300,000
Union Utilities, Inc.
5.50 Per Cent Gold Debentures
Series of 1928

Dated May 1st, 1928 Due May 1st, 1948

Principal and semi-annual interest (May 1st and November 1st) payable at the office or agency of the Company, in either New York City or Chicago. Coupon Debentures in interchangeable denominations of $1,000 and $500; registerable as to principal. Redeemable at the option of the Company in whole or in part on 30 days' published notice at 105 and accrued interest on or before May 1st, 1932; thereafter to and including May 1st, 1936 at 103 and accrued interest; thereafter to and including November 1st, 1947 at 101 and accrued interest; and thereafter and prior to maturity at 100 and accrued interest. Interest payable without deduction of that portion of any Federal Income Tax not in excess of two per cent. Reimbursement of certain California, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Washington taxes, upon timely and proper application, as provided in the Debenture Agreement. The Chemical National Bank of New York, Trustee.

Business: Union Utilities, Inc., through its subsidiaries, will own and operate gas manufacturing and gas distributing systems in the cities of El Paso, Galveston, Waco, Paris and Brenham, Texas, and Council Bluffs, Iowa. The cities served have a combined population estimated in excess of 300,000. The properties include 6 artificial gas manufacturing plants with a total daily capacity in excess of 16,500,000 cubic feet, 14 gas holders with an aggregate storage capacity of 3,707,000 cubic feet of gas, manufactured and/or natural gas distribution systems consisting of 480.4 miles of city mains and 43,599 consumers' meters. The properties have been in continuous and successful operation for various periods up to 72 years and both the cities served and the properties themselves give evidence of continuing development and prosperity. Subsidiaries of Union Utilities, Inc., will include Texas Cities Gas Company, Galveston Gas Service Company and Council Bluffs Gas Company.

Security: These debentures, in the opinion of counsel, will be a direct obligation of Union Utilities, Inc., and constitute its only funded indebtedness. The appraised value of the properties as reported by independent engineers is substantially in excess of the presently to be outstanding aggregate amount of the subsidiaries' securities and these debentures. The agreement under which these debentures will be issued will provide that no additional debentures may be issued thereunder, except for refunding outstanding debentures, unless the net consolidated income, as defined in the Debenture Agreement, for twelve consecutive months within the fifteen calendar months preceding the application for such debentures, shall have been at least two and one-half times the annual interest charges on the aggregate principal amount of debentures then outstanding and then to be issued.

Earnings: The consolidated gross income of the properties, as reported by independent auditors, for the twelve months ended February 29, 1928, was $2,166,765.36. Balance after Operating Expenses, Maintenance, Prior Interest Charges upon completion of subsidiary companies' financing, and Taxes (not including Federal Income Taxes) was $172,182.43, equal to 2.4 times the annual interest requirements on this issue of debentures.

Maintenance: The Debenture Agreement under which these securities will be issued will provide that Union Utilities, Inc., through its subsidiaries, reserve or expend for maintenance, together with renewals, replacements and/or depreciation, an amount equal to not less than ten per cent of the annual gross earnings, as defined in the Debenture Agreement, of the operating properties, against which reserves or expenditures no additional bonds may be issued. This provision will assure adequate maintenance of the properties.

Management: The management of these properties will be in the hands of men whose long and varied experience in the service of manufacturing and distributing gas for domestic and industrial purposes assures the most efficient operation of the properties and the further development of the business. The group control by Union Utilities, Inc., affords the individual subsidiary competent executive and technical supervision and also permits greater economies in purchases and operating costs.

These debentures are offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of counsel, Messrs. Chapman and Cutler. In the first instance Trustee's Interim Receipts will be delivered pending the delivery of definitive debentures. Audits by Will-A. Clader, Accountants and Auditors, Philadelphia, Pa.

TOPICS OF FINANCE, TRADE AND INDUSTRY

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

There is very little likelihood that the proposal to eliminate volume of trading from the stock ticker will be adopted as a means of speeding up the service. Impressions from brokers are understood to be about equally divided between those favoring the plan and those opposed to it, with the latter, however, voicing their opinion in the more strenuous terms. Objections, in the main, are based on the fact that much of the trading by exchange operators is regulated by the volume of trading in various individual stocks, as well as the trend of prices.

Public offering will be made today of $2,000,000 Agriculture Mortgage bank [Colombia] 6 per cent sinking fund gold bonds, priced to yield about 6.59 per cent.

Lumbermen's Mutual Co. Acquires Federal Mutual

Announcement was made yesterday that the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty company of Chicago, a concern specializing in automobile insurance, has taken over the operation of the Federal Mutual Liability Insurance company of Boston. James S. Kemper, president of the Lumbermen's, has been elected president of the Federal. The Federal Mutual is known as one of the oldest of mutual casualty companies. In 1927 it had a premium income of more than $5,500,000, with assets of $3,700,000. The Lumbermen's in 1927 had a premium income of $1,700,000, with assets of $6,900,000.

Dated May 1, 1927 Due May 1, 1958

Notice is hereby given that all outstanding Bonds of the above issue are hereby called for redemption at their principal amount on the next interest payment date, to wit, May 1, 1928. Such redemption is to be effected out of moneys deposited for that purpose with the undersigned Fiscal Agents by the Province of Buenos Aires, in accordance with the provision of said Bonds reserving to the Province the right to increase the amount of any sinking fund payment.

On said date, May 1, 1928, the principal amount of said Bonds will be payable out of such moneys, in Dollars at the office of Hallgarten & Co., 44 Pine Street, New York, N. Y., or of Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co., 14 Wall Street, New York, N. Y., or, at the option of the holder, in Sterling at the principal office in London of Erlangers, Sub-Fiscal Agents, or, at the option of the holder, will be collectible through the office in Amsterdam, The Netherlands, of Nederlandsche Handel Maatschappij, Mendelssohn & Co. Amsterdam, Pierson & Co., or Vermeer & Co., in Dollar sight exchange on New York or in Sterling sight exchange on London; but in any case only upon surrender of the Bonds, with all interest coupons maturing after May 1, 1928, and, in case of registered Bonds, accompanied by proper instruments of assignment or transfer duly executed in blank by the registered owner.

Interest accrued to May 1, 1928, on said Bonds will be payable or collectible on said date, at the places and in the manner aforesaid, out of moneys deposited with the Fiscal Agents for that purpose, and upon surrender of the coupons representing such interest.

Interest will cease to accrue on the Bonds of said issue on May 1, 1928, and the subsequently maturing coupons will be void.

Dated New York, N. Y., April 7, 1928.

Hallgarten & Co.,
Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co.,
As Fiscal Agents of the Province of Buenos Aires for said Bonds.

Two Good Securities

Sound—and with High Yields

We have originated and are now distributing the securities of which supplies telephone service (in connection with A. T. & T.) in Mississippi and Alabama communities, also natural gas in Indiana, and, at wholesale only, to Louisville, Kentucky.

Mid-Continent Utilities Corporation

Due to the experienced management this Corporation enjoys, as well as the high ratio of net earnings to interest requirements, we earnestly recommend the purchase of the Corporation's

Ten-Year 6% First Lien Gold Bonds
Price 98½ and accrued interest, to yield 6.20%
(Net earnings more than 2.65 times interest requirements)

One-Year 5% Gold Notes
Price 99 and accrued interest, to yield 6.00%
(Net earnings more than 4.96 times interest requirements)

You are invited to send or call for our explanatory letter on these attractive securities. No obligation.

Electric Bond and Share Securities Corporation
Two Rector Street, New York
April 19, 1928.

To the Stockholders of the Electric Bond and Share Securities Corporation:

The Board of Directors of your Corporation has voted to offer pro rata to the common stockholders of the Corporation, the privilege of subscribing for 600,956 shares without par value of the authorized but unissued Common Stock of the Corporation at the price of $80.00 per share, payable in cash or in New York funds at the office of the Corporation, No. 2 Rector Street, New York, N. Y., before the close of business May 31, 1928—the privilege of subscribing to be at the rate of one new share of Common Stock for each three shares now outstanding.

Warrants for whole shares, which will evidence the rights of such stockholders to subscribe for Common Stock and fractional warrants, which will not alone evidence any right to subscribe but will evidence the rights of the holders thereof to subscribe for Common Stock upon surrender of such fractional warrants in integral amounts, will be mailed to the common stockholders of record at the close of business on April 30, 1928. The warrants for whole shares will be issued in the names of the stockholders of record on said date and will be transferable on the books of the Corporation. The warrants for fractional shares will be issued in bearer form and will be transferable by delivery.

By Order of the Board of Directors,
E. P. SUMMERSON, Secretary.

ATTENTION, SALESMEN!

We will soon break the big news about our new property. After long and thorough preparation, it is ready for the market. Every new idea, every sales producing feature we have developed during the past five years will be there.

Here is your chance for a fresh lineup with an organization that has blazed the trail to modern methods of subdividing that are abreast of the times. We are enlarging our forces to take care of steadily increasing business. Salesmen who make good with us quickly step into executive positions. There is lots of room to grow here, and there is no limit to what you can earn. Sooner or later you will realize that your only opportunity for a permanent money making sales career with a real future can be found with a live, growing organization. Why not start now? Apply

ATTENTION, MANAGERS and Assistant Managers.

Electrolux, Inc., is desirous of obtaining twenty men who have had experience in hiring and directing salesmen; we are expanding our sales activities through the middle west and at the present time need men for branch managers and assistant branch managers to open offices within a radius of 50 miles of Chicago.

Executive positions are now open paying salaries ranging from $3,000 to $5,200 a year, plus overwriting. The most important qualifications are intelligence, loyalty, aggressiveness, and vision. We cannot get experienced men as we are the only ones in our particular field.

Our executives have been taken from every walk of life; some have sold everything imaginable; others have never sold anything. We believe in promoting men whose records merit it.

Our personnel director will interview men between the hours of 10 and 12 a. m. and the men selected will be able to start work immediately. Call at Suite 2107-2119 Transportation Bldg., 608 S. Dearborn. Ask for personnel director.

BARTLETT'S BUSINESS IS GOOD.

We need men to assist us with our thousands of qualified leads.

Our stenographic force has been enlarged to enable us to get out the leads to our sales force while fresh. We want real salesmen who will honestly and conscientiously work with us. When you work with us you work as a salesman, not as a potential buyer.

For this we make an expense allowance and pay you a liberal commission. This firm is leading its field today because we do as we say and give our sales force all the co-operation possible.

We are anticipating the opening of a new development, and it's up to you to get in NOW, at the opening of the season. It should be your chance to earn more real cash than in any other line today. If you think you are the man for us, come in and talk it over. Apply today, 69 W. Washington-st., 6th floor, between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

SALESMEN TO LEARN THE BOND BUSINESS.

A successful bond salesman has a permanent business, selling the same customers year after year, and his business increases as he gains experience and widens his acquaintance. His earnings are limited only by his own ability and willingness to work. But it requires a number of years of hard work and study before he can attain success. Therefore, the applicant for the positions now open in our organization must fit the following strict requirements:

1. He must be from 25 to 35 years of age.
2. He must have had at least 3 years of successful sales experience in commercial lines in the city of Chicago.
3. He must be well educated, a gentile, and of good appearance.
4. He must be convinced that he wants to enter the bond business and be willing and able to go through a period of two or three years when his earnings will be small while he is building up his clientele.
5. He must be willing to take a small drawing account at the start until he gets into production.

If you are able to fill these requirements call Mr. Fry for appointment. Franklin 6001.

Saleswomen.

A CHANCE TO SUCCEED

Now open for six ambitious women over 25 years of age. Must be willing to work and want permanent position. Liberal commission promptly paid. Also expense money to start you. I represent a financially responsible firm, the leading one of its kind in this city. If you have sales exp. I can start you at once in the Chicago district. I will also consider one or two beginners and personally teach them our sales method. This is an opportunity to connect with a well known firm that is selling the same line for over a quarter of a century. References exchanged. I will interview all applicants in person. MONDAY ONLY.

Apply between 9:30 a. m. and 4 p. m.
SUITE M55-M56,
HOTEL MORRISON,
ASK FOR G. A. SHIPLEY.

BARTLETT'S BUSINESS IS GOOD.

We need women to assist us with our thousands of qualified leads.

Our stenographic force has been enlarged to enable us to get out the leads to our sales force while fresh. We want real saleswomen who will honestly and conscientiously work with us. When you work with us you work as a saleswoman, not as a potential buyer.

For this we make an expense allowance and pay you a liberal commission. This firm is leading its field today because we do as we say and give our sales force all the co-operation possible.

We are anticipating the opening of a new development, and it's up to you to get in NOW, at the opening of the season. It should be your chance to earn more real cash than in any other line today. If you think you are the woman for us, come in and talk it over. Apply today, 69 W. Washington-st., 6th floor, between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

REAL ESTATE LOANS.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

Suppose you wanted to install an oil burner in your house. You might find a variety of oil burners, some costing more than others. The probabilities are the difference in cost is due to one advantage or another which one burner possesses over another.

If you desire a second mortgage loan, is there any difference between money obtained at a high cost or money obtained at a low cost?

If it is not necessary to pay the high cost in order to get a second mortgage made just as well and as satisfactory to yourself, is there any reason why the home owner should not avail himself of the lower cost and thereby save himself money?

The Chicago Morris Plan Bank as agent makes second mortgage loans on very attractive terms, but the cost is the most attractive charge which has ever been offered to the Chicago public.

We charge 6% accruing interest and a commission which works out as follows:

$35.00 PER $1,000 FOR 1 YEAR.
$65.00 PER $1,000 FOR 2 YEARS.
$90.00 PER $1,000 FOR 3 YEARS.

The Good Used Car Appeals to Your Eye and Purse

The real condition of a used car is not apparent—that is why it is good business to buy from a dependable institution.

[illegible]—4 DOOR SEDAN, 7 PASS. The maroon and black finish and brown [illegible] interior are in good condition. 5 good tires. Spotlight, bumpers; mechanically ready for a lot of use. An opportunity to buy a good family car for only $425.

[illegible]-KNIGHT—5 PASS. 4 DOOR SEDAN. [illegible] and black duco finish and grey [illegible] upholstery in excellent condition. [illegible] 5 good tires, spotlight, snubbers, [illegible] bumpers. Splendid mechanically. Priced exceptionally low at $475.

[illegible]—CONVERTIBLE CPE. '26, 5 PAS. including rumble seat. This sport model car is finished in black duco, brightened with orange striping and [illegible] wheels. Leather upholstery excellent. 5 good tires, snubbers, rear view mirror, tools, etc. $1,050.

[illegible]—MASTER 6, 1928 BRGHM. This 4 door, 5 pass. car has every appearance of a showfloor model. Neither the original tan, black beaded duco nor the nickle work show a scratch. The harmonizing tan interior is spotless. Mechanically it is just properly broken in, and the condition of the 5 balloon tires and the natural wood wheels reveal the low mileage. Has Lorraine spot, heater, shock absorbers, etc. An unusual opportunity at $1,800.

[illegible]—LE BARON SUBURBAN SEDAN, [illegible]. This 7 pass. car is beautifully finished in green duco, black beaded, with small red stripes, the grey velour upholstery is excellent, being protected by seat covers. Will pass strict mechanical inspection. 5 balloon tires, 95% new, bumpers, shock absorbers, other accessories. A very popular model in this make car. $2,400.

CADILLAC—3-14 CUSTOM SUBURB'N SED. 7 pass. The original dark blue and black finish with harmonizing dark blue velour interior are perfect. Natural wood wheels and 5 practically new balloons, snubbers, spring covers, etc. The mechanical condition is such, that it carries our standard new car guarantee. We offer this desirable model at $2,800.

[illegible]—CONVERTIBLE COUPE, 1928. This distinctive 5 pass. car with rumble seat, is attractively finished in two-tone green, black fenders and chassis, with black wire wheels, 2 mounted forward. The leather upholstery is likewise perfect. 6 balloons, 95% new, trunk rack, Lorraine spot, Hoo Dye shock absorbers, baggage compartment. The mileage is so low that our price of $4,000 is truly a sacrifice.

CADILLAC—3-14 FLEETWOOD IMPERIAL. Original finish is a marvelous blending of tan and brown, that does not show a blemish. The brown leather driving compartment is perfect, the beautiful tan interior is spotless, foot and extra back cushions. 6 tan wire wheels, with balloons almost new, two mounted forward topped with rear view mirrors, trunk rack, snubbers, in fact every desirable accessory interior and exterior. Mechanically perfect. Carries our standard new car guarantee. True comfort and real pride of ownership at the extremely low price of $4,000.
